EX-ORR OFFICER TELLS OF THREAT

Story Of Blackball Told By Policeman During Third Round Of Fairfax Hearing

By LARRY MOWELL

A former Fairfax policeman testified Saturday that fired Police Chief James R. Orr threatened to blackball him from law enforcement in May 1969.

John H. Johnson, now a deputy sheriff in Butte County, told a hearing into Orr's dismissal that the ousted chief threatened him after he found Johnson sitting alone with Mrs. Marsha Kittelman, an employee of the Fairfax police, at the Kittelman home.

"He said in essence that Mrs. Kittelman was his girl friend and not to mess around with her or he would blackball me at any department I tried to go to." Johnson, said he was looking for another police job at the time. He left the force in July 1969.

Under cross-examination by Orr's attorney, Leonard Shaw, Johnson said he had been drinking at the time, but clearly recalled the blackball threat.

He added that Orr had never harmed his career.

Johnson was the third witness for the city in hearings before the Fairfax Board of Review, final city arbiter on whether the firing was justified.

Orr appealed to the quasijudicial board after he was fired Sept. 30 by City Administrator Robert E. Crowe. By a split vote, the city council upheld the firing Oct. 4. Orr had been chief nine years.

Johnson also testified that on Memorial Day in 1969 Orr accidentally punched him in the eye while trying to hit another man in a melee at the Fairfax Pavilion. He said the chief smelled of alcohol and could not recall the scuffle the next day.

The fracas took place during a near-riot by young people at a dance while police were trying to arrest a rowdy youth, Johnson said.

Shaw noted that Johnson's written report of the fracas included no mention of the stray punch, but Johnson later said he did not report it because it had "no bearing on the arrest and I felt it was better for the department to have it out."

Johnson also testified that morale was low in the department during his three years on the force because of too much overtime and because of preferential treatment of Mrs. Kittelman.

He said she was allowed to be absent at times and was permitted to do homework for College of Marin police courses during duty hours. She was also routinely sent to meetings on juvenile matters that other officers wanted to attend, he said.

Johnson further testified that tickets for violating the city's overnight parking law were sometimes voided by the chief and Mrs. Kittelman, but, under questioning by Shaw, said that courtesy warnings were usually issued in place of the ticket if the violator had an excuse.

Among the charges drawn up by Crowe to justify Orr's firing are voiding tickets without justification or excuse, showing favoritism to Mrs. Kittelman, threatening Johnson and hitting him while under the influence

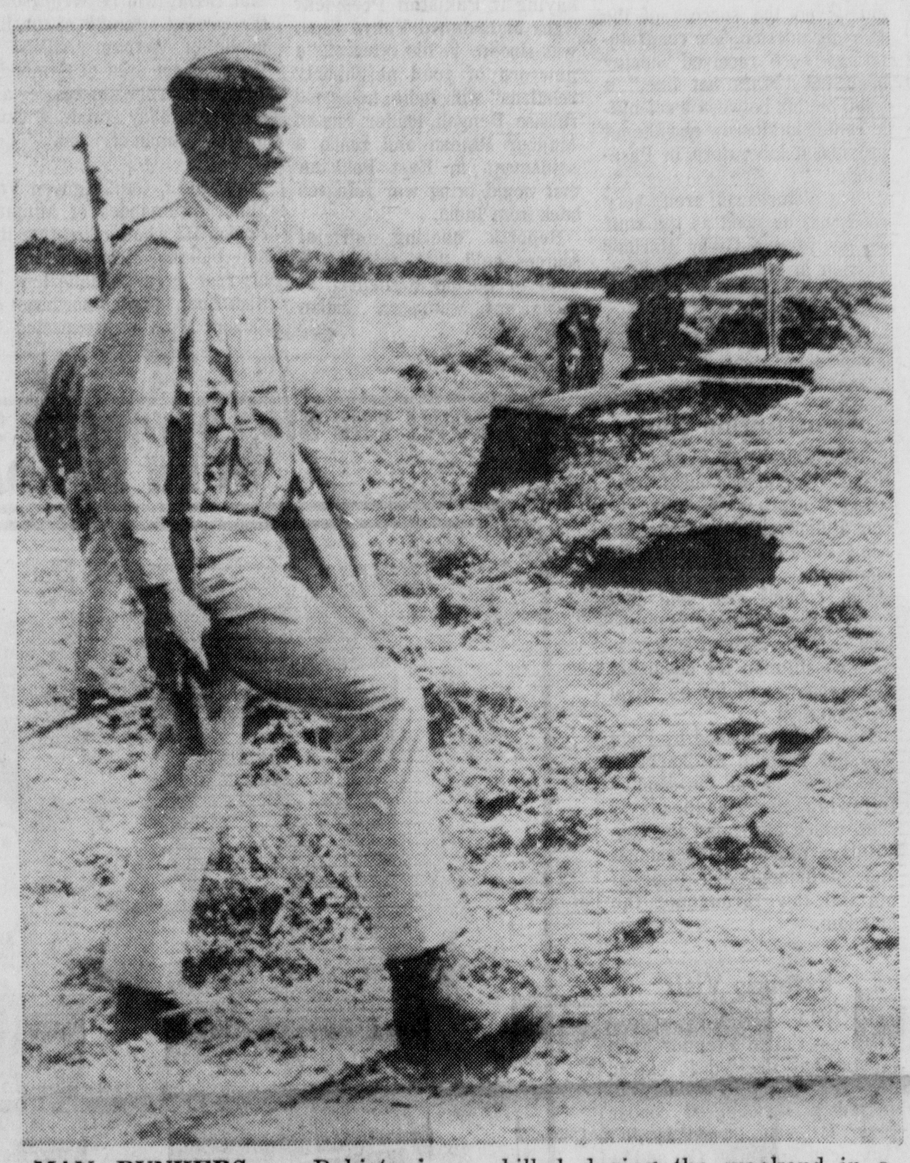
Radio Pakistan Says India Has Launched All-Out War



MAN BUNKERS — Pakistani troops man bunkers at a forward outpost on the tense Indian-Pakistan border at Shamshernager. Gandhi Aide In Denial

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Radio Pakistan charged today that India "has launched an allout offensive against East Pakistan . . . without formal declaration of war." In New Delhi, a government spokesman denied similar charges but said Indian planes drove off intruding Pakistani jets which crossed the border.

The Radio Pakistan broadcast monitored in London said that one Indian thrust came in the Jessore sector bordering on India's West Bengal state. It said that a second Indian attack came in the Sylhet area, across East Pakistan from Jessore, and in the area of the port of Chittagong.

The broadcast said that fighting was still going on.

In New Delhi, government spokesmen said that Indian jet fighters fired on four Pakistani Sabre jets which intruded into Indian territory from the Jessore area of Pakistan, but denied as "absolutely false" Pakistani Radio charges that Indian tanks and infantry had entered East Pakistan there on Sunday.

"Absolutely false," Joint Defense Secretary P. Krishnamurti of India said of Pakistani Radio reports which charged that seven Indian tanks were destroyed and 90 Indian soldiers were killed in fighting in the Jessore area Sunday. These were apparently charges of an earlier attack than that reported by Pakistanti Radio today.

"I should reiterate that Indian troops have strict orders not to cross frontiers," Krishnamurti said.

The Radio Pakistan broadcast monitored in London today said that preliminary estimates put the number of Indian dead at 130, and that Pakistani casualties were 7 killed and 40 wounded. It said 18 Indian tanks were damaged.

The radio charged that "eight (Indian) mountain divisions and some tanks" attacked in the Sylhet area early in the day but that heavily outnumbered Pakistani army troops checked the advance, inflicting 58 casualties at the cost of 11 dead and 16 wounded.

The radio said that two Indian brigades attacked in the Chittagong area but that eastern zone commander Lt. Gen. A. Niazi visited the battle area and was told "the situation is well under control."

"It is expected that the Indian army will open up more fronts on the East Pakistan borders in the next 24 hours," the broadcast said.

Tension between the two countries has been building up since Pakistan's government tried to put down the Bengali autonomy movement in East Pakistan by force last March.

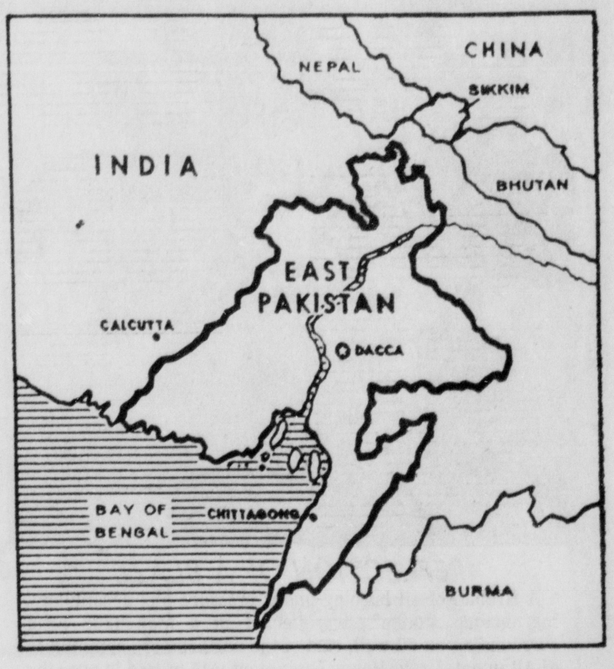
West and East Pakistan are separated by 1,000 miles of Indian territory and Indian and Pakistan troops are massed along the border in both areas.

Government spokesmen in New Delhi said that the air intrusion by the four Pakistani planes—the first in which Indian planes have fired upon Pakistani aircraft along the eastern froniter, occurred above Boyra, about 65 miles northwest of Calcutta. It took place today.

The Boyra area is located about 15 miles from the town of Jessore and about 10 miles from its airfield, which was reported from the East Pakistani capital of Dacca to have been closed because of shellfire Sunday.

None of the planes was hit, Krishnamurti said, and all flew back to Pakistan without returning the fire.

The Pakistan Radio broadcast monitored here said Indian forces had been able to make incursions across the border "because no one expected they would throw all international conventions to the winds and stoop to launching an all-out offensive."



SCENE OF CHARGE — Radio Pakistan said today India "has launched an all-out offensive against East Pakistan — without a formal declaration of war." This UPI Telephoto map pinpoints the tense area in the latest Indian-Pakistan crisis.

Meany Remarks Anger Connally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said today AFL-CIO President George Meany's attitude toward President Nixon Friday "reflected an arrogance, boorishness and discourtesy that ill-becomes a leader of the labor movement in the United States".

At a news conference, Connally declared that "the comments I made go to Mr. Meany personally. They do not go to the labor movement."

Meany denied today he or the labor group were rude to Nixon at the AFL-CIO convention Friday.

Connally also said a 28.5 per cent pay raise given Meany by the union was a "flagrant contempt" of the economic program to hold down big wage and price increases.

Connally also said today the Pay Board's approval of a 15 per cent pay hike for soft coal miners was very disappointing and said he hoped it would not set a precedent for other wage decisions.

Connally, who also serves as chairman of the Cost of Living Council, told a news conference that he was speaking as a layman in attacking the Pay Board decision Friday and not as a top government official.

"I'm very disappointed in the coal action," Connally said. He added that he hoped it would not set a precedent or is viewed as a standard for other wage decisions.

In the wake of the Pay Board's action, the Price Commission met today to look at the other side of the coin — a

Major Court Victory In Push For Equal Rights For Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Advocates of equal rights for women won their second victory of the new term in the Supreme Court today.

A 7-0 vote in a complex Idaho probate case held that the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment bars states from legally discriminating against women in naming them as administrators of estates.

That was the same clause used by the Court to prohibit discrimination against Negroes in the milestone civil rights cases of the 1950s and 1960s.

In today's unanimous opinion, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the constitutional guarantee of "equal protection of the laws" denies to the states the power to establish different classes of persons to be administrators "on the basis of criteria wholly unrelated to the objective". Two weeks ago, the Court refused to review a lower court decision in Wisconsin which held that under a union or company pension plan women workers could not be compelled to retire at an earlier age than men.

In another decision today, the Court by a 4-3 vote upheld the right of the federal government to cut back social security disability benefits if the recipient also was getting beyond a certain limit in state workmen's compensation.

The women's rights case came to the Court from Idaho when the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the probate law on Feb. 11, 1970. It was appealed by Mrs. Sally M. Reed of Ada County.

In 1971 the state legislature repealed the law but today's ruling would apply to any other situations parallel to the Reed case or to othar state laws of the same kind.

The county probate court named Mrs. Reed's husband, Cecil, administrator of the estate of their dead 16-year-old adopted son. The couple had been divorced in 1958.

Reed's attorney told the supreme Court the boy was in his mother's custody at first; then placed in a home and finally awarded to the father. He was in his father's custody at the time of his death March 29, 1967.

The Idaho law did not leave women out altogether in probate matters. For instance, a woman whose husband died had preference over a son or other male relative because she was a spouse and in a preferred category.

But when persons in the same category applied for an administrator's authority, the Idaho Supreme Court said a male should be preferred.

But Burger said: "To give a mandatory preference to members of either sex over members of the other merely to accomplish the elimination of hearings on the merits is to make the very kind of arbitrary legislative choice forbidden by the equal protection clause. ... and whatever may be said as to the positive values of avoiding intrafamily controversy the choice in this context may not lawfully be mandated solely on the basis of sex."

Panel Backs Butz, But It Is Close

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Agriculture committee approved today by an 8-6 vote the nomination of Earl L. Butz to be new Agriculture Secretary.

The narrowness of the vote foreshadowed an expected battle on the Senate floor on confirmation of the Purdue University dean, who has been strongly criticized by some senators and farm groups as favoring corporate rather than family farms.

The Agriculture committee instructed Butz to put his stocks in three agri-business firms into a blind trust and then to have them sold within 90 days to avoid any appearance of conflict of interest.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Republican National Committee and a member of the Agriculture Committee, predicted after the groups closed session that Butz would be confirmed although he said opponents might muster 25 to 30 votes on the Senate floor.

The Agriculture Committee chairman, Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., voted against Butz in committee, and said he could not predict the outcome on the floor.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said a Senate vote on confirmation could not be scheduled until after a Thanksgiving weekend recess because of other already scheduled business. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., had expressed hope for a vote this week.

Israeli Paper Urges Call-Up Of Reserves

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An Israeli newspaper called today for mobilization of the reserves after the weekend statement by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat that there is "no alternative" to another Middle East war.

The Israeli army scheduled a nationwide air raid warning test for Tuesday.

An Israeli military spokesman said that the situation along the Suez Canal was quiet. He added, however, that up to 70,000 Egyptian troops and 2,000 tanks are there and that the fighting could begin without advance warning.

Western intelligence sources in London confirmed the Egyptian buildup along the canal but pointed out that a crossing would be "hazardous in the extreme" as long as Israel retains mastery in the air.

The Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth said in an editorial that Sadat's statements meant that "it is necessary for a callup" of reserves in Israel. Israeli newspapers generally called on the government and military leadership to make clear to Egypt the dangers of another round of fighting.

An army spokesman said that the nationwide air raid warning network would be tested at 2 p.m. Tuesday (7 a.m. EST), the first test since a commemorative blast on Memorial Day six months ago. The spokesman said the test had nothing to do with Sadat's speeches, but it served to underscore the mood of public apprehension in Israel.

The newspaper Davar said that the developments of the past few days lent "urgency and gravity" to Prime Minister Golda Meir's meeting with President Nixon, scheduled for next month.

Four African leaders arrived in Cairo on a continuing mission to seek peace in the area. They were Presidents Leopold Senghor of Senegal and Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowan of Nigeria, Foreign Minister Mario Cardoso of Zaire (the former Congo) and State Minister William Eteki of Cameroun.

In Beirut, travellers from Egypt said leave was canceled for the armed forces and they were on a state of standby alert.

Sadat said "I have asked the U.S. representative (in Cairo, Donald C. Bergus) to tell his government there can be no further discussions."

Demos Win A Round In Campaign Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democrats beat down a Republican attempt today to delay until 1976 or later a plan to use tax funds rather than private contributions to finance presidential election campaigns.

The vote was 53 to 43.

A showdown vote on the Democratic plan was scheduled for late today —probably not until after nightfall —following action on a dozen more Republican amendments aimed at nullifying it.

A very close final vote was predicted on the plan, which would provide up to $20.4 million to each of the presidential candidates of the two major parties if they agreed to hold their campaign spending within that limit.

In today's first vote, defeated was an amendment by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., which would have postponed the plan's operations until the federal budget showed a surplus — something that has happened only two or three times since World War II.

Both parties would have been denied federal funding for their campaign in next year's election and not until 1976 at the earliest if the amendment had passed.

The pressures on all senators before the vote were heavy.

"The arms are twisted until they are almost twisted off on both sides," said Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., in advance of the vote.

In a politically charged atmosphere, the Republicans sought to switch a few Southern Democrats. Only a handful of converts would be needed to defeat the plan.

In a test vote on Thursday, 43 Republicans and three Democrats voted against the plan. Forty-nine Democrats and no Republicans voted for it.

The Democrats hoped to tie the plan to President Nixon's bill which, as amended by the

Two Duck Hunters Drown In Mouth Of Tomales Bay

Two duck hunters — one a West Marin oyster fisherman and the other a warehouseman from Petaluma —drowned Saturday when their 18-foot skiff capsized near the mouth of Tomales Bay.

A third occupant of the board and a dog were saved.

Dead are Henry F. Jensen, 41, operator of Jensen's Oyster Ranch near Tomales, and George C. Slattery, 59, of 1720 Sutton Road, Petaluma.

The third hunter, William D. Harlowe, 38, of Oakland, and Jensen's dog, a black retriever, were saved by a Point Reyes Station man, William H. Marshall, 66, who was near the scene in another boat.

Harlowe told sheriff's deputies the hunting party left Nick's Cove about 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

About a half-mile outside the mouth of the bay, a large wave overturned the boat, tossing all occupants into the water. Harlowe clung to a floating gasoline can.

By the time Marshall arrived, Jensen and Slattery were gone. The bodies were retrieved later by other boaters.

Slattery, a native of Bloomfield, was a long time resident of Tomales. He was a member of the Tomales Druids Grove, Occidental Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Nicasio Parlor

Coast Shipping Nearing Normal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Shipping has nearly returned to normal on San Francisco bay since dock operations resumed Oct. 9 following a 100-day West Coast longshore strike.

The Marine Exchange said 200 cargo vessels arrived at bay ports in the first half of November. There has been some delay due to shortages of longshoremen, the Exchange said.

The west coast's 18,000 striking longshoremen were ordered back to work under the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day "cooling off period" which expires Dec. 26. There has been no settlement in the union dispute with shippers over salary increases and work jurisdiction.

Humphrey Charges A Nixon Provocation

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey charged Sunday night that President Nixon had deliberately tried to provoke union leaders into an ugly confrontation for his own political gain.

Referring to Nixon's blunt address last Friday to the AFL-CIO convention here, Humphrey said "an opportunity for bringing Americans together was cast aside in the interest of personal political gain. He went to the point of seeking to provoke this audience."

The Minnesota Democrat made his charges in a press release outlining his view to AFL-CIO President George Meany and later in an interview with UPI.

Humphrey also joined labor officials in charging there is a "deliberate attempt to make the labor movement look as if it was rude to the President, that it had a lack of respect for the office, which is not true. They did not jeer, boo or hiss.

"The fact that they didn't break out in tumultuous applause is because they don't happen to agree with the President's policies," Humphrey said.

An AFL-CIO spokesman earlier had charged the White House was trying to "falsely trump up" the impression that labor leaders gave Nixon an insulting reception when he spoke to the convention and told delegates he would press ahead with his wage and price controls with or without their cooperation.

Nixon's remarks were in answer to Meany's comment the day before that organized labor would not cooperate with decisions of the pay board and "if the President of the United States doesn't want our membership on the pay board on our terms, he knows what he can do."

AFL-CIO officials said they gave Nixon a "respectful and dignified, but distant" reception —"exactly the dignity that's due the office of President of the United States, but not the type of friendly personal receptions we gave two previous presidents (Kennedy and Johnson) we considered warm friends."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Back At Work

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The majority of the 15,000 soft coal miners who stayed on strike all last week returned to work today, apparently pleased by the pay board's approval of the first year round of wage increases.

A few dissident groups held out. One West Virginia mine union leader claimed the United Mine Workers (UMW) union got its members nothing but "a clothing allowance."

The vast majority of the 80,000 soft coal miners under the UMW contract returned peacefully to work last week, following the signing of a three year contract between the UMW and the association of coal operators.

Most of the resistance centered in the soft coal fields of northern West Virginia and southwestern Pennsylvania, centers of rebel movements against the UMW.

Ship Sinks

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — A West German freighter with six men aboard sank off the Danish coast today in one of the worst snow storms in memory lashing Denmark and southern Sweden, rescue officers reported.

The Danish Naval Command in Aarhus said the 358-ton Nickar of Duisburg went down off Grenaa on Jutland early today after sending distress signals.

The snow storm caused a number of traffic deaths both in Denmark and in Sweden.

Search In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Another search of the grounds of a Roman Catholic convent at Armagh uncovered no additional weapons to add to Saturday's find, according to a British army spokesman.

About 100 Royal Marine commandos with metal detectors and specially trained dogs scoured the Mount St. Catherine convent's 20 acres for four hours Sunday in driving sleet.

"Nothing was found," the spokesman said. He added, "There is no suggestion that the nuns knew anything at all about the arms that were hidden there."

Troops Saturday dug up two .22-caliber rifles, a telescopic sight, a silencer, a single barrel shot gun and 200 rounds of ammunition just inside the grounds of the convent, housing 31 nuns.

Going Coed

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI) — Dartmouth College will go coed in September, breaking a 202-year tradition at the college, and will begin operating on a year-round basis.

The decisions to expand the academic year and place the school in line with other Ivy League institutions in admitting women came at a weekend meeting of the board of trustees. The decision was announced Sunday.

The graduating class of 1975 will be the first one to accept women and operate of the full-year calendar.

Dropping Fight

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Thomas Jolley, a University of Georgia graduate who fled to Canada in 1967 but later returned to the United States, says he will drop his legal fight against U.S. government plans to deport him.

In an interview published in the Red & Black, the University of Georgia's student newspaper, Jolley said he will not ask the U.S. Supreme Court to reconsider its refusal to hear his case.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of appeals in New Orleans has upheld the government's order deporting Jolley, now a reporter for the Tallahassee Democrat.

Storm Clearing

PASADENA (UPI) — The dust storm obscuring Mars from the television cameras of America's Mariner 9 space explorer has begun to clear, Mariner scientists said today.

The scientists were buoyed by the beginning of the end of the storm, and by a message of congratulations from Soviet scientists on the success of the Mariner mission. The congratulations were received Sunday over the "Mars hot line," a teletype link between a scientific center in Moscow and the jet propulsion laboratory in Pasadena.

"The pictures still aren't very good, not as good as the stuff we got from a fly-by Mariner mission in 1969," said a Mariner spokesman. "But things are definitely improving, and we're certain now that the dust storm is subsiding."

Constitution Due

BANGKOK (UPI) — The National Executive Council said today a draft of a temporary constitution will be submitted to King Bhumibol Adulyadej for approval.

The council also said that when a constitutional commission finishes drafting a permanent constitution the document will become official by royal proclamation.

The council, headed by Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, was set up to run the country following last Wednesday's coup which abrogated the constitution, dissolved the cabinet and parliament and imposed martial law throughout the kingdom.

Extends Visit

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has decided to extend his visit to Chile by two days to inspect a nationalized copper mine formerly owned by the American Kennecott Co. and to rest briefly at the nation's leading resort.

The Cuban premier, who today was touring the wind-whipped petroleum fields outside Punta Arenas, had been scheduled to return to Havana Tuesday after a 13-day visit to Chile.

However, Castro now will travel to Kennecott's former El Teniente mine south of Santiago, probably Tuesday, and then spend the following day at the elegant seashore resort of Vina Del Mar. His visit is expected to end in Santiago Thursday with a large farewell.

Kennedy Leads

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Time Magazine survey released Sunday indicated that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has considerable support as a 1972 presidential candidate, with a chance for 188 of the 270 electoral votes needed for election. The poll showed President Nixon two votes shy of 270.

In an interview released simultaneously, Kennedy said Nixon will be hard to beat in 1972 because of his new China policy and if the war in Vietnam ends and Nixon's Phase II economic program increases prosperity.

A Pakistani Mortar Hit Kills Eight

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Eight persons were reported killed and six more wounded in a Pakistani mortar attack on the town of Karimganj, one mile from the northeastern tip of East Pakistan, news reports said today.

On the western frontier of East Pakistan, spokesmen for East Pakistani rebels claimed Sunday they had made inroads into Jessore district of East Pakistan, forcing Pakistan army troops to withdraw. The rebel statements coincided with charges by Radio Pakistan that Indian army troops supported by tanks launched a major offensive in the area.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, meanwhile, was quoted as saying if Pakistan President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan was sincere in his offer of "a new era of good neighborly relations" with India, he should release Bengali leader Sheikh Mujibur Raman and reach a settlement in East Pakistan that would bring war refugees back from India.

Reports quoting official sources said that among the dead in Sunday's shelling at Karimganj were an Indian army major.

Six Saigon Battalions Push Into Cambodia To Aid Cause

SAIGON (UPI)—Field reports said that six battalions of South Vietnamese airborne troops crossed into Cambodia today and thousands more massed along the border for a new invasion aimed at ending a Communist threat against the Cambodian capital.

The six battalions—about 4,000 men—moved into Cambodia to reinforce South Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the neighboring country since the Allied invasion of May, 1970, the reports said.

Despite the initial border crossings today, military sources indicated that the big push has yet to start. They indicated that D-Day will be Wednesday, the current strength of the Republic of Vietnam (ARVN) in the adjacent area of Cambodia where guerrilla sanctuaries are located already stands at close to a 13,000-man division.

ARVN Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of Military Region III who is directing the new buildup, spent the day at his rear area headquarters at Bien Hoa, 18 miles northeast of Saigon. Minh was expected to arrive at his forward headquarters at Tay Ninh, 50 miles northwest of Saigon and 27 miles south of the Cambodian border, on Tuesday.

Though vehicles rolled across the border, there was none of the heavy U.S. air activity that always accompanies a major allied push.

However, the Vietnamese themselves staged an air raid Sunday on suspected guerrilla concentrations near Chrum, 40 miles inside Cambodia, and reported killing 40 guerrillas.

Clark Says Prisons Should Be Replaced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The nation's prisons are "warehouses of crime and human degradation" that should be abolished and replaced with small community-based facilities, according to former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark.

In dealing with offenders, Clark said, society "can either give him his chance to fulfill himself as a productive citizen or it can treat him oppressively at its own peril."

The former attorney general under the Johnson Administration told a University of San Francisco audience Sunday there was "injustice" in trying to solve the problems of alcoholism, mental retardation and drug addiction through the prison system.

Society has "not begun to utilize the social and scientific resources available" to solve this kind of antisocial behavior, said Clark, a lawyer now in private practice in Washington D.C.

Existing detoxification, psychological counseling and family service agencies should be used to treat alcoholics, the mentally retarded and drug addicts, he said.

Clark said convicts should have the right to decent jobs, education, housing and due process of law while behind bars and suggested that juvenile offenders be placed in family situations where they could attend school.

"Our purpose is to return these people to the community as soon as possible," Clark said. "The question is not how long a prisoner has been in prison, but what he is like—what kind of person is he—when it's time to live in the community again."

More Malaria

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —The number of malaria cases in Texas has risen from 11 in 1966 to 458 in 1970, according to the State Health Department. The department blames the increase on the Vietnam War.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

'Business As Usual' At Catholic High

Negotiations toward ending a week-old strike by lay teachers at seven Bay Area Catholic high schools — including Marin Catholic — resumed yesterday.

The Kentfield school was reported to be operating normally.

Rev. David Pettingill, vice principal at Marin Catholic, said it was "business as usual" at the school today. About 20 students — a normal figure — were reported, he said.

Negotiations between striking teachers and representatives of the San Francisco Catholic Archdiocese were reopened in Palo Alto and continued today in San Francisco with a federal mediator joining the talks.

Negotiations had broken down Thursday when teacher representatives walked out of a meeting.

In New York, meanwhile, unionized lay teachers today struck 329 schools of the Archdiocese of New York over wages. Church officials said they would attempt to keep the schools open, but union president Barry F. Ryan said that "we expect to close a few schools and educationally disrupt a good many."

Striking Bay Area teachers scheduled mass picketing this afternoon outside the archdiocesan offices in San Francisco.

A spokesman for the striking union, the Secondary Teachers Association, said its members would be joined by members of the American Federation of Teachers.

The striking union, which had been independent, affiliated with the AFL-CIO union Thursday.

Jack Breen, a director of the teachers' association, said the strikers have received official strike sanction from central labor councils in the four counties where struck schools are located — San Francisco, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

Ten of Marin Catholic's 22 lay teachers, as well as four nuns, are participating in the strike in Marin.

Judge Ousts Six Felons In Outburst

Six convicts accused of murder in the Aug. 21 escape attempt at San Quentin Prison shouted obscenities at the judge and their court-appointed attorneys during a pretrial hearing today, and were removed from the courtroom.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court, intent on completing arraignment in proceedings in the inmates' fifth court appearance, ordered all six to listen from an adjoining holding cell while he read the grand jury's 12-count indictment charging them with murder, conspiracy and assault.

Their removal from the courtroom in the Hall of Justice followed an outburst in which the convicts called the judge a "bastard" and an "ass," and termed their attorneys as "stool pigeons."

Louis N. Talamantez, one of the convicts, called for the judge to disqualify himself. "It is our joint belief you are prejudiced," said Talamantez.

After reading the indictment, McGuire called the six back into court one at a time to ask them if they would cooperate during proceedings the rest of the day.

Inmate John L. Spain was the only one who indicated possible cooperation.

The balance of today's hearing was to consider requests from several of the inmates' attorneys to withdraw from the case.

No. 183, Native Sons of the Golden West.

Slattery had been a laborer and was last employed by the Sebastopol Cooperative Cannery.

He is survived by his mother, Louise Slattery of Sacramento; a brother, John Slattery of Santa Rosa; and six sisters, Claire Shaw of El Cerrito, Mary Bennett of San Mateo, Dorothy Marshall of Sebastopol, Eleanor Siemer of Petaluma, Susan Slattery and Alice Scott of Sacramento.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 11 a.m. tomorrow at our Lady of the Assumption Church, Tomales Catholic Cemetery.

Jensen, 41, had owned and operated the Jensen Oyster Beds for 18 years. He was a native of Petaluma, but had spent his adult life in Tomales.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia; his father, Henry J. Jensen of Morro Bay; a son, Henry J. Jensen of Tomales.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Probation Given Ex-Teacher Kimmel

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — James Kimmel, former Novato High School teacher, has been placed on two years probation for cultivating and possessing marijuana.

Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. of Sonoma County Superior Court sentenced Kimmel Friday on two charges stemming from two 1970 arrests at his Sonoma home. Kimmel pleaded guilty to the charges after Murphy rejected Kimmel's claim the pot was grown for religious purposes.

TAXES

Senate, would cut business and individual taxes by more than $27 billion during the next three years.

They think Nixon would resist the temptation to veto the bill in view of the business community's strong support for the tax cuts and Nixon's need to stimulate an economic recovery to enhance his own reelection prospects.

But the White House raised the possibility of a veto. Clark MacGregor, the President's top assistant for dealing with Congress, said during the weekend Nixon "would have to consider" vetoing the legislation if it reaches him with the campaign fund provision. And Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said he would veto the bill if he were in Nixon's shoes.

At issue was a proposal by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., to allow taxpayers to provide each major presidential candidate with up to $20.4 million for his 1972 campaign expenses. George Wallace would get $6.3 million if he runs again.

Novato Council Session Tuesday

The Novato City Council will discuss the city-council planning council's preliminary countywide plan at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato Community House.

The council also will consider a planning commission recommendation to revoke the use permit of the Kok Pit restaurant at 5420 Redwood Highway.

Reports On Programs Due

Reports on two educational experiments will be given the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the administration building.

One will be on the On Location program under which 50 students from San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools are studying outside of school.

The other report will be on an attempt to create a small school of 150 students and seven teachers within San Rafael High School.

The board also will consider appointments to the citizen advisory committee.

Building Financing Will Be Discussed

The Marin Community College District board will discuss possible methods of financing construction of the Indian Valley Colleges during an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in Room 101 of the Science Building of the College of Marin.

New methods are needed because of the failure Nov. 2 of a $16.8 million bond measure that would have financed construction of the Novato campus.

Puppeteer To Give Program Tomorrow

Puppeteer and storyteller Kathy Sternberg will appear at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the children's room of the San Rafael Public Library.

Children from four to seven, accompanied by a parent, are invited, according to Dorothy Chuche, children's librarian.

Tax Panel Session

request for a jump in the price of coal.

There were reports that the Bituminous Coal Operators Association was seeking a 8.5 per cent price hike. The Price Commission had set a general guideline of 2.5 per cent per year for price increases.

Meanwhile in Miami Beach, Meany accused President Nixon of deliberately staging the allegedly rude treatment the chief executive received when he spoke to labor federation's convention here last Friday. "The accusations of discourtesy are absolutely and completely untrue and unfair," Meany told the closing day's session of the convention. "I think we showed the respect that was due the President. We were courteous and there was no jeering, no booing."

secretary during the Eisenhower administration while Ezra Taft Benson headed the Agriculture Department, would succeed Clifford M. Hardin who resigned to become an executive of Ralston Purina Co.

In the committee vote, Butz was opposed by four Democrats and two Republicans including the committee's ranking GOP member, Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa.

Others besides Miller and Talmadge, to vote against him were Democrats Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, George S. McGovern, of South Dakota and B. Everett Jordan, of North Carolina and Republican Milton R. Young of North Dakota.

Joint Session To Be Considered

The Fairfax School District board will consider a request by the Tamalpais High School District board for a joint session at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow.

The Fairfax board has changed its meeting place to White Hill School from the district office.

Water Director On Board Agenda

The Marin Municipal Water District board is expected to name a new director at an adjourned meeting at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in district offices in Corte Madera.

The board will hold a closed session at 12:30 p.m. to discuss the qualifications of applicants for the District One seat formerly held by Ray W. Foreaker Jr., now county public works director.

Future Of District Is Due Discussion

The future organization of the Sausalito School District and the district's upcoming tax election will be discussed by the Sausalito School District board at 7:30 p.m. today in the Martin Luther King School gymnasium.

The meeting will be the second of several informational sessions to discuss possible reorganization of the district, which has been plagued by declining enrollment and high cost per student (estimated at between $2,000 and $2,300 this year).

of alcohol during the pavilion fracas.

He is also charged with being under the influence of alcohol on several other occasions, incompetency and failure to establish adequate police training and departmental operating rules.

He is also charged with making Mrs. Kittelman a police officer without authority, and with improper social relations with her.

Johnson, as have other hearing witnesses, testified he often saw Orr's car at the Kittelman home in the early morning hours, but said during cross-examination he knew of no improper behavior between the two.

Shaw noted while cross examining that Mrs. Kittelman, also an undercover narcotics agent, and the chief sometimes worked together during the night on narcotics busts.

Johnson's testimony followed that of Fairfax Sgt. Paul E. Simpson. Simpson said Saturday that morale was lacking in the department because of inefficiency by Orr.

He said, during prodding from Shaw, that Orr had established an incentive pay program for officers furthering their education. Shaw also brought out that the department was commended by a state law enforcement team for its procedures after an unannounced inspection.

The board will hear further testimony from the city's witnesses Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Acid Splashing Burns Boy, 13

Glenn Williams, 13, of 22 Magnolia Avenue, Petaluma, was treated yesterday at Hillcrest Hospital for neck and leg burns suffered when he was splashed with sulphuric acid awaiting disposal.

Police said Williams kicked containers of the acid stored in the rear of 226 Petaluma Boulevard North, and the substance splashed on him.

OBITUARIES

Lucretia Frease, 87, Dies

Requiem Mass for Lucretia Maria Frease, 87, of Point Reyes Station, will be offered Wednesday at 9 a.m. at St. Rose Catholic Church, Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Frease died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. She had been a lifelong resident of Point Reyes Station and was the wife of the late Frank Frease.

She is survived by a daughter, Maria Carrio of Point Reyes Station; two sons, Lester Frease of Point Reyes Station and Theodore Frease of Stevenson, Fresno County; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow at Daniels Chapel of the Roses, Santa Rosa. Burial will be at Calvary Catholic Cemetery, Santa Rosa.

JACK G. CUNNINGHAM

Jack G. Cunningham of Vallejo, father of Jack M. Cunningham of Mill Valley, was pronounced dead at a Vallejo hospital yesterday after suffering an apparent heart attack while driving in the Vallejo area.

Cunningham, 68, was a native of Seattle, but lived most of his life in Portland. He moved to El Cerrito in 1959 and to Vallejo about a month ago.

He was a bill collector, an electrical worker and an industrial supervisor before his retirement in 1967.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred; a daughter, Jean Cunningham of Portland, and a grandchild.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Colonial Chapels, 1000 Redwood Street, Vallejo. Burial will be at Napa Valley Memorial Gardens in Napa.

DOROTHY TAYLOR

Mass of the Resurrection for Dorothy M. Taylor, 63, of San Anselmo, will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Taylor, found not breathing in bed at home Friday, was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital, apparently of natural causes, according to Bill T. Thomas, deputy coroner.

She was born in San Francisco and had lived in Marin County for 33 years. Her husband, Philip, is a retired trust officer for the Bank of America.

In addition to her husband, of the home at 4 Hillcrest Avenue, Mrs. Taylor is survived by a son, Daniel Taylor; a daughter, Marylyn Midkiff of San Lorenzo; a brother, Robert Grant of Petaluma; and three grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MRS. TYRRELL

Funeral for Elizabeth Jane Tyrrell, 88, of Petaluma, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

Mrs. Tyrrell died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was born in Tomales and educated there and in Petaluma. She was the wife of the late George W.L. Tyrrell Sr.

She is survived by a son, George Tyrrell Jr. of Petaluma; two daughters, Frances Smith of Petaluma and Lola Brimhall of Arcata; six grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Private burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

ANTON GRAF

Funeral for Anton Graf, 89, of Corte Madera, a retired barber, was held today.

He died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Graf was born in Germany and had lived in Marin County for 55 years. He operated a barber shop on Corte Madera Avenue from 1916 until he retired in 1940.

He is survived by his wife, Helen F. of the home at 118 Palm Avenue; a daughter, Erna G. Scott of Corte Madera, and a grandson.

Burial was private.

SAMUEL HEANEY

Funeral for Samuel Wallace Heaney, father of Carol Slewing of Corte Madera, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Halcumb Cemetery Chapel in Montgomery Creek, Shasta County,

Heaney, 86, died Friday in Redding after a short illness.

He was a former Pacific Gas and Electric Co. employee who operated a camp for P. G. and E. employees in Montgomery Creek for several years after retirement from the company. He retired fully last year.

Heaney was a native of Ireland.

In addition to his daughter, Mrs. Slewing, he is survived by two other daughters, Dorothy Nash of Los Angeles and Patricia Malone of San Bruno, and a son, Donald B. Heaney of Glendale.

H. A. PILCHER

Private funeral for Hubert A. Pilcher, who lived at a local convalescent hospital for the past five years, will be tomorrow in San Rafael.

Pilcher, whose relatives all live in Marin, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 77.

Born in Austria, he moved to Canada in 1915, to Wisconsin in 1916, then back to Canada in 1918. He moved to Ross in 1928, then to San Francisco in the 1950s.

He was a chef at the Mark Hopkins and Palace hotels until his retirement in 1960. He then moved to Guerneville Park on the Russian River.

He was a member of the Culinary and Bartenders Union.

Surviving are his wife for 56 years, Martha Pilcher of Corte Madera; a son, Herbert H. Pilcher of Corte Madera; a daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Sandahl of Ross; three grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

MRS. WHITTAKER

Martha Ural Whittaker, 57, former clerk and cosmetic consultant at the Greenbrae Pharmacy, died yesterday at a convalescent hospital in Santa Rosa after a long illness.

Mrs. Whittaker, of 2005 Willow Drive, Petaluma, was the wife of Ralph Whittaker, a postal employee in Novato.

Mrs. Whittaker had been a resident of California for 15 years and had lived in Petaluma four years. She was a native of Illinois.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three sisters, Neva Metzner of Sacramento, Grace Hamlow of Petaluma, and Ida May Trent of Durant, Mich., and two brothers, Wallace Wilson of Peoria, Ill., and Robert Wilson of Sacramento.

Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Friends may call at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato, tonight.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Treatment For Sprained Ankle Hasn't Changed In Many Years

Treatment for a sprained ankle has not changed in many decades. Although much depends upon the severity of the injury, in general, ice or cold compresses are applied initially and the leg is elevated to minimize swelling. X-rays may be suggested to determine whether a bone is broken.

Minor sprains are strapped or taped. The individual is then told to get crutches and not to bear weight for up to three weeks. Once or twice a day, heat is applied and a member of the family is asked to move the ankle gently to discourage stiffness. While this is done the victim reclines on the sofa or sits on the edge of the bed. Salicylates are taken if pain persists or interferes with sleep.

In the past many physicians injected procaine into the injured ankle to deaden the pain. Some medicos suggested that the victim continue to walk on the damaged ankle so long as the drug controled distress. There is no rationale for this regimen and many of my colleagues no longer do it. Enzymes also have been given to reduce swelling, expecially when there was bleeding under the skin. However, there is some doubt about the effectiveness of these products.

Modern treatment gives better results and the individual gets well more quickly. Some physicians apply a plaster cast with a special support on the bottom so the victim can be up and about without putting weight on the affected ankle. This is important, especially to the professional athlete and worker whose livelihood depends upon a good ankle. Early surgery may also be needed.

A sprain is a wrenched or twisted joint with partial rupture or complete tearing of the ligaments. The most severe injury occurs when the ankle is twisted so forcibly the tendon pulls off a piece of bone.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

CREAKING JOINTS

B. A. writes: Could cracking joints be due to arthritis?

REPLY

Yes. Cracking sounds usually come from the ligaments and other structures surrounding the joints. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this disorder.

RAT BITE

B. M. writes: My son-in-law was bitten by a rat two weeks ago. His fingers are still swollen and the glands in the armpit are enlarged. Is this something that should be investigated?

REPLY

Yes. Have him see his physician because your son-in-law may have a local infection with lymphangitis (blood poisoning) or rat bite fever.

SMOKING AND ULCER

R. R. writes: If a man won't stop smoking, will his ulcer ever heal?

REPLY

Yes, but it helps to stop. Smoking is a minor factor in the treatment of peptic ulcer. Diet, medicine and tranquility are more important.

VITAMINS FOR THE ELDERLY

Mr. H. C. writes: Does an elderly person with poor digestion need vitamins?

REPLY

Yes, if his diet is not well-balanced. Many persons with so-called indigestion are finicy eaters and omit essential foods from their diet.

UNRESPONSIVE CHILD

F.M. writes: Is there something wrong with a 2-year-old boy who does not respond to adults who make a fuss over him? He is not deaf, but cuddling brings no light to his eyes and no change in his behavior.

REPLY

This child may be suffering from autistic psychosis, a condition that resembles schizophrenia. These youngsters have lost their ability to communicate and act as though they were living in another world. Mothers of these tots often tell us that the young victims are not aware of their presence. These children need expert psychiatric care.

BRAIN INFECTION

D.F. writes: Can a person recover completely from encephalitis, with no bad effects remaining?

REPLY

Yes. Most victims of this disease have recovered completely. As of August, the Texas epidemic (3,368 horses) of Venezuelan equine encephalitis had involved 52 humans, and to my knowledge all recovered.

INFECTED LOBES

Mrs. U. writes: Fifty years ago I had my ears pierced. During the last few months the right lobe has become infected several times, even though I don't wear earrings. Can you tell me what to do?

REPLY

Keep the ear lobes scrupulously clean. If infection recurs, a thorough examination of the area is indicated.

INJURY, HAIR LOSS

Miss B.B. writes: Could a head injury cause the hair to fall out?

REPLY

Loss of hair may follow a shocking or terrifying experience — accidental or otherwise. I assume you do not refer to scalping.

TALC AND ICE CUBES

J. writes: I stopped smoking and took up eating cracked ice cubes all day long. Later, I switched to inhaling talc from a can and can't stop until my nostrils and throat are full of powder. What is wrong with me?

REPLY

Many persons have strange but harmless habits, such as nibbling on ice chips or munching starch. But sniffing talc is dangerous, especially if the powder is inhaled. A talc pneumonia may develop or the particles are engulfed into the wall of the bronchi. I know of one person who died from this.

HEIGHT AND INTELLIGENCE

Mr. D. C. S. writes: Does a person's height give an indication of his I. Q.? In other words, does a 6 footer have more gray matter than a shorter man?

REPLY

There is no relationship between height and intelligence. Quality, not quantity, counts. After all, some apes have bigger brains than do humans but an ape never wrote a classic or developed atomic energy.

PILLS FOR TANNING

S.T. writes: Are the pills that cause the skin to tan safe to use?

REPLY

Yes, provided the individual is healthy and the pills are used according to directions. Only the fair-skinned person, who burns easily, needs this type of protection against the sun. Those who tan easily have enough natural pigment to avoid burning, provided they don't stay in the sun too long.

KIDNEY FAILURE

J.K. writes: What causes a kidney shutdown?

REPLY

Failure of the kidneys to filter waste materials or toxic substances may stem from a variety of renal disorders. Some are temporary and others are permanent. The condition is known as uremia and the outlook is not good unless kidney function can be improved.

3-Day Bazaar Is Set

The second annual Whirling Dervish Bazaar — a three-day celebration of exotic foods, mysterious sights and smells and minor-key music — will transform the Sausalito Arts Center into a Persian bazaar this week.

More than 60 booths will sell handicrafts and homemade foods, and visitors will experience dervish dancing, Sufi music, minstrels, tarot, palmistry and astrology and a thieves' market rummage sale.

The bazaar will run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday through Sunday at the arts center, 630 Nevada Street. It is being brought to Sausalito by about 200 followers of Sufism in the Bay Area.

According to Sufi disciple Philip Davenport, Sufism is a universal faith incorporating the essence of all religions. It has millions of followers throughout the world, especially in the Near East and Middle East, he said.

Featured at the bazaar will be handmade spiritual gift items, including dervish miniatures and meditation pillows, and exotic foods, such as shish-kebab, Moroccan, Indian and Lama delicacies, homemade bread, baklava and pastries.

The thieves' market will sell Peter Seller's psychedelic station wagon used in the film, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas."

Jamila's Bal-Anat troupe of Bedouin belly dancers will perform, and other dancers will put on daily shows of waterpot-dancing and sword-dancing.

Two concerts will be featured. G. S. Sachdev, East Indian flutist, and Shankar Ghosh and the Sufi choir will play Friday, and Ajari and the Mantric Sun Band, Kenneth Roshi and the Shasta Abbey choir, the Sufi choir and Krishna Das and Radha till perform Saturday.

Proceeds from the bazaar, Davenport said, will go toward the development of a dervish community center in the Bay Area and to the Middle East peace efforts of "Hallelujah! The Three Rings," a group of Christians, Moslems and Jews.

Woman Prisoner Rights Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge ruled Friday that women prisoners have the same constitutional rights as men for work-furlough programs.

U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter gave the Probation Department until Feb. 4 to draw up for such a program.

The program for men allows them to work at jobs in the daytime but they must spend their nights in a jail facility.

'Musicale' Scheduled

The seventh annual "Winter Musicale," will be given Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The concert band, under the direction of student teacher Charlene Wilkerson, will play music by J. S. Bach, Eric Osterling, Clare Grundman and others. The concert band will be composed of mostly freshmen and sophomores.

The music of Vivaldi, Jadin, Williams and Chance will be performed by the school's symphonic band under the direction of Terry Summa. "Statement," a contemporary piece by Brent Meisinger, will conclude the concert.

Admission will be charged. Proceeds will help finance a tour of the music department next Spring.

Flamenco Program

Enrico El de Ronda will perform on the Flamenco guitar at 8 p.m. Saturday in the San Geronimo Valley Art Center, San Geronimo.

'Quakes Will Stop—Ultimately

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Two Stanford University scientists believe that ultimately all earthquakes will stop—in a billion years or so.

Geologists William R. Dickinson and Gilliam C. Luth said the earth's interior motions, such as earthquakes and volcanic action, will stop leaving a "dead planet" like the moon.

The theory is based on research indicating there are two stiff cores of the earth with a softer core material in between that seems to be shrinking.

Holiday Crafts Class Offered

The Novato Parks and Recreation Department will offer a class in holiday crafts starting at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Novato Community House.

Demonstrations and instruction will be given in the making of pinatas, draped figures, wall and door hangings, and ornament design for tree and gift wrapping.

Classes will be held through Dec. 14. Registration is at the Novato parks and recreation office, 917 Sherman Avenue.

Volunteers Are Sought

The Mill Valley Oral History Committee, which is interviewing long-time residents with a memory of the early days in Mill Valley, has issued a plea for more volunteer interviewers.

Ruth Lecohier, committee chairman, said about 24 persons have been interviewed. Their recollections are recorded on tape and stored in the Mill Valley public library.

"Many people now residing in our community have great memories of the early days and the later exciting and interesting events of Mill Valley's past," she said. "In a few months or years they may not be here and their stories may never be told unless we interview them now."

Persons interested in volunteering may leave their names with Alberta L. Hankenson or Ralph Moreno at the library, she said.

The first official U.S. exploring party into what is now Oklahoma was in 1806.

Church vs. Van Dyke

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Catholic diocese has protested an episode of "The New Dick Van Dyke Show" which dealt with a priest and a nun stranded by a flash flood while on their way to be married.

Members of the diocese were urged Friday to write the Columbia Broadcasting System and the show's sponsors and protest the episode, televised Nov. 13.

"We found this show to be distasteful, contrived and insulting," the Rev. Joseph Kraker, assistant chancellor of the diocese, said.

"Perhaps we are a bit touchy in this area, but judging from the calls we have received there are a number of people as touchy as ourselves," Kraker said.

Kraker said he would give his radio listeners a list of all the sponsors of the television show and ask them to write the sponsors.

Fire Attempt At Picasso Center

BARCELONA (UPI) — A group of persons believed to be rightists tried to set fire to the "Pablo Picasso Workshop" in downtown Barcelona, police sources said today.

The workshop—the site of Spanish-born Picasso's first studio almost 70 years ago—was damaged by the explosion of several bottles filled with inflamable liquid, the sources said. The workshop does not house any works by the artist.

Earlier this month a Madrid art gallery staging an exhibition of Picasso engravings was ransacked by members of the rightist "anti-Marxist commandos," an extremist group.

Claims The Largest Tree For Holidays

TRACYTON, Wash. (UPI)—Residents of this tiny Puget Sound community claim they have the world's tallest Christmas tree —a 127 foot, 4 inch giant that has served as the town's yuletide ornament since 1929.

The Tracyton townspeople claimed the title after nearby Tacoma last week said their 89 foot tree was the tallest.

They're A Little Early This Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Taking a taxicab back from the theater last week, Jean Gunther saw workmen putting up Christmas decorating in front of a store.

"They're starting early this year, aren't they?" she remarked.

In San Francisco, Roos-Atkins clothing store put up its Christmas decorations the day after Halloween. They did the same thing at many stores in Little Tokyo in Los Angeles. In Atlanta, a few stores have begun assembling their displays, but in Chicago they are waiting for Monday's traditional State Street lighting ceremony.

"We expect better business than in the past few years," was one explanation Lloyd A. Pfluger, president of the San Francisco Retail Merchants Association, gave for early sales campaigns.

But a New York merchant, who did not want to be identified, explained that many stores may be trying to extend the season to sell out stock left over from last year when they anticipated more of a boom than materialized.

Many retailers miss the Armistice Day promotional period since the holiday has been changed to October, according to C. M. Valenti, managing director of the National Association of Display Industries.

Leo W. "Sandy" Sanderson of the Festive Illuminations Co. of Port Washington, N.Y., agreed and added early displays are being ordered because "business is a little off this year."

Sanderson's firm handles electrical displays for stores throughout the nation. "Our sales are way above last year's," he said. He said "when you're in a recession, that's the time to promote more."

Because of the early trend, Sanderson said, some of his workers in Lancaster, Pa., "were putting up decorations in 80-degree temperature."

Macy's in San Francisco ran into a problem this year. The artificial green trees it ordered were held up because of the Pacific Coast dock strike. But Santa Claus arrived Nov. 13 despite the tree delay.

Los Angeles merchants have stayed with the traditional display schedule but the story is different in the suburban areas. Santa Monica merchants put up trees two weeks ago and Santa will arrive Nov. 26 to pass out candy canes and coloring books.

Most of the stores in Chicago plan to begin expanded shopping hours Nov. 26, but a few will start this procedure earlier.

Some displays are up in Dallas, but Neiman-Marcus put out its unusual Christmas gift catalogue for the man who has everything about the same time it has for years.

Spokesmen at Davison's in Atlanta noted customers have begun inquiring about Christmas merchandise earlier and specialty items sell better now. But Santa Claus will not appear until after Thanksgiving.

J.C. Penney stores throughout the nation began putting up their decorations last week. "It's just the same as last year," said a Penney spokesman.

Interstate Stores Inc., which operates department, discount and toy stores throughout the nation, has begun putting up displays. But "big promotions begin next week," said Jack Gerber, Interstate public relations spokesman.

Most merchants interviewed said the big Christmas sales push will begin after Thursday, when millions will view Santa Claus on television in the big "Thanksgiving Day" parades in New York, Detroit and Philadelphia.

YUGOSLAV DANCE PERFORMANCE

"Frula," the youngest of Yugoslavia's four major dance companies, will appear at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at 8:15 p.m. today. The dancers, under producer-choreographer Dragoslav Dzadzevic, will perform dances typical of the six republics which make up Yugoslavia — Serbia, Croatia, Bosnia, Hercegovina, Slovenia, Macedonia and Montenegro.

DANCE REVIEW

A New Element Enters The Field Of Ballet In Marin

By MARIE RAMEAU

A relatively new and unknown element made its appearance on the Marin ballet scene Saturday evening at Dominican College's Angelico Hall in San Rafael. Under the rather inauspicious title of "Dancer's Theater," a small student group presented a surprisingly professional level of performance in both modern and classical works.

The evening's brief program was divided into two main parts, the first consisting of various short ballets and contemporary offerings of diverse styles. Artistic director Jeannde Herst's "Salutation," which opened the event, was led by Gayle Morano and Claudette Lorentz, in a bright classical divertissement to music of Johann Strauss.

The psychedelic was introduced in "The Center" to the haunting strains of Erik Satie, combining projections, striking colors, elusive music and imaginative movements by a quartet of dancers — Helen Peacock, Pamela Meyers, Lesa Schnell and Appletree Rodden.

"Jazz Optimum," despite its sophisticated title, seemed less striking, not really digging "in" to the idioms of the Ramsey Lewis score. It was nevertheless an enjoyable interlude for seven performers, and by no means a drag, when one takes into consideration the difficulties of choreographing good jazz dancing.

"Trio for Saki" was more of a free-style trio to music of Dvorak, but the combination of this choreography and the nature of Dvorak's musical style were rather incongruous.

In "Partita," the group returned to an academic and classical style, presenting a sequence of small dances in classical costumes. The dancers performed with spirit, with clean, crisp technique, and all of them appeared quite strong on their pointes throughout the program.

Unfortunately we had to wait until the second half of the program to enjoy the main feature of the evening, Act II of Tchaikovsky's "Swan Lake." After seeing this timeless piece performed by the greatest ballet companies in the world, I held severe and pessimistic reservations toward this rendition — until I saw it. I was very pleasantly surprised at the extraordinary discipline of the corps de ballet in the groups scenes, which in this particular work are as equally important as the leading parts.

The "Waltz of the Two Swans," as it is sometimes identified, featured two tall and technically very competent girls, who were musical as well as stylish in their performance. The famous and extremely difficult "Variation of the Four Cygnets" was excellent in every way, with the smaller dancers of the company cutting the most intricate entrechats and echappes on pointe with clockwork precision and apparent ease. This dance is also a task on any dancer's endurance, so "bravo" to these youngsters!

The Dancer's theater presents a new concept in regional ballet, centering not on one locale but drawing dancers and choreographers from throughout the Bay Area, all members or students of the Royal Academy of Dancing's Northern California chapter. Saturday evening it presented a challenge to any young performing group and hopefully will be seen more frequently in Marin.

19 Killed By Fires In Three States

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

At least 19 persons, including 15 children, were killed Sunday in major fires in Alaska, Michigan and California. Arson was suspected in one fire that killed seven persons.

Fire officials in Pontiac, Mich., said they have no motives behind the blaze that claimed the lives of Mrs. Freddie May Colsey, four of her children and two other persons visting in the home.

Investigators said they found a two-gallon can filled with gasoline just inside the front door of the house. The door appeared to have been kicked in.

Killed in the blaze along with Mrs. Colsey were her children: Melica, 3, Rosalie, 9, Cindy, 6, and Dorothy, 16. Albert Henderson, 26 and John Brown, 20, were also killed in the blaze.

Six children and a young mother died when fire destroyed a trailer home near the international airport in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Authorities said preliminary examination indicated that a defective heater caused the fire. The temperature at the time was 5 degrees.

The dead were identified as Patricia Ann Galvan, 26, her children, Chris, 5, Wesley, 2, and Cherlyn 1, and three children of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Duane Brewer Sr., Dorothy Elizabeth, 9, Peggy Louise, 8, and Dale Jr., 7.

Mrs. Galvan was baby sitting with three of her own children and the Brewer children, who lived in an adjoining trailer.

Five children, ranging in age from three to 13, burned to death when fire destroyed their ranch home in a rural farming area southwest of Blythe, Calif.

The identities of those killed was not immediately learned.

Authorities said the 10 persons were sleeping in the house when the blaze broke out. The father led two children to safety and ran one-eighth of a mile to a neighbor's home to call for help. When fire officials arrived, the house was totally enveloped in flames and the roof was caving in.

The father became hysterical when he realized the five children were trapped in the house and had to be held back by fire officials. His wife and an aunt were able to escape the blaze.

Service Area Meeting Topic

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the supervisors chambers at the Civic Center, will consider creation of a special services area in Greenbrae.

The services area, requested by the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, would take over maintenance and landscaping of public areas such as road medians and neighborhood entrances.

The area proposed would be north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and between Manor Road on the west and Via La Cumbre on the east.

The special meeting also will consider annexation of the Debes property to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Save $78,603.37. Eat at Dominic's.

A friend of ours recently spent the evening up on Broadway, instead of driving all the way to San Rafael where we are. It cost him $3.00 for parking, $51.87 for dinner, $48.50 for drinks, tips, and cover charge at a topless night club, and $75,000 plus his lawyer's fee of $3,500 for his subsequent divorce. Dominic's isn't cheap, but considering the atmosphere, superb food, and the possible savings, we're certainly worth a fifteen minute drive.

HUNTER SHOOTS SHARK, SAVES DOG

Tausha the dog eyes her master after being saved from this shark early Saturday. It happened this way: Tausha and her owner, Keith Stothers, a Stanford University employee, were duck hunting near San Quentin when Stothers spotted a shark swimming toward the dog in the bay. It took two shots from Stother's 12-gauge shotgun to stop the shark as it swam toward Tausha, who then tried to retrieve it. The dying shark, about nine-and-a-half-feet long, finally grounded itself on some rocks.

Three Boys Robbed At Knifepoint

Police said today three 9-year-old boys have been robbed at knifepoint in the Dominican area of San Rafael. The bandits' total take was one cent.

Police said the incident occurred last Tuesday but was reported to them Saturday.

They said that Michael P. Durkin of 24 Dominican Drive, Kenneth Sadler of 28 Dominican Drive and Mark Hudson of 105 Dominican Drive reported they were stopped by three other young boys near Bradcliff Court on Tuesday.

One of the boys had a knife and they demanded money, according to police, and got one cent from the Sadler boy.

The three youths threatened to cut the boys' throats if they reported the robbery, police said.

Torture Props Sold At Auction

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An "electric chair," and a "torture rack" were among the old props and artifacts sold on the final day of a six-day auction by 20th Century Fox Movie Studios.

Gary Epper of Granada Hills, Calif., paid $10 Sunday for the nonfunctioning electric chair and James Brucker of Buena Park, Calif., bought the torture rack for $30 and a medieval style battering ram for $20.

No My Lai Slaughter Knowledge Related

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—The former assistant commander of the Americal Division testified today he had no knowledge of civilian casualties in My Lai at the time he instructed Col. Oran K. Henderson to investigate the operation.

Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., now retired, testified at Henderson's trial on My Lai coverup charges that the only matter he ordered the colonel to look into was a helicopter pilot's report that he had a confrontation with American ground troops.

Young was one of the final defense witnesses at the court-martial trial of Henderson, a former commander of the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division in Vietnam, on charges of dereliction of duty by failing to investigate and ceport on the slaying of unarmed civilians in the South Vietnamese village.

The defense arranged to put Henderson on the stand in his own behalf when the prosecution finishes cross-examining Young.

Young's testimony was offered as rebuttal of prosecution witnesses who testified that during a meeting March 18, 1968, two days after the My Lai operation, Young told Henderson to investigate complaints from helicopter pilots of wholesale killing of civilians by U. S. ground troops.

Young, a grey-haired man with a deeply lined face, said a report was made to him that a helicopter pilot had observed "non-combatant civilians caught in a crossfire," and that the pilot landed and threatened American ground forces "with his own weapons" to protect the civilians.

Young said he relayed this information to the division commander, Gen. Samuel Koster, who in turn told him to have Henderson investigate the confrontation.

Young testified that there was no mention of civilian casualties during his conversation with Henderson, and the first he knew of alleged atrocities was when Henderson later made an oral report on him on the operation.

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint for 15 Years

Los Angeles, Calif.

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the home owner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 15 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX texture Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to provide weatherproofing and beauty, far outlasting ordinary paint.

Over 1,000,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 10,000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veterans' Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss or odor — at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles
Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot From a Gun
KENITEX is guaranteed for 15 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually, "Shot from a Gun" KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Free Estimates
Local applications of this remarkable coating are made by the Golden Gate Bldr's Inc, licensed and approved applicators. Cost is surprisingly low — convenient terms can be arranged. Home owners can obtain free estimates without obligations, by calling 776-4453 or mail coupon herewith:

'DISASTER' TESTS HOSPITAL

MUSIC REVIEW

Sounds Of Future Explored In Concert

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

"A new world of space and time" is what the Different Fur Electronic Music Group of San Francisco professes to have created. And indeed, it has, as evidenced last night in a concert sponsored by the Associated Students of the College of Marin in the college's Fine Arts Theater.

Some musicians predict that electronic music is the sound of the future. It may or may not become the main stream, but two things are certain — it already has contributed to today's music and will unquestionably influence the music of tomorrow—like it or not.

Last night's concert consisted of 50 minutes of nonstop music composed by Patrick Gleeson and John Vieira, specialists in the handling of moog synthesizers. These are panels of switches, open circuits and dials that can not only be made to imitate traditional instruments but produce new sounds. The performer looks very much like a telephone operator plugging lines in and out of a switchboard.

The concert featured 16-track, prerecorded tapes accompanied by live performance on guitars, grand piano, organ, flute, baritone sax, drums and cymbals.

Because the music was composed most of the time of great waves and surges of sound in a melange, it was impossible to tell when the performance was live and when it was taped. Sometimes the sound of separate instruments came through very clearly, especially in those parts featuring the piano, organ and percussion.

Unique in my experience was a rhythmic device used as background throughout almost the entire concert. It gave off the sound of a harshly twanging guitar, giving off a steady pulse of about two beats per second. This, a hard rock beat in one sequence worked up to a feverish pitch.

Added to the atmosphere created by the strange sounds was a light show that did not flicker but consisted only of a screen behind the musicians suffused with colors —mostly a reddish purple — and the musicians themselves spotlighted.

It all added up to tremendous excitement. Yet it set off no fireworks among the large audience, mostly college students. There was only the usual applause.

The other musicians performing with Gleeson and Vieira were Bob Swanson, Micki Durio, Berret Bassick, Hal Wagonette and David Litwin.

Two Black Muslims Are Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gunmen killed two Black Muslims late Sunday on a narrow street in the Fillmore District and homicide detectives today were attempting to establish a motive for the crime.

The victims were tentatively identified as Freddie Lee Webb, 31, of Chicago, Ill., and Charles Phillip Willis, 27, of Richmond in Contra Costa County. Rectangular orange cards with a crescent moon in the middle identifying them as members of the Nation of Islam were found in their papers.

Neither victim was armed, police said. Both had been shot in the head with a .45-caliber pistol. One of the men had been shot at least five times, officers said.

The deaths were similar to the execution-like slayings of Black Muslim Ronnie Flenaugh, 24, who was shot last week in an Oakland housing project, police said. Flenaugh was wearing his Black Muslim robe and turban when he died. An 8-year-old girl in the house, Kimberly Mapp, was also killed.

Witnesses told police that moments after they heard shots in the Sunday night slayings they saw a man and a woman fleeing west of the street.

The wallets of both victims were still on their persons and one contained $100 in cash, ruling out robbery as a motive, officers said.

Willis' body was found on the sidewalk and Webb lay between two parked cars on the other side of the street.

Cash Stolen

Cash totaling $441 was stolen in a burglary yesterday at the Velvet Plume restaurant, 226 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, according to police. Officers said it was not known how the burglars entered.

Matriarch Of Family Turns 103

Martha Ann Adams has come a long way from her birthplace on a sharecropper's farm in Mississippi.

Mrs. Adams, a Marin City resident for 26 years, celebrated her 103rd birthday yesterday with a dinner party in her apartment at 69 Cole Drive, Apt. 8, where she lives with a granddaughter, Flora Sample.

She was born in post-Civil War Mississippi in 1968, the daughter of an ex-slave turned sharecropper.

The family home, a log house with a dirt floor, still stands on the edge of a cotton field near the little town of Aberdeen, she said.

Her husband, who died at age 93 in the 1950s, was a railroad fireman and field worker.

Mrs. Adams has one daughter, seven grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

She came to Marin City in 1945 with a granddaughter whose husband was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, and has remained since.

As in past years, Mrs. Adam's birthday cake was donated by Kientz's Pastry Shop, San Anselmo.

20 Are Still Believed Buried Under Viaduct

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—A force of more than 500 men was mobilized today to help recover the bodies of at least 20 persons believed still buried beneath tons of concrete from a collapsed viaduct.

Officials said 19 persons were killed Saturday when the Paulo Frontim viaduct collapsed on motorists and pedestrians hurrying home for lunch.

Police said 23 persons were rescued soon after the accident but about 20 still are missing.

Three sections of the viaduct, which was still under construction, collapsed, dumping an estimated 1,400 tons of concrete onto homeward-bound residents.

Officials said it may take as long as two weeks to fully clear the area.

The cause of the accident was not immediately determined.

The port of Reykjavik, Iceland, is ice-free throughout the year.

Yorty Critical Of President's Economic Policy

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles has criticized the Nixon administration's economic policies in his first visit to the state as an announced candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Yorty, in a one-day swing through the site of the nation's first presidential primary March 7, told newsmen Phase II of the President's fiscal stabilization program was no more than a "holding operation until the 1972 elections."

"There has been no real effort to explain any long term plan and many are wondering if the economy will ever really be healthy again after so much political interference," Yorty said Saturday.

THE STAR of the day for Thanksgiving is the traditional roasted turkey. Here it is stuffed with chestnut dressing and with cornbread-sausage stuffing, and the platter is garnished with parsley and spiced crabapples.

MODERN-DAY BIRDS

From The Pride Of Pilgrims To Today — Turkey Still Tops

Turkey was the pride of the Pilgrims back in 1621 at the first Thanksgiving. That part of Thanksgiving has never changed. Only the turkey itself has changed. The modern edition is more plump and tender, with a greater proportion of white meat.

Although the Pilgrims didn't know it, they were eating one of the most nutritious foods there is. Turkey has the highest quantity and quality of protein of any meat, and it's an excellent source of riboflavin, niacin and even iron. Yet turkey is low in fat and cholesterol.

TO THAW A TURKEY: Leave it in its original plastic bag and thawit:

(a) in the refrigerator on a tray for three or four days;

(b) in a heavy, brown paper sack at room temperature, allowing one hour per pound of turkey;

(c) covered with cold water (change water frequently) for 30 minutes per pound of turkey.

Refrigerate or cook turkey as soon as it is thawed.

HOW TO PREPARE A TURKEY:

Remove turkey from its plastic bag; remove neck and giblets from cavities, rinse turkey and wipe dry. (Cook neck and giblets for broth to flavor dressing or make giblet gravy.) Make dressing as described below. Stuff chestnut dressing loosely into neck cavity, then skewer neck skin to back. Stuff body cavity loosely with cornbread-sausage stuffing. Fasten down legs either by tying or tucking under skin band. Twist wings under turkey.

TO ROAST A TURKEY:

Place turkey, breast up, on rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush with butter, margarine or cooking oil if desired. If a meat thermometer is used, insert into thick part of thigh. (Bulb should not touch bone.) Roast at 325 degrees. Time chart below is your guide to length of roasting time.

A "tent" of foil placed loosely over turkey keeps it from browning too fast, and may be removed when necessary to baste turkey. Remove foil last half hour for final browning.

Turkey is done when roast-meat thermometer registers 180-185 degrees F., or when thick part of drumstick feels soft when pressed with thumb and forefinger, or when drumstick and thigh move easily.

6 - 8 lbs.	3-3½ hrs.
8 - 12 lbs.	3½-4½ hrs.
12 - 16 lbs.	4½-5½ hrs.
16 - 20 lbs.	5½-6½ hrs.
20 - 24 lbs.	6½-7 hrs.

CHESTNUT STUFFING

½ pound chestnuts (1 cup boiled)
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup minced onion
½ cup chopped celery
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 cups toasted bread cubes, lightly packed
⅔ cup hot water
1½ teaspoons dried sage

Wash chestnuts; make long slit on both sides of each shell. Bake at 500 degrees for 15 minutes. Shell and skin nuts, then boil in salted water to cover for 20 minutes. Drain and chop medium fine. In butter in skillet, saute onion and celery for about 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Combine with hot water, sage, salt, pepper and crumbs. Add chestnuts and toss lightly. Stuffs neck cavity of 12-pound ready-to-cook turkey. Fill body cavity with Cornbread-Sausage Stuffing.

CORNBREAD-SAUSAGE STUFFING

½ pound pork sausage
4 cups dry bread crumbs
4 cups crumbled cornbread
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground pepper
½ teaspoon rubbed sage (more if desired)
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery

Brown sausage in skillet until crumbly; reserve drippings. Combine bread crumbs, cornbread, salt, pepper and sage in large bowl. Add sausage to bread. Saute onion and celery in sausage drippings until tender. Toss into dressing. If necessary, add a little water for desired moistness. (Stuffs cavity of 12-pound turkey. Bake any remaining dressing in covered casserole for 1 hour, basting occasionally with turkey drippings if desired.)

Use Leftover Turkey For Making An Ideal Salad

Leftover cooked turkey makes delicious sandwiches, but it also makes an excellent salad.

GRAPEFRUIT AND TURKEY SALAD
(6 servings)

3 medium to large grapefruit peeled, sectioned, drained
½ cup diced green pepper or celery
¼ cup diced canned pimiento
2 cups diced cooked turkey
⅔ cup mayonaaise
2 tablespoons chopped green onions
1 to 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
Salad greens
12 ripe olives
Paprika

Reserve 12 grapefruit sections for garnish; cut remaining sections in half. In large bowl combine cut grapefruit sections, green pepper, pimiento and turkey. Blend mayonnaise, green onions and prepared mustard. Lightly stir mayonnaise mixture through salad ingredients. Chill.

Serve on salad greens. Garnish with grapefruit sections, olives and paprika. Chicken or tuna may be substituted for the turkey.

Best Temperature

Ingredients for baking cakes, cookies and bread should be at room temperature for best results. Remove butter and eggs from refrigerator first when getting ingredients ready for preparation.

Make Special Pork Chops

Make pork chops extra special with this fresh winter pear stuffing.

Combine 1 cup diced pears, 1/4 cup rains, 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons sugar and 1 tablespoon minced onion. Saute in 1 tablespoons butter. Add 3 tablespoons hot water and blend.

Cut pockets in 1-inch thick pork chops, or have your meat man cut pockets. Fill with stuffing and bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Preparation Ease

For ease in preparation, shred cheese while cold but bring to room temperature before adding to a recipe.

Apple Muffins: Quick Recipe

For quick apple muffins try this recipe:

In a small mixing bowl cream together 1 stick butter, 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Split 6 English muffins, toast, then spread each muffin half with 1 tablespoon butter-sugar mixture. Mix remaining butter-sugar mixture with a one pound, four-ounce can of well-drained canned sliced pie apples and distribute apples over muffins.

Broil four minutes to heat apples and melt butter mixture. Serve immediately for a morning pick-up.

Here's A Quick, Nutritious Soup

Busy holidays sometimes find you unprepared at mealtime. To prepare a quick and highly nutritious soup for supper, cook six slices of cut-up bacon in a saucepan; pour off drippings. Add two cups milk then one pound can of pork and beans in tomato sauce. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally.

To complete the meal, toss a vegetable salad while quick muffins from a mix bake in the oven.

Taffy Pie: Luscious New Holiday Dessert

If you are doing the cooking at holiday time this year, take the opportunity to establish a tradition of your own with a luscious new dessert recipe from the kitchens of Brer Rabbit Molasses. Taffy pie is prepared with a mingling of molasses, caramel and peppermint to create a flavor reminiscent of old-fashioned taffy — yet it's as modern as today in filling the need for a light ending to a meal. The taffy has been transformed into a feathery chiffon mixture with the same familiar flavor.

Peppermint lovers will welcome the refreshing mint taste in the pie. Those who prefer the flavor of vanilla can substitute vanilla extract for the peppermint. Either way you'll be serving a superb and memorable dessert.

TAFFY PIE

½ cup milk
½ cup light or dark molasses
1 package (14 ounces) caramels
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup milk
2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream, whipped
2 teaspoons peppermint extract (or 2 teaspoons vanilla extract)
1 baked 10 inch pie shell with a high fluted edge
⅓ cup coarsely crushed peanut brittle

Combine milk, molasses and caramels and heat while stirring until caramels are melted. Soak gelatin in one-half cup cold water and stir into caramel mixture until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in one-half cup milk. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream and peppermint extract. Pour into baked pie shell. Swirl spoon round and round on top of mixture to create attractive design. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, decorate outer edge of pie with peanut brittle.

THE HOMESPUN flavors of molasses, peppermint and caramel are blended to prepare this elegant taffy pie. Feather-light, the dessert tastes like good old-fashioned taffy candy.

Try Sweet Potatoes

"SOMETHING DIFFERENT" YAM CASSEROLE
(6 to 8 servings)

1 can (2½ pound) sweet potatoes
2 large grapefruit
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground allspice

Drain sweet potatoes. Place in mixing bowl and beat until smooth. Grate peel of one grapefruit to yield two teaspoons. Peel and section fruit over bowl reserving two tablespoons of juice. Add peel, juice, two tablespoons brown sugar, melted butter, egg, salt and allspice to sweet potatoes. Beat until thoroughly blended. Place in shallow baking dish. Top with rows of grapefruit sections. Sprinkle remaining sugar over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Keep out of the reach of children.

We hoped it wouldn't come to this.

We thought maybe—just maybe—the kids would be happy with their bubblegum and chocolate bars and leave the Adult Nut to the adults.

We should have known better.

Kids, too, have learned that Sun Giant Almonds are crispy, dry-roasted kernels of superyummy proportions that are too good to be passed-up, even out of respect for one's elders.

Consequently, many an Adult Nut has found its way into many a teeny tummy.

But, have no fear. Sun Giant has the solution.

Next time, pick up two cans or jars of the Adult Nut. Leave one where the kids are sure to find it, and hide the other for after they've gone to bed.

After all, one can sacrifice just so much for one's children.

Sun Giant Almonds. The Adult Nut.

Almond Carrot Cake Is A Top 'Carrier'

Almond carrot cake is a good "carrier," whether its destination is school, pot-luck supper or picnic site.

In addition to slivered almonds and grated carrots, this dark spice cake contains flaked coconut and canned crushed pineapple. It's moist and rather chewy; and it's as noteworthy from a nutritional standpoint as for the sheer eating pleasure it provides.

A buttermilk glaze goes over (and seeps into) the cake to help make it an outstanding addition to your recipe file.

ALMOND CARROT CAKE

1 cup slivered almonds
1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple, well drained
2 cups grated carrots
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup whole wheat flour
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
½ cup salad oil
¾ cup buttermilk
2 teaspoons vanilla
Buttermilk Glaze (recipe below)

Combine almonds, pineapple, carrots and coconut. In plastic bag or on piece of waxed paper, mix flours, sugar, soda, spices and salt. Beat eggs with oil, buttermilk and vanilla in large mixing bowl. Add flour mixture all at once and stir just until combined. Add almond mixture and mix just until combined. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out dry. While it bakes prepare Buttermilk Glaze. Prick hot baked cake with fork at about half-inch intervals. Slowly pour Buttermilk Glaze over cake.

Buttermilk Glaze: Combine in saucepan two-third cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon baking soda, one-third cup buttermilk, one-third cup margarine or butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla; bring to boil and gently boil five minutes.

Makes 16 servings.

Girls On Tour Of Hamilton

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Exciting, confusing and terrific were the impressions expressed by some of the 47 students from Terra Linda High School who toured Hamilton Air Force Base Friday.

The unusual program was made possible through the cooperation of Jean Atnip, equal opportunity officer, central civilian personnel office at Hamilton, and Mrs. Virginia Cochran, chairman of the business education department at Terra Linda High School.

The program was started last year at the suggestion of Mrs. Atnip as a program to help students get involved in the community and particularly to develop the maximum utilization of skills of women in government.

Every students was assigned to a secretary or "Girl Friday" at Hamilton for the day.

Probably the youngest Girl Friday was a former student at Terra Linda Hgh School, Ann Pittee. Now a civilian employee, she is a former student of Mrs. Cochran. The 19-year-old employee said the benefits are many as a government worker. It is estimated that they receive 25 per cent additional benefits annually in vacation, sick leave and health plan coverage, she said.

She added that there is no shortage of young men for dates at Hamilton, either.

The high school girls arrived at Hamilton early Friday and had a rap session with their Girl Fridays at 8:30 a.m. and then toured the base. After luncheon at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club they spent another hour with their Girl Fridays on the job learning what the civilian employees do.

Jean Atnip at Hamilton planned the day for the 47 business education students at Terra Linda High School, which included a tour of the base.

Woman's Place Is In The Lab

A woman's place is in the engineering laboratory, according to one who knows.

Julie Auerbach, the second woman engineer hired by Chrysler Corp. when she joined the company in 1963, made the point at a symposium on career opportunities for 400 women students at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., on Saturday.

"The hardest thing is getting started — proving yourself," Miss Auerbach observed. "There will always be someone to challenge your designs just to see if you know what you are talking about. So get out the computer tapes to prove your point. That phase will last about a year. But once you have shown you can do the job, you will be treated fairly."

A nine-year veteran of automotive engineering, whose experience includes supervision of full-scale vehicle impact testing and development of the turbine car heater and advance body interior trim, Miss Auerbach discussed the three questions she is most often asked by women students: what about discrimination, choosing a job and choosing an employer?

"Try to pick a career corresponding with your hobby. The worst thing you can do is take a job just for the pay, spending 40 hours of working time on something you don't like. Do something that pays less but is more fun, if that's the choice," Miss Auerbach advised.

"Go with a large corporation rather than a small firm or consulting agency," she added. In a large company certain jobs are structured to be done by certain people, she explained, so a woman will not be shunted aside. Government observation of large companies helps insure against discrimination. There is usually better pay, and there is exposure to bigger and more varied jobs, because big corporations can devote more money to projects and equipment, she said.

"Big companies don't expect to keep you forever. With them you can gain the experience to go into consulting work later," Miss Auerbach remarked.

As for salary discrimination, she said, "It's illegal, so you wouldn't have to worry about it at a large corporation which is subject to government observation.

SAN FRANCISCO APPEARANCE

Julia Child — Cordon Bleu To Syndicated Television

By JOAN LISETOR

Julia Child mastered the art of French cooking as a bride in Paris, where her husband, Paul, was assigned with the U.S. State Department.

After attending the famous French cooking school, the Cordon Bleu, she started her own cooking school in 1962. In less than 10 years she has parlayed the minor interest in cooking into a major television series, "The French Chef"; co-authored two volumes of the near million-selling books, "Mastering the Art of French Cooking" and caused a revolution in American culinary taste and artistry.

Mrs. Child held a press conference Friday afternoon at the Emporium in San Francisco, and then gave a cooking demonstration in the department store's housewares department, where she later autographed copies of her books.

THE RENOWNED gourmet cook, in her down-home style, sipped cola while others drank coffee at the press conference.

She recalled early television shows, where her husband did the cleaning up. The show still originates from Boston, where the Childs live, but is syndicated to 209 Public Broadcasting System stations.

Beginning its seventh season, Mrs. Child says she plans new slants on the show, and she is quite excited about a forthcoming segment on tripe.

"We are so wasteful in this country, don't you think, and those who need to know the most about cooking inexpensively seem to know the least," she says.

She believes the show should teach and is concerned with such areas as when fresh fruits and vegetables are in season and identifying cuts of meats. "I OFTEN get lost in a shoulder," she comments.

The trend toward natural foods, she says, is useful because it has made people more aware of insecticides and the contents of processed foods.

"We have become oriented toward fresh foods instead of relying on substitutes of packaged foods," she says.

The fresh food trend, she says, is exciting, but organic foods may be just a fad, which she stays away from on her show for fear the fad may pass before the program is on the air. It might be like the cholesterol controversy, she suggests, where the point of view changes every few months.

Gourmet cooking, she says, is a dying art in France. "The men don't cook, and until recently even moderate income families had maids, so the householders don't know how to cook. Now the maids are coming from Belgium and Spain, and they don't know how to cook, and so supermarkets have plunged ahead."

"Think of the United States 20 years ago," says Mr. Child, "and that is what France is like today."

THE INTRODUCTION of freezers into French homes has also made a difference in the style of shopping and eating.

"When Americans think of French produce they get a romantic feeling," Mrs. Child says. "The fresh produce near our home in the south of France is poor because of a lack of refrigeration. The sun beats through the awning of the store, and at the end of the day they just cover it with a burlap and the lettuce wilts. You have to be there when the produce arrives to get anything good."

The Childs spend as much time as they can at their home in France, and, says Mr. Chld, to spend six months in France and six months in the United States would be ideal.

When she is filming shows, usually August through November, she does two a day, working from 8 a.m. until midnight. Much of her time goes into the planning so the shows won't be like the pilot, which Mrs. Child describes this way: "There was this woman, tossing French omelettes, splashing eggs about the place, brandishing big knives, panting heavily as she careened around the stove."

Then there is time spent preparing and perfecting recipes. The favorite recipe of both Paul and Julia Child is her French bread recipe.

"IT TOOK 284 pounds of flour and two years to perfect it," says Paul Child, "but we have come up with the first authentic, successful recipe ever devised for making real French bread."

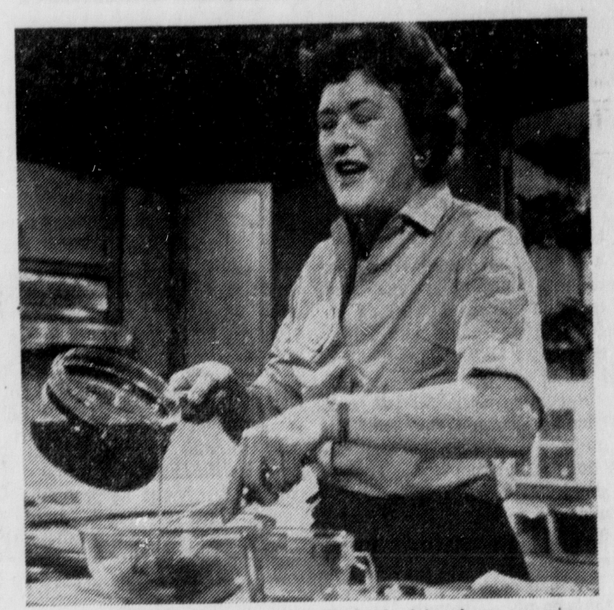
The bread has the same chewy texture of sourdough, but not the flavor of the bread from the San Francisco Bay Area, she says.

"There is something special about the bread they put on the table when we ate at Jack's and Bardellis" she says.



JULIA CHILD, the French chef of television fame, was in San Francisco Friday to demonstrate cooking techniques and autograph copies of her new book, "Master the Art of French Cooking, Volume II," which she authored with Simone Beck.

The Turkey Is Outgrowing The Family

The California turkey has been outgrowing the American family and the family oven. It's growing right into another section of the market's meat counter.

Today's big bird, which can grow to 50 pounds in eight months, is now being marketed in sections, says J. Price Schroeder, turkey farm advisor for University of California agricultural extension.

Breast meat, huge white chunks almost a foot wide, have been selling at a premium price and drumsticks have always had a good sale by themselves. The new product is ground turkey thigh, turkeyburger, said Schroeder.

The heavy- dark-meat thighs, he said, are easily boned and are going over well in test markets as ground meat.

"It's selling for less than hamburger," said Schroeder. "It doesn't shrink as much, it has no added fat, and it can be used in any way ground meat is used.

"Five test markets in the Bay Area couldn't keep the turkeyburger on their shelves."

News for turkey growers this year has been little turkeys, Schroeder said. California produced 800,000 more turkeys this year than it did in 1970, and 600,000 of them were small whites —turkeys grown for 13 weeks and weighing four to six pounds.

Study Focus On Legal Abortions

ATLANTA (UPI)—In New York State, one child was legally aborted for every two delivered alive last year, a U.S. government study shows.

The National Center for Disease Control (NCDC) reported Friday there were 180,000 legal abortions in 19 states and the District of Columbia during 1970.

The largest number in any state was 87,530 in New York, which began giving abortions to non-resident women July 1, 1970.

The figure represents a ratio of 534 abortions to every 1,000 live births. More than 36,000 abortions in New York were, performed on women from out of state.

THE SECOND HIGHEST number of reported abortions — for the full 12 months of 1970 — was California, which had 62,672 abortions and 364,007 live births. The ratio is 172 abortions to every 1,000 live births.

Most of those abortions reported by age were performed on women 15 to 24 and of those reported by marital status two-thirds were single. Four of six states which reported legal abortions by race had higher abortion ratios for white than for black women.

THE BREAKDON of states went as follows: Alaska, with its current abortion law five months old, 408; Colorado 2,263 in 12 months; Delaware 560 in 12 months; District of Columbia 4,579 in eight months; Georgia 705 in 12 months; Hawaii 2,741 in 9½ months; Maryland 3,210 in six months, North Carolina 1,293 in 12 months; Oregon 7,196 in 12 months; South Carolina 392 in 11 months; Virginia 635 in seven months and Washington 527 in one month.

Coupon Goal Is Reached

It's a goal of 800,000 Betty Crocker coupons that has been reached, and the Marin County Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Northern California will redeem the coupons for its second kidney dialysis machine.

The machine will be handled by the Kidney Foundation of Northern California's office in Oakland and will be loaned free to any kidney patient who needs it, the Marin chapter announced.

The first machine for Marin County use redeemed by General Mills, Inc., with the coupons has been designated for a local hospital, to be installed at a future date, the chapter said. Mrs. Charles Brady of Marinwood collected coupons for it.

The Marin Chapter said that anyone wishing to donate more coupons toward a kidney dialysis machine for another Northern California location may mail the coupons directly to the Northern California Kidney Foundation, 320 Hegenberger Road, Oakland, 94621. Deadline is the end of this month, as coupons must be received by General Mills by Dec. 31, the Marin Chapter added.

THE GENERATION RAP

Save The $10 And Forget The Witchcraft For Gaining Revenge

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I'm not putting you on. Please print this as I have to know what I should do.

About five months ago my boy friend just left me — no warning, no fight. We were talking about marriage, and then he never showed again. Soon he was going with a real dog whom he'd always disliked before.

Recently I was talking to a friend and what she said left me cold as ice. She told me this "dog" confessed to her that she'd gone to a "wicca" (witch) and had a spell cast on my boy friend. That's why he "fell" for her.

Well, I decided two could play that game — though I never believed in spells before. So I went to a witch this friend recommended, and sure enough she told me I could get my guy back for $10.

My question is, how would I be sure that the spell would stay broken? I might have to keep on paying out money every time the "dog" got her witchcraft working. — DOUBTFUL

P.S. I'm really not sure how much he's worth, as I've met another boy now.

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

Concentrate on the new boy and save your money. In spite of all the witch and warlock talk going down these days, magic spells work about as often as eating bread crusts produces curly hair . . . or burying a dead toad takes off warts. — SUE

DEAR D.:

The "hex" which the "dog" used on your boy friend was spelled with an "s." And that's not magic, though he probably thought so.

If you're "really not sure how much he's worth," you've outgrown him. I'd suggest you outgrow witches too! — HELEN

DEAR "RAP":

I was walking by this public telephone at a shopping center, when it started ringing. Who can ignore a phone ring? So I asnwered it. Turns out this fella had a "wrong number," but a real nice voice, so we got talking and he asked me to "meet" his voice there again the next day, when he's call the same public phone at exactly 4 p.m.

just calling the number to see who'd answer.

It's been a week now, and I've talked to him this way three times. He's told me a lot about himself, and we seem to like the same things, but I'm afraid to give him my name or real phone number. Yet I'm fascinated. He sounds wonderful and wants to meet me, but how can I be sure? Would you take the chance, Sue, if you were me? — TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED:

Why not? Public telephone roulette is a fun game and sometimes you even get a winner! To be on the safe side, have him meet you at a public place, with a friend, so you wouldn't really be stuck with him if he was a durf. — SUE

DEAR TEMPTED:

. . . And remember reality may not measure up to mystery. — HELEN

DAR HELEN AND SUE:

I had my baby in September. The father broke up with me when he knew I was pregnant, but now he wants to take up where he left off. My folks won't let me see him. Dad says he's no good and would never even buy the baby a can of milk.

They're taking care of me and my son until I finish school. My boy friend is a dropout, with no job. I feel sorry for him, 'cause he's always been a loser. Now he can't even be a father. Doesn't my Dad realize he needs me? — N.A.

DEAR N.:

Your Dad remembers what you seem to forget: this boy copped out when you needed him! He doesn't deserve your pity — or your love. — HELEN

DEAR N.A.:

You feel sorry for him because he's a loser. Do you really think your love would make him a winner? Don't strike out twice! — SUE

MRS. JOHN S. KOMO III
Married in Los Altos

John Komo, Nan Farasyn Are Wed

Nan Pauline Farasyn and John S. Komo III were married Saturday in a candlelight ceremony in the Monastic Chapel of Maryknoll in Los Altos.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Farasyn, in Los Altos. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Komo Jr. of San Anselmo.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Bernd Schmidt of Santa Clara, and the bridegroom's sister, Theresa Komo of Mill Valley, was the bridesmaid.

R. Stephen Farasyn of Los Altos, the bride's brother, was best man, and another brother of the bride, Eric Farasyn of Los Altos, and John T. O'Brien of Santa Clara ushered guests to their seats.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel the couple will live in San Anselmo.

Nan was graudated from Convent of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park and Dominican College.

John was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attends the University of Santa Clara. He is also a teacher at Marin Catholic.

John Komo of San Jose is his local grandfather.

The White Collar

The look of the white collar girl immortalized in Christopher Morley's "Kitty Foyle," is all over the place in spring collections. White collars and white cuffs are in for day and some designers carry the look over into evening. Most of the collars lie flat.

Festival of Trees

The traditional Festival of Christmas Trees will be held as a benefit for the Children's Hospital Medical Center of Northern California at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley Dec. 2 to 8. It will feature 200 one-of-a-kind trees and decorations. Proceeds raised by its auxiliaries will go to the hospital in Oakland.

SMART SHOPPER

Attention Finally Focuses On Real Estate Closing Costs

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — One of the most painful aspects to buying a house is the list of "closing costs" that must be paid before title can be passed.

In recent years, the assorted fees and charges that show up at the "passing of papers" have multiplied both in number and amount.

In some cases, prospective purchasers find they are unable to go through with the deal because they either did not figure on the closing costs or did not realize how much they would be.

AMONG THE more common closing costs are charges for title search, title insurance, tax adjustments, transfer taxes, legal fees and other assorted fees and charges.

Preliminary results from a survey of 12 cities by the Veterans Administration and Department of Housing and Urban Development show that these charges range from $172 to $809 even for low-price ($12-20,000) homes. The averages for $20-28,000 homes range from $247 to $1,021.

Yet, according to Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) whose staff has made a study of title fees, some of these charges may not even be necessary.

"Custom, rather than reason," he says, "underlies many of the title costs the home buyer must bear. Everyone seems to benefit from these 'customary' charges except the home buyer. Lawyers get forwarding fees, real estate agents get commissions, lenders get compensating balances and the home buyers get taken."

THE SENATOR'S staff has focused mainly on title insurance, which offers protection against an undiscovered lien on the real estate. In 16 years, the title insurance industry has tripled its gross annual income to $300 million last year, a poor year for housing sales, according to Proxmire.

He says the increase in fees does not necessarily mean any improvement in conusmer protection. He says buyers are often required to purchase title insurance even when there is "absolutely no risk of loss to the lender."

His staff's study shows that in a recent two-year period, title insurance companies paid out only 2.5 per cent of their gross income in losses. Over 60 per cent of what was left went for personnel expenses and commissions, with net profits averaging 10 per cent.

Among the reasons for the rapid growth of the the title insurance business, says Proxmire, are:

— Extensive inter-relationships between directors of title insurance firms, lending institutions, realty firms, lawyers and other title companies.

— Lack of incentive for efficiency. Many title insurance firms keep costly duplicate land records.

— Reliance by insurance companies on agents to send them business, causing "great pressure to raise the agent's commission" in return.

PROXMIRE HAS introduced legislation which would require lenders to absorb title costs and prohibit sellers from charging home buyers more than lenders.

Meanhwile, VA-HUD investigators have issued a call for help. They have formally requested that any person interested in helping develop federal standards for closing costs send comments and documentation in triplicate by tomorrow's deadline to FHA Programs Division, Room 6134, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, D.C., 20410.

How To Correct Those Fattening Errors In Diet

Have you been dieting harder than ever lately — and losing less weight — or none at all? If that's your situation, you're not alone, says a nutrition authority who has made a study of obesity.

In the November issue of Family Health magazine, noted nutritionist Dr. Jean Mayer writes that many supposedly fastidious diets go awry simply because dieters are acting on several basic misunderstandings.

Dr. Mayer, who is professor of nutrition at Harvard University, lists several common errors in dieting, and tells how to correct them:

1. Beware of "nonfattening" foods. Too many people believe that if you avoid "forbidden" foods, you can eat as much as you want of the "nonfattening" foods and still lose weight. Not true, says Dr. Mayer.

2. Be prudent about portion size. For example, there is a 200 calorie difference between a three-ounce hamburger and a five-ounce hamburger.

3. Count every calorie Every calorie. Don't forget the "little" snacks. There are more than 800 calories in only two fistfuls of peanuts.

4. Cook lean — it makes a big difference. The so-called fattening potato contains only about 100 calories when baked or boiled. One tablespoon of butter doubles the calories.

5. Beware of "wet" calories. Calories in drinks are easily overlooked. There are 320 calories in two small martinis or manhattans.

6. Stop leaning on protein. Protein contains about 120 calories per ounce, the same as carbohydrates. Contrary to popular belief, no food is "pure" protein.

7. Cut down the easy way — on sugar. No difference exists between the "quick energy" of sugar and the presumably harder-to-use-up calories of ordinary carbohydrates, fat and protein.

8. Clear up the cholesterol confusion. Food that may be low in cholesterol is not necessarily low in calories. Margarine and butter, for example, have about the same amount of calories.

9. Don't worry about water or salt. Cutting down on salt by itself won't reduce your weight, and water has no calories.

10. Balance both sides of your calories expense account. Dieting depends not only on how much weight you take in, but how much you take out.

Chinese Look Is Strong One

The Chinese influence is so strong in the new season's clothes that about the only characteristic not yet seen is the coolie's queue on the models.

Instad, the professionals showing the fashions to buyers and press have gone back to the Hollywood movie glamour girl types of the 1930s and '40s for coiffure inspiration.

This means long bobs, hair flowing freely over the shoulders, softly curled at the ends.

A GINGHAM TREE

Mill Valley Church Is Scene Of Wedding

Kathleen Parodi of Belvedere became the bride of John Noble of San Francisco Saturday afternoon in a ceremony at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley. A reception followed at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Carol Arrighi of Burlingame was matron of honor, and David Brewer of Tiburon was best man. Guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, John Parodi of Belvedere and Stephen Richard Parodi of Arcata.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe the couple will live in San Rafael.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Stephen L. Parodi of Belvedere. She is a third grade teacher at Larkspur-Corte Madera School. Mrs. Mary Parodi of Daly City is her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Noble of San Francisco are the bridegroom's parents, and Mrs. Patrick Greene and Dorothy G. Noble, both of San Francisco, are his sisters. He is a graduate of Abraham Lincoln High School in San Francisco and attends the University of California. John is employed by Earth Satellite Corporation in Berkeley.

The bride was graduated from Redwood High School and U.C. at Davis.

Closer To Body

Spring clothes move closer to the body in many ways- with belts, either of self-fabric or separate from the dress, and with new-looking princess shapes, bias cuts that hug the wasitline and end in a wide, flaring skirt.

Their Common Goal: Working To Establish Equal Right For All

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Approximately 40 doctors, lawyers, educators and other professionals met in Los Angeles Nov. 13 to consider a common goal.

It was the first annual meeting of the California State Chapter of the Women's Equity Action League (WEAL), a group which hopes to appeal to women — and men — who want to work for equal rights.

"Our most important decisions," said chapter president Doris Seward, "is the way in which we work — with facts, education of people, legislation, litigation... without wrath or vengeance."

Speaker Ruth Church Gupta, a San Francisco attorney and national advisory board member of WEAL, outlined the objections most people have to the Equal Rights Amendment, now in the Judiciary Committee of the U.S. Senate. "Labor opposes it because they claim it would nullify protection labor laws, which are already down the drain because of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

"Drafting women is the other big argument, but I don't think anyone should be drafted." The amendment is expected to come before the senate in February.

Marion Ash, editor-publisher of Skirting the Capitol, backed the non-militatn approach. "Kindness is the best way to turn people on," she said.

"We must counteract the tendency of the new media to pit working women against housewives," she commented, explaining that the choices available to women are what is important. She noted that the equation of femininity with dependency must be discarded. "Look what it does to our welfare rolls," she added.

Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, attended the meeting briefly, as did Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, and Assemblywoman Yvonne Brathwaite, D-Los Angeles.

ASSEMBLYMAN WARREN called women's rights "the greatest movement that this country will experience — hopefully the majority of us will respond."

The three assembly members are among several legislators who have shown their concern by introducing and supporting legislation affecting women's rights.

In their first official act, the California WEAL members passed resolutions supporting the Equal Rights Amendment and amendment of House Resolution 1746 to its original form.

HR 1746, as introduced by California Rep. Augustus Hawkins, would give the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) enforcement authority and extend its coverage. However a similar — but unsatisfactory — version was introduced by Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Illinois, HR. 6760.

IN SEPARATE resolutions the group urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to sign AB 732, which would prevent public institutions of higher education from refusing admission to graduate programs on the basis of sex, and AB 734, which would authorize establishment of child care centers on college campuses.

Pre-School Vaccinations By Fall '72

Pre-school vaccination of children against "DPT" — diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be required in California by fall 1972, the State Department of Public Health reminds parents.

Immunization against these childhood diseases was authorized by the legislature this year, and is in addition to current requirements for vaccination against measles and polio as a condition for first school entry.

Dr. James Chin, chief of the state communicable disease control program, advised parents to check family health records to determine if a child already has been immunized for DPT. He said administrative regulations are being drafted to implement the bill that will become law early next year.

The DPT immunization law was enacted because in recent years vaccinations have slackened among children in California. Most local health departments will provide DPT immunization without charge in cases where families are unable to afford private care.

Although no major outbreaks of these diseases have occurred here in recent years, Dr. Chin said several other states have reported outbreaks of diphtheria in population groups where immunization levels are low.

FABRIC SECRETS

JOAN CROSSLEY

What are the preliminaries you should follow when cutting out a new dress? First of all, test your fabric for its reaction to heat and moisture. How you will need to care for it will determine what it is used for. Use a steam iron to straighten the ends of the fabric if this is necessary. Next, compare your body measurements with those on the pattern envelope. Make all alterations necessary before you cut. Choose the style you wish to make. Pin the pattern to the fabric parallel to the grain. Be sure to use cutting lines. The better your garment is made, the easier it will be to wear and care for.

These and many other useful hints are cheerfully given by the knowledgeable personnel at FABRIC LAND, 936 4th St. There is still time for you to redecorate your home for the Holidays — see the beautiful drapery and upholstery materials at Fabric Land. We have a wide selection to fit every decor. Open: Mon-Tues-Thurs-Sat 9:30 AM - 5:30 PM, Wed-Fri 9:30 AM - 9 PM, Sun Noon - 5 PM.

HELPFUL HINT:

Bill Cosby Proves Real Winner In Marin Debut

By GEORGE NEVIN

Perhaps it was the hall or perhaps it was the man, but Saturday's appearance of Bill Cosby at the Marin Veteran's Memorial Building was more like a friendly get-together among friends than a comic performance.

The plush, 2,088-seat auditorium was almost full —perhaps 1,800 attended each of the two performances — but Cosby managed an intimacy which transcended the auditorium's size.

In the words of one of his album titles, Bill Cosby is a very funny fellow, and more than that he's real, the genuine article, a down-to-earth sort.

He was very much at ease with his audience, but at the same time alert to what it responded to, what it liked. Much of his humor, of course, was in the delivery rather than the jokes themselves.

When Cosby says he spent the first two years of his marriage trying to keep his wife from finding out he was a human being — jumping out of bed in the middle of the night, for instance, to brush his teeth so he wouldn't have bad breath — it's evident his fans have been the same route and can empathize.

That's what makes a successful performing artist, after all — the ability to empathize with a lot of people, to make the oft-lived experience universal — and Cosby has a triple helping of that ability.

Much of Saturday's performance dealt with the funny side of marriage, and although the audience seemed mostly to consist of teens and young couples on dates, no one seemed to have any trouble relating to Cosby's stories.

That's because we were seeing his marriage through his eyes, which added an ironic little twist to everything.

He told of the "psychological games married couples play." When he's angry with his wife, he said, he puts on pajamas before he goes to bed: "That way she knows ain't nothing happening."

But then she turns the tables when "she comes out of the bathroom and she's got curlers with razor blades on 'em, and she's wearing a burlap sack nightgown with barbed wire around the vital parts."

When the curtain first opened, Cosby set the informal, intimate tone for the night by playing an instrumental number with the backup band of Bill Withers, his co-act.

It took a while for the audience to realize that the drummer on the stage playing the simple but competent solo was actually Cosby, so natural did he look.

Withers, too, was relaxed as he delivered a series of his own compositions, interspersed with homey patter about his Navy days and growing up in Slapfork, W. Va.

He plays and sings in an unassuming but effective blues style, and the fact that he writes all his material lifts him a cut above many bluesmen.

He sings of summer nights in Harlem, and losing his woman ("Next album," he promised us, "I'll get to keep all the women") and his Grandma's hands. His sincerity makes you believe in what he experiences, to see what he's seeing.

Cosby said he and Withers probably will return to Marin for more performances. If they're as good in the future as they were Saturday, they'll be welcome.

More than 10 million longhorn cattle were driven from Texas to northern markets in the decade following the Civil War.

Teen Held In Girls' Deaths; Autopsies Set

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) —Autopsies were planned today on two sisters, age 5 and 6, whose bodies were found in a garbage bin behind their apartment Saturday.

Police have arrested Pamela Suzzan Watkins, 19, on two counts of murder and one count of drug possession in connection with the deaths of Tinya and Shelvya Aldridge.

Miss Watkins, who arrived in the San Francisco Bay area from Southern California a few weeks ago, was hired by Mrs. Shirley Aldridge a live-in babysitter in return for room and board.

The bodies of the children were found by two college students Saturday lying beside each other dressed in pajamas and wrapped in bedsheets. Detectives said the sisters had apparently been strangled.

Planners Gather

The Novato Planning Commission will have an orientation session for neighborhood committees on revision of the Novato area general plan at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House.

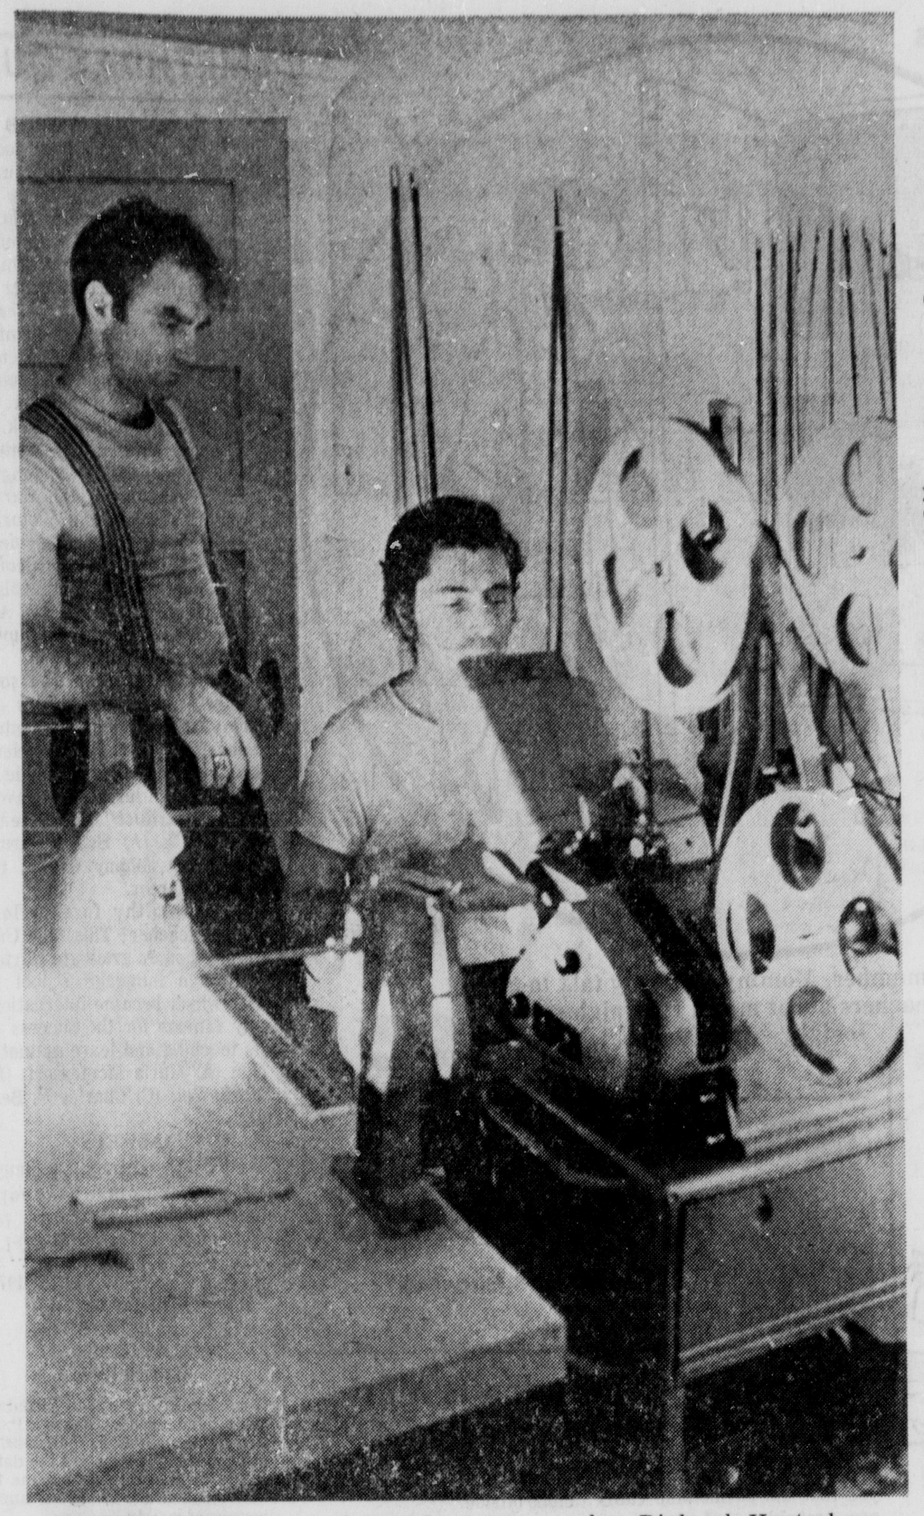
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION | SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1971 | 21



EDITING CHORE — Author and codirector Thomas A. Hanley (left) of Santa Venetia, works with partner Peter Tar-Sian in preparing "What About Jane: An Erotic Soap Opera" for its premiere next month. The two men, plus Richard Hoyt, have formed Cinmarin, a film company which they said may revolutionize political and social attitudes toward erotic films in the United States.

NOT A STAG-HOUSE TYPE

Former Deputy Turns To Erotic Film Making

By JEFF GREER

A self-labeled "reformed male chauvinist," who formerly was a Marin County sheriff's deputy and military intelligence agent, is completing an erotic film he claims will strike a blow in behalf of women's liberation.

"What About Jane: an Erotic Soap Opera" is the title of the full-length, color opus written, co-produced and co-directed by 30-year-old Thomas A. Hanley of Santa Venetia.

Hanley turned in his badge and gun to the Marin County Sheriff's department in June. He resigned after an impasse over department regulations permitting superior officers to inspect the notebook Hanley kept as a security officer in the Marin Civic Center.

He said at the time he planned to go into "some type of in-depth media work."

That in-depth field, Hanley revealed the other day, is "erotic — not pornographic" films. But, Hanley reported, "I don't want my film to open in Marin because I don't want the taxpayers of Marin to spend a million dollars and seven months in court to decide whether my film is pornographic or not."

Hanley and his partners, Richard Hoyt and Peter Tar-Sian, are negotiating with a San Francisco movie house — the Sutter — to premiere "What About Jane" next month.

Hanley said he wished for an even better location for the premiere. "I want a guy in Terra Linda to be able to take his wife to see my film without having to sneak through" the run-down neighborhoods where most of the Bay Area sex movies are shown.

Hanley said production is the first United States-made erotic film to rise above being a mere strung-together collection of stag movies. It was shot with a 280-page script; the actors were "thrilled" to show they had "real dramatic talent" rather than merely bodies, Hanley insisted.

Filming required 16 days in Berkeley, San Francisco and Mill Valley locations, rather than the one-day shooting time the Bay Area's sex films traditionally budget, he explained.

One of the four stars, Emily Smith, was featured in a full-page picture in Playboy magazine in October. The other female lead, a woman who goes by the screen name, "Martha Strawberry," is a veteran of San Francisco underground films, as is one of the male leads. The other male lead is an amateur actor,Hanley said.

The film's creator said the film "strikes a blow for women's liberation" because it attempts to solve the problems of an attractive, disciplined girl whose marriage to the handsome, athletic, hard-working youth of her dreams turns sour because of his romantic clumsiness and insecurity.

Through the friendship of another couple, Jane and her husband learn to be equals in sexual freedom, Hanley said.

"I'm putting my clean-cut, red-blooded American middle class image on the line" to be able to screen "What About Jane," Hanley said. "I believe in these films," he stressed between gritted teeth. "Erotic films need to be legitimized. We can't have blue-noses controlling our free access to such art forms. The people who enjoy erotic films have to stand up for their constitutional rights to do so."

Hanley decried use of police manpower to curb sex films, erotic literature, marijuana use and other "crimes without victims." "If all the police busy with these crimes without victims were oriented toward stopping crimes of violence, we would save a lot of money," he argued.

He said "about 25 per cent" of the younger men on most Bay Area police forces agree with him. "And so does my Army reserve unit at the Presidio. They all want to see me release the film."

And, "it's a woman's film, too. I want to get it into (a movie house) where women can see it while they're spending a day Christmas shopping in the city," Hanley said. "It's not in any sense of the word pornography."

Continental films such as "I Am Curious, Yellow" may have a plot, but are all "teasers" filled with "hypocrisy" in sexual matters, Hanley said. He claimed his film, in the genre of soap opera, was a pioneering move that "may not be an academy winner, but I hope it will encourage others."

"It only cost $12,500, and we know it's not going to be a great work of art." The producers hope it may lead to social and to some extent political reform, Hanley said.

The author said he originally wrote himself into a leading role.

"But by the shooting stage it became apparent I'd have so many worries on my mind about directing and producing the film, I'd never be able to concentrate on a sexually intense scene."

A scene when "I did play a nude beach boy" wound up on the cutting room floor, Hanley recalled.

He said his wife disagreed with his ideas of sexual freedom, "but we're very up-front about it."

As to the community reaction to his new "in-depth media" experiment, Hanley admitted "I don't know how it'll resolve itself. As our culture is changing so rapidly, in order for sexuality also to evolve, people have to communicate via the media."

"I'm a little concerned about repercussions against my 9-year-old daughter, and I'm not completely convinced I won't have crosses burned on my lawn," the ex-deputy said. "But I love this neighborhood and want to continue living here in peace.

"I hope Marin is a mature enough place," said the Tamalpais High School graduate Hanley, a Phi Beta Kappa, who holds a master's degree in social anthropology from the Uiversity of California at Berkeley.

He belittled the idea that erotic films and literature beget sex crimes. "Then why hasn't Sweden had any increase in sex crimes since it became so permissive?" he asked.

In America, he insisted, "the violence of pro football, the violence of television wrestling are really pornographic. But because they exist, people are able to obtain a release. If people understand themselves, they'll no longer feel threatened by erotic cinema."

Two Are Halted As Theft Suspects

A 20-year-old Mill Valley youth was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday, and his 17-year-old companion into Marin Juvenile Hall, after a Fairfax policeman said he caught them burglarizing an apartment building.

Christopher Kevin Greene of 906 Greenhill Road was held at Marin County Jail on suspicion of two counts of burglary and one of concealing stolen property. Bail was set at $11,000 and he was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Booked at juvenile hall was Andrew Norman Gjesdal of 268 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley.

Sgt. Paul E. Simpson said he responded to a report of a prowler at an apartment building at 2525 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 2:40 a.m. yesterday.

When he attempted to enter a storage area at the building, the door wouldn't open all the way, Simpson said, but he could see a man — later identified as Greene — lying on his back at the end of the storage room.

Thinking he might be walking into a trap, Simpson looked around the door, spotted Gjesdal with a knife in his hand, and seized the weapon.

Following their arrests, Simpson said, property was found in their car and at Greene's residence which allegedly had been taken in a burglary Nov. 7 of the same building.

One of several screwdrivers the two had in their possession, Simpson said, was later reported as having been among tools stolen late Saturday or early yesterday from a tool room at an apartment building at 2575 Sir Francis Drake, also Fairfax.

Bedroom Tax Up For Adoption

A bedroom tax on new construction in Tiburon, which breezed through the Tiburon City Council in first reading, will be up for adoption when the council meets at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

There was no opposition to the proposal at its introduction before the council, although similar taxes have been fought in San Rafael and Novato.

The council also will consider on second reading an ordinance declaring it no longer intends to condemn Strawberry Cove for a park.

Dope Suspect Pleads Innocent

David Griffith Taft, 24, of Larkspur, has pleaded innocent to a felony charge of marijuana possession.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 7.

Taft was stopped on Highway 101 on Nov. 7 in connection with a traffic accident in Larkspur. Police said they found marijuana in his possession.

Plans For Academy To Be Studied

New uses for the San Rafael Military Academy campus and a permit to rebuild the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael will highlight the agenda for tomorrow's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of city hall.

The Marin Academy wants to use two rooms of the military academy to house 22 students in private classes for youngsters 6 to 13, on weekdays.

Clairbourn Marin School has applied for a permit to use five classrooms in the military academy and adjoining former Jewish Community Center to house 42 pupils in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Ali Akbar College of Music wants to house 38 students in the academy dormitories, and conduct classes for up to 100 music students in Foster Hall.

The Ananda Marga Yoga Society also has requested a permit to use the former military academy office as an office and classroom for up to 15 students.

The Presbyterian Church seeks to retain its nonconforming use of land, zoned R-3, after demolishing the historic bluestone edifice and replacing it with a smaller, modern building.

Ferry Service Set For Winter Runs

Harbor Carriers will continue both its Tiburon to San Francisco commuter runs and its weekend and holiday sightseeing trips to Tiburon and Angel Island during the winter months, according to Lester Bedient, general manager.

The firm had discontinued scheduled tourist service to Tiburon and Angel Island in past winters, he explained. "However, there is enough interest on continuing service from Fisherman's Wharf to these points, and we will continue to do so until further notice," he added.

The weekend and holiday sightseeing service will include four triangular trips each day between San Francisco, Tiburon and Angel Island.

The Monday through Friday commuters' ferryboats will leave Tiburon at 6:50, 7:30 and 8:10 a.m. Marin-bound ferryboats will leave the San Francisco ferry terminal at 4 p.m., 5:15, 5:45 and 7:10 p.m.

Air Reserve Unit To Move

Hamilton Air Force Base is scheduled to gain a new complement of men early next year when an Air Force reserve unit is transferred to the base.

The 452nd Military Airlift Wing headquarters, now at March Air Force Base, will be relocated at Hamilton, according to Maj. Gen. Russell F. Gustke, region commander.

The swtich will provide 16 civilian job openings and 80 reserve openings at the base, according to Capt. Joseph W. Corfield, public information officer.

Civilian employees now at March Air Force Base will be eligible for reassignment but it isn't expected reservists will switch with the unit, Corfield said.

'Phone-In' Set In Reed District

A "phone-in" to allow parents and residents of the Reed School District to discuss issues and complaints with school officials will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said he will be available at the district office to answer questions called in by telephone. A trustee, an elementary and a middle school principal, who have not yet been named, will man other lines.

The purpose of the phone-in, Giovanniello said, "will be to open up a direct-line of communication between the district and parents or citizens whose personal daily responsibilities are such that they are unable to participate in the activities of their child's school or unable to attend board meetings."

The four telephone numbers for the program may be obtained by calling the district office either in advance or tomorrow night.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Blackwood Convention Is Most Familiar Method In Finding Aces

When the early bidding tells you that the partnership cards are probably good enough to produce a slam, you usually want to find out about aces and kings. If the opponents cannot take the first two tricks, you will take your chances on winning 12 tricks. The most familiar way of finding out about aces is the Blackwood Convention, as illustrated in today's hand.

1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♡	Pass
6 ♠	All Pass

SLAM ACTION

After North's jump to three spades, South wants to be in a slam if North has two or three aces; he wants to stay out of slam if North has only one ace. (If North is aceless, South will get to five spades and will probably go down. The life of a bridge player is not all wine and roses.)

To find out about North's aces, South jumps to four no-trump. This bid asks North to bid five clubs with no aces or with all four; five diamonds, with one ace; five hearts, with two aces; five spades, with three aces.

North obediently bids five hearts, showing two aces; and South thereupon jumps to six spades. North does not even dream of bidding again because this series of bids indicates very strongly that an ace is missing.

IMPORTANT SPOT

The bidding depends on aces, but the play depends on spot cards. Declarer takes the first trick with the ace of diamonds, draws three rounds of trumps and leads a heart. West captures the king of hearts with the ace and leads another diamond, forcing South to ruff.

South cashes the queen and jack of hearts, discovering the bad heart break. Declarer then leads the seven of hearts.

A GOOD HEART

West covers with the ten, and dummy's last trump is used to ruff. Now South can return to his hand and cash the good six of hearts.

If the six and five of hearts were exchanged, South might well go down at his vulnerable slam. It would be very unlucky to find the trumps breaking 3-0; the hearts, 5-1, and the king of clubs offside.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one spade, and partner has responded four spades.

It is up to you again, with:
♠ - A K J 8 5 2
♥ - K Q J 7 6
♣ - 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner's shutout response is meant to discourage tries for a slam. Your partner wouldn't dream of making so discouraging a bid if he had two aces, and you cannot make a slam unless he has two aces.

Viet GI Heroin Use Drops, Says U.S. Aide

TRAVIS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A U.S. Defense Department official says the number of heroin users among returning Vietnam veterans has dropped from four to 3 1-2 per cent.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, assistant Defense Secretary for health and environment, said that, despite the decrease, drug abuse in both civilian life and the military will "be with us as long as you and I should live."

First In Nation

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — The University of the Pacific says its Raymond College is the first cluster college in the United States. It opened in 1962.

VERNA ♥
To be in that place is not too much fun;
the things you go thru
from Monday to Mon.;
the money it costs,
the stuff you inhale,
the doctor comes in,
says you're looking quite pale.
Don't worry or fret
'cause we all understand;
is there something to do
to give you a hand?
It's got to end soon,
please, Verna, don't quit.
We really do miss you,
so get well real quick!

Jr. White House
Unbelievably exciting if you prefer the dignified charm of the old world, custom fixtures, wool carpeting, warm paneling, stately trees and the like. The grand music room is acoustically perfect. The formal living and dining room as well as the library have fireplaces. A paneled office, country kitchen and butler's pantry complete the main floor. Five bedrooms, 2 with fireplaces, and a children's recreation room complete the 2nd floor. Servants quarters (or additional bedrooms if you prefer) are on the 3rd level. 5½ baths. Additionally there is a separate house for guests, a real orchid growing hot house, an aviary and a delightful outdoor kitchen and BBQ area complete with outdoor fireplace for entertaining any time of the year. You will agree that this estate is underpriced at $195,000. For viewing call CAL REALTY, 771-4900; evenings & weekends, 456-3398.

This truck is so close to new you can't tell it from the 1972 model on the Chev showroom floor. Never usej as a business or work truck — this orange-red half-ton pickup has been used mainly as a family camper unit and it still has the custom camper with it at this price.
There isn't a ding or dent on the exterior and the interior and the bed are so clean — you can eat dinner in either area. Fully equipped including V-8 engine, w/w tires, chrome bumpers, standard transmission, custom cab, etc. 456556.

Manila Kidnaper Gets The Chair

MANILA (UPI)—An ex-convict who bragged of killing at least 10 persons has been sentenced to die in the electric chair for kidnaping a 14-yearold American school girl, murdering a maid and wounding the girl's mother.

Silvestre Abad Mate, 31, pleaded guilty Friday to the Nov. 1 kidnaping of Susan "Suzie" Butler, the murder of the Filipino maid and the attempted murder of Carolyn Arnoldy Butler.

Mate smiled when Judge Onofre Villaluz pronounced sentence at the end of the half hour proceedings.

"I wanted to feel how it is to die on the electric chair," Mate had told newsmen and investigators following his capture less than 24 hours after his dramatic escape by helicopter.

Paper Offers Murder Rewards

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A Sacramento newspaper has started a "secret witness" program offering $10,000 in rewards for information about the murders of four young women.

The Sacramento Bee, in cooperation with the police and sheriff's departments, pledged Friday to pay $2,500 in each case for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

Witnesses who send information to the Bee will use a "secret witness" letter and not sign their name. A code number, designated by the witness, will be used instead.

Ceramics Sale

The College of Marin will holds its annual silent-auction ceramic sale from 7 to 9 p.m. today in the fine arts gallery of the college. Proceeds will be used to assist the ceramic program.

Jacques Laurent Wins Top Prize

PARIS (UPI)—French writer Jacques Laurent today won the Prix Goncourt, France's most prestigious literary prize for the novel, for his 600-page work, "Les Betises" (stupidities).

The book, although written in novel form, is a largely philosophical and autobiographical account of the author's experiences as a novelist, soldier, and journalist.

49er Mistakes Prove Costly; Rams Win 17-6

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—If they paid off on first downs the 49ers would have beaten the Rams 21-8.

San Francisco had most of the statistics Sunday at the Coliseum but could not score a touchdown. The Rams intercepted four John Brodie passes, three by Gene Howard and one by Jim Nettles.

The Rams won it 17-6 before a highly partisan and noisy crowd of 80,050.

The victory moved the Rams into first place in the western division of the National Football Conference with their 6-3-1 record. The 49ers fell back by a half game into second place with their 6-4-0 record.

The 49er scoring came on two field goals by Bruce Gossett, one of 20 yards at 13:56 in the first quarter and the other 26 yards at 13:09 in the second.

The Rams moved in front at 3:31 in the second period after Howard intercepted a pass in his own end zone and ran it out to the Ram 32. Five plays later Roman Gabriel hit Jack Snow for a 13-yard TD.

On the last scrimmage play before the half, Nettles picked off a pass and scampered 29 yards down the south sideline untouched into the end zone.

The only scoring in the second half was a 49-yard field goal by David Ray at 7:59 in the third quarter. That made it 17-6 for the Rams, the final score.

The game was a hard-hitting one to be sure. The 49ers were penalized nine times for 108 yards while the Rams took only three for 25.

Brodie was penalized twice for grounding the ball intentionally. The second time this happened, in the third quarter, 49er center Forrest Blue became overheated and the referee Jack Vest, levied another 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct. It was really Blue's language—a comment on the official's personal life—that offended the ears of Vest.

Another penalty was a personal foul call on linebacker Dave Wilcox who gave Ram running back Larry Smith an elbow smash to the jaw when he was already down on a play in the fourth quarter. Smith came out of the game with a mild concussion, according to the Rams.

Prothro said, "The 49ers moved the ball well. Our defense definitely did not ball-control them. The pass interceptions of course helped. It was a brutal game. In fact, I think it's the hardest hitting game I've seen from the sidelines."

Coach Dick Nolan declined to get into a controversy about the penalties against his 49ers.

He recalled that it was four years since the 49ers failed to score a touchdown.

"It was almost four years to the day," he said. "It was in the 10th game of the season—like this one—in 1967 when Green Bay beat us there 13-0."

Asked about the breakdown in 49er offensive drives, he said, "We couldn't hold onto the ball. On two or three of those interceptions, the ball bounced off the receivers' hands. John had some good throws. The Rams improved since they beat us in San Francisco."

That was on Oct. 10, and the Rams won 20-13 despite the fact their passing yardage was minus 18 yards.

At the Coliseum Sunday, the Rams netted only 49 yards in the air.

Brodie completed 23 of 40 passes for 297 yards. He was sacked once for 11 yards by rookie linebacker Isiah Robertson so the net was 28-6.

Gabriel was sacked twice, each time for 10 yards—by Skip Vanderbundt and Cedric Hardman. Gabriel completed only five of 16 passes for 69 yards and had one intercepted (by Bruce Taylor).

On the ground, the 49ers gained netted 96 while the Rams had the edge here with 124.

The Rams won't get much rest—they play the Cowboys at Dallas on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day. The 49ers play the Jets at New York next Sunday.

RETAIN LEAD

Raiders Pin 34-33 Loss On Frustrated San Diego

OAKLAND (UPI)—The record books always will show that the Oakland Raiders defeated the San Diego Chargers, 34-33, on Nov. 21, 1971 but in John Hadl's mind it will always be the game he blew.

With the Raiders in front, 34-31, one minute and 24 seconds left and the Chargers on the Oakland four, Hadl ran out of his pocket and threw the ball toward the endzone.

Linebacker Dan Conners picked off the wobbly throw two yards into the endzone and ran it out to the seven. Hadl completed two passes earlier in a similar scrambling situation but this time he might have been better off running the ball out of bounds instead of throwing because he really didn't have a clear view and the Chargers still would have had a chance to score a touchdown or tying field goal.

The Raiders, who enjoyed a 10-point lead with a little less than five minutes to go, weren't home free even after Conners' interception.

They tried three running plays to work the clock down to eight seconds, and before kicker Jerry DePoyster was sent in, coach John Madden had a talk with him.

"Under no circumstances kick the ball," Madden told DePoyster.

Madden explained that the kick could be blocked, it could be returned for a touchdown or San Diego could call for a fair catch and have time to kick a tying field goal.

So DePoyster, a second year man from Wyoming, did what he was told, which was to run around in the endzone as long as he could and then fall down for a safety.

Mike Garrett scored two of San Diego's touchdowns, the first on an 11-yard run and the second on an 18-yard pass from Hadl. Garrett ran 44 yards and caught four passes for 81 more in the first half but injured his left ankle just before intermission and did not return.

The Raiders fell behind 24-10 in the first half but bounced back in the second as Daryle Lamonica went to a passing game. Lamonica threw three scoring passes, two in the second half, to wipe out that early deficit and push Oakland ahead by 10 points at 34-24.

PREP PLAY

Drake Cagers To Host Balboa

The time has come to drag your friends and loved ones away from the world of the instant replay and the Cosell-Meredith-Gifford triangular talk-athon. Basketball season is here.

Four of the eight Marin County Athletic League teams begin play before Thanksgiving in non-conference games against assorted regional rivals.

The season's inaugural game takes place tomorrow afternoon at 3:45, when Balboa of San Francisco crosses the Golden Gate to take on Drake High School.

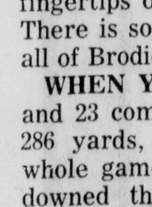
Three more teams open their schedules Wednesday. Marin Catholic tunes up against its alumni at 7 p.m., while Novato journeys to Vallejo at 7 and San Rafael travels to Sonoma for an 8 p.m. confrontation. Drake plays its second game Wednesday also, meeting Galileo in San Francisco at 3:30.

Redwood and Terra Linda don't open until Friday, and Tamalpais doesn't play until Saturday. San Marin opens Dec. 3.

Drake coach Bob Fitzhenry is still experimenting with his lineup. "We have 16 men on the squad, and at least 12 will play Tuesday," he said. "Those who don't will play Wednesday. We want to get a good look at everybody early."

The probable starting lineup consists of Jit Singh and Dave Wilkinson at the guards, Mark Daubenfeld at one forward and John Channell at center. The other forward position is being contested between Greg Shaw and Tom Carlisle.

Drake will rely on quickness to offset a lack of height, and its fast-break strategy calls for liberal substitution. Non-starters likely to see action including center Dan Trimble and guards Ed Chavez and Ric Herbert from last year's championship freshman team.



SPORT NOTES

Disgruntled 49er Fan Pleas For Mira

By RALPH CHATOIAN

"We want Mira!" went the shout from a disgruntled 49er fan after yesterday's fiasco in Los Angeles. "Bring Y.A. Tittle out of retirement," said another. "Even Steve Spurrier couldn't be THAT bad," bellowed another. It was a television horror show.

But John Brodie, the man who was on top of the pro football world just a couple of months ago when he was the cover boy for Sports Illustrated, has run his interception total up to 21, and that's a lot of completions to the wrong guys.

TRUE, LADY Luck is putting her grip on some of those interceptions, two from yesterday's 17-6 loss to the Rams, but it just isn't the same Brodie who led the Niners to the Western Division NFC championship last year.

Two of the four interceptions thrown by Brodie yesterday bounced off 49ers into the waiting hands of Ram defensive back Gene Howard who stole three, altogether. Another Brodie pass seemed a sure touchdown but it trickled off the fingertips of sure-handed tight end Ted Kwalick. There is some luck to this game of football. And all of Brodie's is bad.

WHEN YOU add up all of Brodie's 40 passes and 23 completions yesterday you come up with 286 yards, but no touchdowns. That's how the whole game went. The San Franciscans out-first downed the Rams, 21-8, but lost. When San Francisco gets near the other team's goal line, something seems to happen to all the players. The evil demons come down from the clouds and whisper obscenities in their ears.

Brodie got hit with penalties twice for grounding the ball and once for throwing a pass to a tackle. It just wasn't his day as the Ram defensive line continually hounded him into mistakes. They kept the pressure on.

But poor John wasn't the only one making mistakes. Linebacker Dave Wilcox with a late elbow in the face of a Ram and center Forrest Blue with a late clip after the ball was dead helped run the penalty yardage to 108 against the 49ers. Some of the calls against the 49ers were bad, but they all weren't. The 49ers just made some dumb mistakes.

IT HAS been 10 games now, six for wins and four for losses, and the 49ers haven't been the team that most predicted. The defense has carried it through the season, but the experts said this team was going to be a big scorer, a team to explode for touchdowns. A pin in a balloon makes more noise.

But there are still four games left, and maybe the 49ers will catch the Rams before it is all over. If the Niners do make it to the title, they'll owe thanks to other teams in the NFL. After all, the Rams beat 'em twice.

There's always the back door.

Guard Elmer Collett of Mill Valley played the second half yesterday in place of Randy Beisler and had the rough duty of trying to keep Ram Coy Bacon away from Brodie.

New York Tramples Seals

NEW YORK (UPI) —The California Golden Seals don't have to play the New York Rangers again until Jan. 21 and that might be too soon.

Each time the Seals have taken to the ice this season against the Rangers, it wound up as target practice with California the target and New York doing all the practicing. Sunday night the Rangers bombed the Seals 12-1 to slightly improve on their 8-1 shelling of California in Oakland Nov. 5, the two worst drubbings handed the Seals this season.

The loss ended a dismal road trip for the Northern California hockey team which was able to win only once in seven starts. Opponents netted 43 goals in the seven games compared to 15 for the Seals.

SEALS SCORE

New York was leading 4-0 in the second period Sunday night when Norm Ferguson scored a disputed goal for the Seals with 2:07 remaining. The goal judge never saw the puck cross the goalline but he was overruled by referee Art Skov following a conference with his two linemen.

RANGERS INSPIRED

A television replay later proved Skov correct in his call. But the Rangers argued bitterly because it was the eighth consecutive game in which Gilles Villemure, the New York goalie, had lost a shutout by allowing a single goal.

That fired up the Rangers and they took it out in record fashion on Seals goalies Gilles Meloche and Lyle Carter. New York scored eight times in the final period to set team records for most goals in a period, most goals in a game and biggest winning margin.

Jean Ratelle scored four goals on his first four shots and rookie Pierre Jarry set another team record by tallying twice within eight seconds of the final period.

ANOTHER MARK SET

New York also established a league record with a team total of 23 points in a single period, breaking by one the previous mark.

Those should be strong arguments for the Seals to request a transfer from the NHL to the Western Hockey League.

California licks its wounds until Wednesday night when the Seals skate against Detroit at the Oakland Coliseum-Arena.

HOUSTON HOT

Warriors Fall In San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Consistency is not part of the repertoire of the Golden State Warriors.

After playing one of their best games in years in handing the Milwaukee Bucks and Kareem Jabbar only their second defeat of the season 107-100 Saturday night at Oakland, the Warriors turned around and scored 10 measly points in the fourth quarter the following night to fall prey to lowly Houston 115-96 at San Diego.

Rookies Mike Newlin from Utah and Cliff Meeley from Colorado scored eight and seven points, respectively, during the final 12 minutes to personally outscore the entire Warrior team. Newlin finished with a game-high 31 points, his best night ever in the National Basketball Association.

The weekend games were a study in contrast for the Warriors. They whipped a team with a 17-1 record and turned around 24 hours later to lose to a club with a 3-17 mark.

The games also were a study in contrast for guys like Jeff Mullins and Nate Thurmond.

The spidery 6-11 Thurmond was too busy Saturday night holding Jabbar to 17 points to worry about scoring (six points). But against Houston, Thurmond opened up for 17 points.

Mullins tallied 28 points against the Bucks and then could only hit on three of 12 shots against the Rockets to end up with a season low of seven points.

Suyderhoud Rated 11th In Tennis

Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo is rated 11th in the boys 18 singles in Northern California Tennis Association tentative rankings released today.

Dan Tierney of Tiburon is seventh in boys 16 singles, the highest ranking given to a Marin Countian. Henry Jacobsen of Belvedere is 27th, Mark Strasser of Tiburon 34th and Marcus Robinson of Mill Valley 35th in the same category.

In boys 14 singles, Jacobsen is ninth, Cary Stansbury of Tiburon 11th and Eric Raney of Belvedere 38th. In boys 12 singles, Herman Bauer of Tiburon is 11th, Robert Greene of San Rafael 18th and Charles Bolcom of Belvedere 21st.

Rankings are subject to the formal approval of the NCTA's board of directors at its meeting Dec. 15.

KARRAS CLAIMS

Drug Use 'Common' In NFL

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Detroit Lions defensive tackle Alex Karras says use of drugs and injections by National Football League players is "a very common thing."

"I've taken shots, or novocaine injections, and I've taken pep pills, and so have a lot of other Lions and so do players on almost any team you'd care to mention," Karras said in an article in today's Detroit Free Press.

"It's a very common thing," Karras wrote. "Some players take 'em by the handful, as many as 40 before a ball game...so it's not unusual at all, no more unusual than players taking novocaine shots so that they can play over injuries."

The article was one of a series, entitled "In My Time," about Karras' football career.

Karras said the use of pills depended largely on how the team was doing. He said teams which were winning or had inspirational coaches might not need "uppers" to "get up" for a game. Other players, he said, need pills to perform regardless of how well the team is doing.

Karras said he had taken "maybe about 20" pep pills in his career, "but I never really needed them because by my nature, I guess, I could always 'get up' for a ballgame without help of drugs or anyting else, except the idea of the game."

Drum-type Brakes
Fords, Chevys, Plymouths and American Compacts. Other models higher.

We do a lot more than reline your brakes...here's what we do:

We replace your worn linings with new bonded brake linings on all four wheels.

Inspect your brake drums for contact with the linings.

We examine your wheel cylinders and master cylinder for leaks.

Brake shoe return springs are checked for proper tension.

Next, we inspect the brake fluid lines for leaks or weak points.

Because wheel bearings can be badly damaged if the original grease has dried and caked, we clean and repack the outer bearings on both front wheels.

The final step is to add heavy duty brake fluid and road test your car.

As you can see... your money goes a long way at Firestone. It buys you prompt and dependable brake service by expert brake mechanics. Why not give us a try?

GUARANTEED 30,000 MILES OR 3 YEARS

We guarantee our brake lining, used in normal passenger car service, for the specified number of miles or years from date of installation, whichever comes first. Chico Spanks Sonoma State

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Chico State assured itself of a bid to the Camellia Bowl by piling up 532 net yards Saturday in routing Sonoma State, 53-14, in Rohnert Park.

Both Chico State and UC Davis finished with 5-1 records in the Far Western Conference but Chico State has beaten the Aggies, so the Wildcats were expected to get the bowl nod from FWC directors later today. Chico State finished its regular season at 9-1.

Paul Matthews bucked over from the one twice in the second period to give Chico State a 17-0 halftime lead over the Cossacks, who finished at 2-8 and 0-6 in the FWC. The Wildcats exploded for 36 points in the second half behind quarterbacks Mike Salsedo and Jim Parker.

Salsedo scored on a 36-yard run in the third period, and Parker dived over from the one and flipped a 28-yard touchdown pass to Ken Barber in the final period.

Chico State defenders intercepted five passes to set a FWC record of 38 pass pilfers during the season. The old mark was 37. Sonoma State gained a net of 254 total yards.

Northern Colorado (8-1-1), which wrapped up its second Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championship in three years Saturday, will probably furnish the opposition for Chico State in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento Dec. 11.

IN ATLANTA

'Matured' Falcons Confront Green Bay

ATLANTA (UPI)—The long-suffering Atlanta Falcons, grown to maturity after six seasons of NFL play, seek their first-ever victory over the Green Bay Packers tonight (9 p.m. EST, ABC).

The Packers have beaten the Falcons each year since Atlanta joined the league in 1966, coming from behind late in the final period last year with an 89-yard pass to nip the Falcons 27-24.

Atlanta (4-4-1) continues to improve while Green Bay (3-5-1), although boasting a strong running attack, is not up to the standard of those Vince Lombardi teams that dominated pro football a few years back.

But the Packers have given up a total of only 31 points in their last three games after Coach Dan Devine made three defensive changes and rookie John Brockington (751 yards) and versatile Donnie Anderson (551) are two of the top rushers in the NFC.

Bob Berry, who missed three full games and half of two others after pulling a hamstring, will be Atlanta's starting quarterback tonight. Berry, who ranks as the No. 5 passer in the conference, played the second half of last week's 21-17 loss to the New York Giants.

Statistically, the Falcons and Packers appear about even. Atlanta ranks sixth in the NFC in offense with 297 yards per game and fifth on defense with a yield of 269 yards per game. Green Bay is seventh in offense at 293 yards per game.

Eidson Begins To Walk Again

CONCORD (UPI) —Dale Eidson, a football placekicker who lost both legs below the knees in a fireworks accident July 4, is learning to walk on new fiberglas legs.

The 23-year-old graduate of San Francisco State who had been scheduled to try out with the San Diego Chargers has helped broadcast high school football games for a Concord station and will soon begin broadcasting a daily sports show from his home.

Nebraska, Oklahoma Set Battle For Number One

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Nebraska Sports Information Director Don Bryant says the Cornhuskers were so confident of an Orange Bowl bid that he started making an Orange Bowl brochure weeks ago. But right now the New Year's day game is getting short shirft.

"All the emphasis is on Oklahoma," Bryant said, "all we're thinking about is the Oklahoma game."

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney and Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks both rank the nationally televisied Thanksgiving Day meet between their no. 1 (Nebraska) and no. 2 ranked teams as the most important of their careers.

"We're going down there with the idea of staying No. 1," Devaney says, "we'll do everything possible to do it."

Devaney will put his 114-28-6 record up against Fairbank's 39-12-1 mark, and hope that his former pupil doesn't remember everything he was taught back in 1954 when Fairbanks was an end and Devaney an assistant coach at Michigan State University.

Although Fairbanks' tutelage under Devaney was brief, some of Devaney's teaching may have worn off. In his first head coaching job at Oklahoma, Fairbanks has beaten Devaney's Cornhuskers twice in four outings.

Devaney now is worried about Oklahoma's wishbone offense which Fairbanks has used to build one of the most awesome rushing games in the nation.

"It is a formation which certainly presents a lot of defensive problems," Devaney says. "In time, somebody will come up with the most effective way to stop it."

NET TOURNEY FINALE

Laver To Face Ken Rosewall

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rod Laver, tennis' first millionaire, and Ken Rosewall, the old man of the net pros, began preparations today for their $50,000 match Friday, which will determine the 1971 world champion of professional tennis.

To make the finals, the two little Australians had to tame the powerful serves of two of the game's big men —Arthur Ashe of Miami and Tom Okker of The Netherlands —in the World Championship Tennis (WCT) tournament semifinals.

Laver beat Ashe 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 in Sunday's semifinals before 6,500 indoors at Hofheinz Pavilion. It was the 12th straight time Laver has beaten Ashe. The Virginia native has never defeated Laver.

Rosewall, 37, and a pro for 14 years, had an easier time with Okker, who lost his big serve late in the first set and his volley in the final set. The score was 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 —the fourth straight time Rosewall has defeated Okker since losing to him in the semifinals in Forest Hills in 1968.

"I couldn't do anything with my serve," Okker said. "It seemed to put me in trouble all the time with his returns. I tried to stay back and that didn't work."

Rosewall's uncanny placements kept Okker from charging the net, but even by staying back Okker couldn't cover both sidelines.

Rosewall's shots were so accurate that he regularly hit the sideline farthest from Okker, who became more demoralized as the match continued.

"I thought he eased up on his serve," Rosewall said. "I could get his shots fairly early and come to the net. And I've been serving a bit better the last two days."

Rosewall's victory assured him of $20,000 —the second place money —and a total of $106,677 for 1971, the second straight year he has surpassed the $100,000 mark. A triumph over Laver would boost it another $30,000 to $136,677.

Laver, by clinching the $20,000 second place money, raised his total earnings this year to $292,717 and his career total to $1,006,947, the first tennis player to earn more than $1 million on the tour. Laver didn't know it.

"Is that right?" he said when he was told about it. "I haven't kept a close check on that. It's nice to know you're making good money. It's great to be playing well and winning so many tournaments."

NFL ROUNDUP

Miami Topples Colts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Marv Fleming, the veteran tight end of the Miami Dolphis, recently paid the highest sort of compliment to his coach, Don Shula.

"He comes the closest of anybody to Mr. Vince Lombardi," said the man who played under the legendary Vincent for six years at Green Bay.

Fleming caught a touchdown pass from Bob Griese Sunday to help Miami to a 17-14 win over Baltimore, widening the Dolphins' lead over the Colts to 1 ½ games in the American Conference East.

The victory raised Shula's nine-year coaching record to 89-28-5—a .761 percentage, tops in the league for that span of time.

The win was even more delightful for Shula and the Dolphins since it came against a team he had guided to 71 wins and a Super Bowl appearance in seven years.

Miami used the Lombardi style—power running, tough defense and opportunistic quarterbacking—to defeat the Colts.

The 10-yard Griese-to-Fleming score came less than two minutes after Jim Kiick had tied the score at 7-7 with a one-yeard plunge.

Garo Yepremian accounted for the winning points with a 20-yard field goal with 6:30 remaining in the game.

Baltimore scored on four yard runs by Don Nottingham and Norm Bulaich.

Johnny Unitas drew his first starting assignment of the season and directed a 78-yard drive for Baltimore's first score. He was shaken up attempting to block early in the third quarter and was removed in favor of Earl Morrall. Baltimore wide receiver Ray Perkins also suffered a severe concussion on the same play.

In other contests Sunday, Dallas blanked Washington 13-c, to take a half-game lead in the National Conference East; Pittsburgh edged the New York Giants 17-13, the New York Jets defeated Buffalo 20-7, to hand the Bills their 10th loss this season and their 15th consecutive defeat; Cleveland routed New England 27-7 and Cincinnati downed Houston 28-13 as rookie Fred Willis of Boston College ran for two touchdowns and veteran quarterback Virgil Carter passed for two more.

Also, Detroit trounced Chicago 28-3, Minnesota decked New Orleans 23-10, Kansas City foiled Denver 28-10, while Philadelphia capitalized on four St. Louis fumbles and four interceptions to score a 37-20 victory.

Roger Staubach helped hand Washington its third defeat in the last five games when he scrambled for 29 yards and a score in the first quarter.

Mike Clark—a last minute addition for the injured Toni Fritsch—kicked field goals of 26 and 48 yards to aid the Cowboy attack.

In a surprisingly wide open contest played on wet and slippery artificial turf, Pittsburgh got a 70-yard interception return by John Rowser and a four-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to Ron Shanklin set up by Preston Pearson's 77-yard kickoff return to defeat the Giants.

The win gave the Steelers a 5-5 record and kept them even with Cleveland in the AFC Central race.

Bob Davis threw touchdown passes of 33 yards to Don Maynard and 19 yards to George Nock and the Jet defense intercepted four Dennis Shaw passes to extend Buffalo's two-year losing skein.

Bill Nelsen threw a pair of scoring passes, Leroy Kelly caught one of them and also scored on a one-yard plunge as the Browns snapped a four-game losing streak.

Steve Owens, the No. 2 rusher in the NFC, scored on a pair of short plunges and teammate Altie Taylor, the sixth-leading rusher in the conference, scored on a 19-yard run as the Lions took over second place in the NFC central from mistake-prone Chicago.

Minnesota upped its lead to 1 ½ games in the NFC Central as quarterback Bob Lee scampered four yards in the third period to give the Vikings their first touchdown in 11 quarters. Clint Jones scored the other Minnesota touchdown and Fred Cox added three field goals.

Len Dawson uncorked bombs to Morris Stroud, Elmo Wright and Otis Taylor as the Chiefs spoiled the coaching debut of Jerry Smith, who took over the Denver reins from Lou Saban earlier in the week.

Mike Garrett scored twice for the Chargers, on an 11-yard run and an 18-yard catch of a John Hadl pass.

DISQUALIFICATION

Gonzalez Wins

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuela's Betuilo Gonzalez was awarded the world boxing council flyweight championship Saturday night when champion Erbito Salavarria of the Philippines was disqualified for using a stimulant.

Minutes after Salavarria had retained his title on a 15-round draw, Ramon Barrios, president of the Maracaibo Boxing Association, disqualified the 25-year-old champion because he had been drinking sugared water between rounds.

Barrios said officials tasted the water in Salavarria's flask because it looked slightly discolored. He said boxing commission doctors made a quick test and found it contained sugared water in violation of Clause 16 under which the bout was arranged.

"The world boxing council secretary general, Jose Zulaiman, was present when the rules were established", Barrios announced.

Zulaiman said he would stand by the Maracaibo Boxing Association decision to award the title to the 22-year-old Venezuelan if the commisssion's report is correct and sustained by witnesses.

Little Girls Do A Big Job

Four little girls did a big job Saturday and Sunday for the Marin Aquatic Club.

Nancy and Linda Placak, Shelly Secundo and Elizabeth Stewart, competing in 10 and under girls relay events, won six first places at the Hayward Relays at San Lorenzo Swim Center.

Winning all six events entered, the young quartet was victorious in 200-yard freestyle, 200 butterfly, 200 breaststroke, 200 backstroke, 200 medley and 270-yard free.

Golfer Johnson Wins 1st

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

WILMINGTON, N.C. — George Johnson of Atlanta said he was "pretty excited" after winning his first pro-tour golf tournament yesterday, but said he had other things to think about today.

"Now I just want to qualify for the Heritage Open," he told newsmen after collecting $7,000 first-place money for the Azalea Open, which he won with a 15-foot putt on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Though it was his first win, it was only the second-largest check of his professional career. He collected $50 more earlier this month when he finished fourth in the Kaiser Open at Silverado Country Club in Napa.

Johnson withstood chilling winds and a sizzling 66 final round from fellow Atlantan Ralph Johnston to win the tourney on the extra hole.

Both men had finished regulation play with identical 72-hole scores of 274, 10 under par, in the $35,000 event played at the Cape Fear Country Club. Johnson birdied the first hole of the playoff, while Johnston could manage only a par four.

Johnson had been four holes ahead of Johnston at the start of yesterday's play, having carded a 54-hole total of 204, which had put him in a tie with Deane Beman at the end of Saturday's round. Beman finished five strokes off the pace with a 279 total.

Auto Racing

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. — Tiny Lund, of Cross, S.C., capitalizing on mechanical problems plaguing speedway stars Charlie Glotzbach and Richard Petty, poured it on the final minutes yesterday to win the twice-postponed Wolkes 400 NASCAR race and clinch his second Grand American Division driving championship.

Football

SAN FRANCISCO — Washington linebacker Rick Huget and UCLA defensive end Fred McNeil share the final defensive Player of the Week honors in the Pacific-8 conference.

Huget helped key a Washington defense that limited Washington State to 52 rushing yards and explosive Bernard Jackson to only 11. McNeil blocked a Southern California punt on the USC 30 in the third quarter to set up a touchdown that allowed under dog UCLA to tie Southern Cal 7-7.

Underground Cable Failure Brings Blackout

Failure of an underground cable left most of dotntown San Rafael without electricity for more than an hour yesterday.

The cable located under Julia Street failed at 1:12 p.m., leaving the Independent-Journal and buildings the length of Fourth Street without power — in some cases until 3:30 p.m., according to Robert H. Williams, electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Of the 158 customers affected, Williams said about one third again had power by 2 p.m., about half by 2:25 and the remainder by 3:30.

Cause of the blackout has not been determined, Williams said.

Colorado's state flag is gold, white, blue and red.

UC Threatened Over Hiring

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —The Nixon administration's chief civil rights official has threatened to cut off federal contracts with the University of California at Berkeley for alleged sex discrimination against women.

J. Stanley Pottinger, civil rights director in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said the Berkeley campus is being investigated for allegedly discriminating against women in key job appointments.

Pottinger told the Sacramento Press Club Friday that only roughly 2 per cent of its lecturers are women.

Chamber Picks New Officers

Frank E. Sullivan has been elected president and Gerald B. Cullinane, vice president, of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

Also chosen in Friday's annual election were Virginia Hoffman, treasurer, and Kay Fetter, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Kirk W. Bassett, Nancy Frank, James Murray, Bertram J. Talbot, Robert A. Street and Fred G. Zelinsky. All officers and directors will serve through 1972.

COMMUTING SHOULD BE SO MUCH FUN

Sausalito ferry commuters will launch Thanksgiving with a bang Wednesday when a live rock band and light show takes over the upper deck on the 5:30 p.m. run from San Francisco.

The program was organized by the Golden Gate Commuters Club, a citizens group promoting the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry.

The band, Saw Buck, is a five-piece San Francisco group. There also will be dancing.

The club's Thanksgiving special, according to publicity director David Elliott Stovel of Sausalito, is a chance "to dance your way to the long weekend. Come turn on at sea and not on 101."

Doctor Says Magee Not Gassed

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee may be suffering from an ulcer, but a community doctor said there is no sign that he was gassed and beaten in his cell as he claimed.

Magee was examined in his cell Friday by Dr. Michael Jacobs of the People's Medical Center in Berkeley.

The doctor said yesterday that he detected wheezing in the convict's left lung "consistent with" the effects of gassing, but that the wheezing could have been caused by numerous other conditions.

Jacobs, admitted to the prison on a court order, reported to Magee's defense committee that the convict may have an ulcer and recommended that x-rays be taken.

Magee had requested the medical examination, saying he was beaten by prison guards and gassed three times recently while sleeping in his cell.

Prison officials denied the charges. "The harassment is on his part," Irwin Ritter, prison business manager, said.

Magee, along with Angela Davis, is awaiting trial on charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy resulting from the August 1970 shoot-out at the Civic Center. Their cases were separated after he repeatedly delayed pretrial proceedings with a flood of legal petitions and motions.

Young Demos Favor Kennedy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — A poll of delegates to the national convention of the Young Democrats of America Sunday favored Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., as the delegates' choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy garnered 141 votes of the 407 delegates casting ballots for 34.6 per cent of the vote. Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota was second with 83 votes for 20.7 per cent.

Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie was close behind with 80 votes and 19.7 per cent of the vote while Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota had 73 votes for 17.9 per cent.

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy was fifth with eight votes for 1.9 per cent.

Washington's Sen. Harry Jackson was tied with New York Mayor John Lindsay at seven votes apiece for 1.7 per cent each.

Subdivision To Be Studied

A minor subdivision needed for a small shopping center at East Blithedale Avenue and Lomita Drive will be considered by the Mill Valley Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The shopping center — a supermarket, drugstore, retail shops and walk-in bank — was approved Nov. 1 by the city council.

Sutter Hill Development Corp. is seeking the subdivision in order to bring up to a full five acres the parcel on which the commercial development is to be built.

Air War Continues Despite Withdrawals

There have been some encouraging words lately about our disinvolvement from Vietnam: casualties have dropped to the lowest figures since we began our buildup there, troop withdrawals are being speeded, and — despite President Nixon's assertion that he does not feel bound by a congressional resolution setting a deadline for withdrawal — the word is that there should be only about 50,000 American troops left in South Vietnam by next July.

(That 50,000, incidentally, is about the same number of troops we still have in South Korea — 17 years after the Korean War. We hope and trust there is no intention to leave them for 17 years in South Vietnam.)

THE "WINDING DOWN," however, may be misleading, as pointed out by John S. Knight last week in his "Notebook" in the Detroit Free Press. There is another war — the air war — and President Nixon does not say much about it.

Knight quotes some results of a study by the Center for International Studies at Cornell University into the air war in Southeast Asia. Here are some of its findings:

Bombing this year in Indochina equals that in all theaters of World War II.

By the end of this year, we will have dropped as many tons of bombs there in three years of the Nixon administration as we did in five years of the Johnson administration.

In South Vietnam alone, the U.S. has dropped 3.6 million tons of bombs. Most of the casualties from this bombing have been civilians.

The U.S. has carried out a major bombing effort in northern Laos, yet the Communist Pathet Lao now control more territory there than ever before.

Bombing, and spraying of defoliants from the air, have killed half of South Vietnam's forests and destroyed a large share of food supplies.

THE CORNELL STUDY finds that the massive bombing in Southeast Asia has accomplished little toward winning the war. 'The American capital intensive response, substituting lavish firepower for manpower, is both inefficient and indiscriminate," it concludes.

Inefficient or not, such massive bombing is scarcely evidence of disinvolvement.

It may be good politics for President Nixon to withdraw ground troops while continuing heavy aerial attacks. He "gets the boys home" that way. But it does not get us out of Southeast Asia.

Entomology Of A House

Probably insects have always shared living quarters with man. Certainly they still do — especially in Marin and the other Bay counties, where the lines between indoor and outdoor living are less well-defined than in most other parts of the country.

We won't mention termites because nobody wants to admit having them. But we have an abundance of tiny brown ants, lots of lawn moths, always several hairy, little jumping spiders. These last give finicky people the jitters, but we have to admire their athletic ability. Off and on through the year, beetles of various kinds and sizes wander indoors. Aphids love the window plants. And occasionally, a silverfish or cricket gets inside and casts a hungry eye at some choice piece of clothing.

Bugs are almost impossible to escape, so we had better learn to like the wee beasts.

Fire On The Hills

Look out your window to the hills and valleys, and interspersed among the evergreens or on a background of dry, brown grass bits of flame shoot upward ... Well, not real flames, but the static yellows, oranges and reds of the ripe leaves of autumn.

Another growing season in Marin is expiring in a blaze of fall glory.

By PAUL E. PETERZELL:

To Run Or Not To Run? That's Behr's Question

Marin's state senator, Peter H. Behr of Tiburon, apparently will file for re-election next year even if he does not run in the June primary.

Reapportionment will cut Napa and Solano counties out of his existing Fourth District, which also includes Marin. His home county instead will be in a new 10th District extending through San Francisco into San Mateo County.

Because district numbers were juggled so Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, could have a shot for governor in 1974 without risking his Senate seat, a special election to fill a two-year term will be held in the 10th District next year. This is necessary because San Francisco's other incumbent, Republican Milton Marks, was elected to a four-year term in 1968, and could not pick up an extra two years without another election.

ACCORDING TO an opinion by the legislative counsel, Behr will not have to run again until 1974 because he was elected only last year. This opinion may be overturned by a suit seeking to force all senators to run next year, but by the time the legal dust settles it might be too late for Behr to meet the March 30 filing deadline.

Behr might run next year even if he doesn't have to, however. He has the option of running in the 10th District — and like Moscone would have his existing seat in the Fourth District to fall back on if he lost.

"If there is any doubt about my right to continue in office for a full four-year term," he told us, "I'll file in the Republican primary like a shot. That's a doubt I will not share with other hopefuls."

Behr still leans toward avoiding another expensive race so soon, but if he waits until 1974 he might face an incumbent with two years in office already in the new 10th District. And if he waits until 1974, Behr may be labeled a lame duck with Napa and Solano constituents who cannot vote for him again.

RUNNING NEXT YEAR, on the other hand, would confront Behr with an uncomfortable argument by Marks, who could contend that Behr was taking a cheap shot at him — risking a Republican vote in Sacramento two years sooner than necessary for Behr to survive.

A final complexity is the likelihood that if Behr won re-election next year in the 10th District, a special election would have to be held in his old Fourth District until it officially became extinct in 1974.

Anything could happen by 1974, of course, and probably will.

Answer To Question: 'What Is Education'

I read with interest George Nevin's article concerning Monday's Mill Valley School Board meeting.

Mr. Hugh Brown is quoted, in summing up the faults of the approach to education, as saying no "definitive method of evaluation exists."

As a teacher and student, I wholeheartedly agree but would further offer, "Isn't it wonderful?"

The previous method, the one Mr. Brown pleads that we return to, was most definitive in evaluation. You were asked to memorize facts and were evaluated on how well you remembered.

I would ask each parent to ask himself "How much of what I memorized in school did I really need to know?" or "What is more important for my son (or daughter) to learn? — all the presidents and their vice-presidents or how to function within a group of his (or her) peers within a closed environment?"

You may then have answered the question "What is education?" Once you have done that, it is easy to determine the necessity for a definitive method of evaluation."

Teacher Strike Shows Dedication And Need

In reply to yesterday's (Nov. 17) editorial, "Catholic Schools Put Responsibility First", may I present a reader's viewpoint as opposed to the editor's.

The strike in all archdiocesan high schools comes as no surprise except to the editor. Negotiations have been going on for a year, and teachers have been working under an interim contract in the hopes of keeping the schools open in order not to penalize the students' educational processes. Teachers dedicated to quality education are hopeful that the strike will make people aware of the need for improvement in private school education.

The editor has again been misinformed when he headlines salary as the main issue. The biggest issue if it can be called that is the lack of rapport between the archdiocesan board of education and the teachers as is evidenced by the editorial remark "the archdiocese declared flatly that it will not close its schools". There have been too many FLAT statements and not enough willingness to meet and to discuss matters concerning the strike.

(1) Smaller classes are a necessity if the students are not to be short-changed.

(2) These striking but dedicated teachers would like to be assured that if they are ill, their classes will be taught by a qualified substitute teacher, rather than have a series of study periods.

(3) There should be adequate medical and retirement plans.

(4) Salaries are the final issue. Unless private schools can meet the rising costs, they will continue to have a continuous turnover of teachers. This does not produce quality education. Those teachers who believe in the private educational system, and wish to remain in the system have no alternative except to make the public aware of the problem in the hopes that this will stir up public apathy.

There are specific measures that interested citizens can take to preserve private education:

(1) Write President Nixon asking him to support a program which returns part of taxes to parents with children in private schools.

(2) Invite local congressmen whenever possible to parents associations at schools and make them aware of the needs of private schools.

(3) Deluge Governor Reagan with cards, letters, and telegrams asking for financial aid to private schools either in tax rebate or partial tuition certificates or any other means that has not been declared unconstitutional. There are many ways that this can be done.

(4) Make local legislators aware of the desperate needs and ask for a public commitment of some sort of parent assistance plan.

The need is desperate.

The need is now.

Unless some sort of help is forthcoming private education will be doomed except for the very affluent.

Please don't put down these teachers who really put it on the line by striking. Rather, please start the ball rolling by future editorials seeking help for all private education.

WASHINGTON REPORT

El Paso Gas Bill Killed—For This Year

By BENJAMIN SHORE

WASHINGTON — El Paso Natural Gas Co. struck a dry well in the Senate the other day when California Senators Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney jointly announced their opposition to a bill that would let El Paso keep a firm whose acquisition has been ruled illegal four times by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Cranston and Tunney now feel confident that, because of their position, the bill never will emerge from the Senate Commerce Committee, which is chaired by Warren Magnuson, the Washington Democrat who introduced the bill to exempt El Paso from anti-trust laws. Furthermore, even if the bill should reach the Senate floor, it would be defeated, both senators claim.

The case is of major importance to California, for it deals with the question of having adequate natural gas supplies not only for present users but also for population growth.

IT WAS THE STATE of California under former Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown that in 1956 pushed for the original anti-trust suit against El Paso's acquisition of the ailing Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. The state argued that monopoly control of California's gas supplies would drive the price up. (Ironically, private citizen Brown today is a lawyer representing El Paso; he visited Cranston and Tunney last month to urge support of Magnuson's bill.)

El Paso argues that today's growing gas shortages can be solved only by a company large enough to invest in the costly exploration necessary to develop new gas fields. Divestiture of Pacific Northwest Pipeline would leave parts of the West served by a company unable to expand gas reserves, El Paso claims.

What's a senator to do? Accept El Paso's argument and vote for what it claims would be an assured gas supply that is necessary for residential and industrial growth? Or should he stick with the anti-trust laws and count on a smaller but competing company to help meet future needs?

BY THEIR JOINT decision, in which Tunney and his staff took the lead, California's two senators have opted for competition. Their action appears to have killed any chance for passage of legislation to let El Paso keep Pacific Northwest Pipeline.

Cranston and Tunney say they oppose the legislation on two major points: the merits of the case and the fact that a federal court in Denver is expected to choose next spring one of seven applicant companies to take over the defunct pipeline firm.

"A heavy burden must rest on those seeking the (anti-trust) exemption," they said in a joint statement. "We believe El Paso must establish by clear and convincing evidence that consumers will be materially and substantially harmed unless this bill is enacted. After examining all of the evidence, we have concluded that El Paso has not met this burden of proof. . .

"El Paso tells us that the fight for reserves in Canada is a cut-throat poker game with the highest stakes and that only a strong company like El Paso can fight effectively for those reserves for the West Coast. Such may indeed be the case. But it is also clear that California's gas utilities would much prefer to have two strong companies searching for gas."

This brings the senators to their second point. Since the federal court has yet to select a company to take over Pacific Northwest Pipeline, who can say the new company would not be strong enough to succeed at the "poker game" of developing new gas fields?

And for the Congress to get involved before the courts have acted is an unwarranted intrusion by one branch of government into the workings of another, they argue. ("Like Nixon did in the Calley case," Tunney ad libbed in an interview.)

BOTH SENATORS say they will review the court's decision next year, and if it appears that the selected new comapny would be worse for consumers than a monopolistic El Paso (and they can't imagine that would be the case"), they will reconsider their opposition to the Magnuson bill.

For now, though, California's senators effectively have ended El Paso's chances for legislative relief from four Supreme Court decisions.

Canadians' Paranoia: Saturating U.S. Presence

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

OTTAWA, Can. — Directly in front of the United States Embassy of Wellington Street, not 10 feet from the doorway, sits a car with a Canadian maple leaf flag flying flamboyantly from its radio antenna, and in the rear window a placard crying, "Nix On Nixon!"

On a given day, the newsstand at the Skyline Hotel has on sale 66 American magazines, 11 French-Canadian, five British, and four English-Canadian.

Plastered on the boarding around a downtown construction site is one of many signs left over from two weeks ago, inspiring demonstrators against the American nuclear test at Amchitka. It caricatures the President as the Uncle Sam of World War I recruiting posters, and says, "Nixon Wants Ssshh."

FRIDAY, RESIDENTS of the Ottawa area could choose their television viewing from eight stations, from programs including Romper Room, Captain Kangaroo, Dinah's Place, the Lucy Show, Concentration, the Beverly Hillbillies, Green Acres, Family Affair, Batman, I Dream of Jeannie, Peyton Place, As the World Turns, Guiding Light, Gomer Pyle, Dick Van Dyke, the Flintstones, Lassie, Andy of Mayberry, NBC News, CBS News, Carol Burnett, the FBI, Dragnet, Merv Griffin, and seven movies, six of them American.

A currently popular book here is "The Trudeau Papers," which is not a leaked political document but a farfetched novel about Russian and U.S. missiles exploding over the Canadian prairies, ruining the country and precipitating an American military occupation. It is shot through with sloppy comparisons to Vietnam and even to Nazi outrages of World War II, but nobody around here is laughing at it.

As much as anything, these observations illustrate the love-hate relationship most Canadians have toward the United States. It is wrong to assume that because Canada's government has policy differences with Washington, and some Canadian citizens demonstrate against U.S. political decisions, all of their countryment are devoted enemies of their southern neighbors. The breakdown of opinion here has close parallels to that at home, among pros and anti's, vocal demonstrators and the quiet majority.

THE STRIKING THING is that the trends and events they are for and against, that they demonstrate about or placidly sit home and accept on television, emanate almost entirely from Washington. When there is a Vietnam moratorium in the States, there is a Vietnam moratorium here. When conservationists and antiwar activists opposed the Amchitka test in the States, their counterparts do it here — with special vigor, because Amchitka is geographically closer to them.

When there is a vote in the U.S. Senate, a hiring or firing in the Nixon Cabinet or on the Detroit Lions, an environmental scandal or a plane crash in any of the 50 states, it is followed as closely in Toronto as in Chicago. And there is a presidential election in the States, Canadian citizens choose up sides and argue it to a conclusion just as if they could vote in it.

The most obvious reason is geography. Most of Canada's 21.5 million people live within 100 miles of the U.S. border; 16 of her 21 major cities are there. In a year, there are 35 million border crossings. And along with proximity go the common language of the majority, the family ties of several millions, and especially the fact that beside the populous United States, Canada is a relative vacuum. And a vacuum attracts — investment capital, tourists, emigrants, magazines, newspapers, teachers.

MOST AMERICANS are unconscious of the flow, even when they live along the border. The Canadians are hyperconscious of it. In the universities, the House of Commons and the press, they become dramatic about it. In blue-collar living rooms they are likely to say, "Sure, I think Canada should be for us Canadians" — and then turn back to watching Dean Martin on the tube.

The government tried to stem this cultural overflow by ruling that 60 per cent of television programming in prime time had to be Canadian. But the rule excepted sports events, special shows such as moonshots, and even those occasions when Mr. Nixon pre-empts the airwaves for a statement from the White House — the ultimate irony, considering the purpose of the quota to start with.

To halt the overflow is clearly impossible, and nationalist Canadians have a smothering feeling about it. Even such a dry, unemotional source as the Canadian Pocket Encyclopedia says, "The question now plaguing many Canadians, not a new one, is whether absorption by the United States is inevitable."

Of course the idea of absorbing Canada never seriously occurred to us Americans. But to understand why it occurs to our neighbors, we might try turning the situation around, imagining that we live next door to a nation of two billion population, with an economy 15 times ours, a military establishment that could squash us in minutes, and a government whose every twitch shakes us but which is beyond reach of our votes. Paranoia would be out national malady, too.

'On Location' Proves Surprising For Some San Rafael Parents

"Don't wake me up in the morning, Mom. I don't have to be anywhere until 1 o'clock."

To parents accustomed to high schools with rigid starting times and just as fixed endings, such words are heresy.

On the other hand, students in the new "On Location" program in the San Rafael High School District are likely to announce they have a full 12-hour schedule planned for the day.

New this year as a pilot project in the district, the school that isn't a school is providing new experiences for about 50 youngsters who would otherwise be going to San Rafael or Terra Linda high schools.

The kids were picked from several hundred applicants by a committee of their peers. The two teachers were also chosen by a committee of students.

AFTER ONLY ONE quarter, evaluation of the program would not seem fair, but there is universal agreement on one point: the students are enthusiastic and excited about the school.

Students pretty much choose their own schedules including "regular" classes taught by the two teachers in biology and philosophy. The biology students elected to take a year's work in one semester.)

Otherwise, the courses are made up on an individual basis.

For example, credits for civics can be earned for various community projects; working on an Economic Opportunity Council activity may lead to sociology credits. Other students are "contracting" with teachers at the high schools for help with language courses or are teaching a language to foreign-born persons.

THE FIRST PROBLEM the "On Location" students and teachers had to solve was the location. First, the school met in an elementary school in Santa Venetia but last month it moved to the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The church is only the scene of a minor part of the activities, however, as students spend most of their time elsewhere, including many field trips.

Parents are beginning to get used to the fluid schedules but most were unprepared for one of the ideas presented by some of the students who recently proposed that several of them live together in a commune.

By and large though, the parents seem willing to wait awhile to pass judgement on whether "On Location," similar to such programs established earlier at Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools, is a valuable learning experience for their children.

NATIONAL WINDOW

Women Denied Access To Top Government Jobs

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

When President Nixon passed up the opportunity to name a woman to the Supreme Court, he called fresh attention to a fact that is galling even to the more moderate advocates of women's liberation.

Although women make up more than 50 per cent of the citizenry of the United States, they are grossly under-represented in the higher councils of the government.

There are a handful of women in Congress, but none in the Cabinet and none on the Supreme Court. The highest-ranking women in the executive branch today are the chairmen of two regulatory Commissions —the Maritime Commission and the Tariff Commission.

While these certainly are important jobs, they hardly add up to a major female breakthrough into the inner circle of government policy-making.

EVEN AT THE SECOND echelon, women are strikingly scarce.

Of the 3,854 federal jobs that rank in the top two civil service grades or are filled by presidential appointment, a recent study showed, only 63, or 1.6 per cent, are now occupied by women.

Statistics compiled by the Civil Service Commission reveal that this pattern of discrimination against women extends through every level of federal employment. In the six lowest civil service pay grades, nearly half of the government's employes are women.

But in the six middle grades, women comprise only 20 per cent of the government's work force. And in the six highest grades, less than 4 per cent of the jobs are held by women.

SUPPORTERS OF EQUAL opportunity say these figures show that women are being wronged in two ways. First, they are denied fair representation in the levels of government where policies are framed and decisions are made.

Second, women who do work for the government are paid far less, on the average, than their male colleagues. The pay gap was dramatically illustrated by a recent survey in the U. S. Office of Education.

This federal agency takes pride in the fact that 56 per cent of its employes are women. But a study, ordered by Education Commissioner Sidney P. Marland at the request of a Women's Rights group, revealed that the median pay of male employes was approximately twice the median pay of female employees in the agency. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare —of which the Office of Education is part —has ordered all of its branches to bear down on recruitment and promotion of women to the higher civil service grades. Mrs. Jayne Baker Spain, vice chairman of the Civil Service Commission, is prodding other government departments to emulate HEW's example. President Nixon has publicly proclaimed his support for the goal of more women in high government posts.

But the figures clearly indicate that the government so far has not done a very good job of practicing what it preaches about equal opportunity in employment.

Marin Environment Plan Will Be Aired

A report on the status of Marin County's proposed environmental protection policy will be discussed tomorrow by the county board of supervisors, meeting at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

According to Werner Von Gundell, county planning director, work on the policy has only just begun due to limitations of staff and money.

As originally proposed, the policy will deal with clean air and water, more parks and open space, elimination of excessive noise, protection of wildlife and marine life, and greater public access to and along waterways.

The report includes responses from various county agencies to the original policy outline drafted earlier this year by county administrator John F. Barrows.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also will:

LIBRARY — Meet with representatives from the town of Corte Madera at 9 a.m. to discuss the new Corte Madera regional library.

DAVIS-MAGEE — Hear a report on pending legislation requiring the state to pay a portion of the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee trial and security costs.

COUNTY-WIDE PLAN — Consider dates for public hearings on specific features of the proposed countywide general plan.

COMMITTEE — Consider appointments to a task force to study prison violence and reform, especially in connection with San Quentin Prison.

SEA PORT — Hold public hearings on amendments to Sea Port Development Co.'s master plan and precise plan for a development known as Sea Port Hills in Strawberry.

Priests Can Retire At 65

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—For the first time, Roman Catholic priests in the archdiocese of Los Angeles have the option of retiring at age 65, and must retire by 75.

"Previously, no priest would ever think of asking to retire unless he was incapacitated," said the Rev. Francis Roughan, chairman of the personnel committee of the Priests senate, established 10 months ago.

Archbishop Timothy Manning has approved the recommendation of the senate that beginning Jan. 1, priests may request retirement at 65, and must retire at 75.

Our new 280 SE 4.5 costs almost three times as much as the "average" car. But we think there are 10,000 Americans who can appreciate the difference.

The average car buyer could be taken aback at the price of our new Mercedes-Benz 280SE 4.5.

At over $10,000, it is not only well above average, it is some $2,500 more expensive than the highest priced domestic luxury sedan.

Whether it's worth that difference to you may be answered only by what you expect of a motor car.

The 280SE 4.5 is a touring sedan in the best European tradition.

Designed to provide every motoring comfort for a party of five. And engineered to cope with driving situations that vary from the descending switchbacks of an Alpine pass to the 100 mph cruising speeds of an Autobahn.

A concept so different from that guiding the design of a domestic "luxury" car that Mercedes-Benz engineers used the Nürburgring racing circuit as its final testing ground.

Its engine is unlike any built in America. An overhead-cam, fuel-injected 4.5 liter V-8.

It has no carburetor. Instead, a computer monitors engine speed and load, temperature and altitude, then electronically meters fuel to each cylinder. This more precise method of fuel delivery provides high-speed touring capability with the greatest possible efficiency.

The fully independent suspension was designed for ruts and bends, not just boulevards and turnpikes. It's so roadworthy, Road & Track contends that "no domestic luxury sedan is even in the same ballpark."

And to match its performance abilities, Mercedes-Benz engineers have equipped it with four power-assisted disc brakes, ventilated in front to resist fading.

The result is an automobile that performs with equal aplomb on the 174 curves of Nürburgring, or the unwavering ribbon of a thruway.

And an automobile that is further endowed with almost every comfort. Power brakes and steering. Electric windows. Air conditioning and tinted glass. Electrically heated rear window. An AM-FM receiver. Even a central locking system that secures all four doors, the trunk and even the gas port at the touch of a button.

In addition to the 280SE 4.5, Mercedes-Benz builds two other V-8 touring sedans in similarly miniscule quantities.

The 280SEL 4.5 is identical to the SE except that it is longer. Longer in the Mercedes-Benz sense — an increase of four inches that is translated directly into rear-seat leg room.

The 300SEL 4.5 adds air suspension to the list of performance features unavailable on any domestic automobile.

In total, these three high-performance touring sedans will account for less than one of every 400 cars sold in the United States this year.

If you can accept a car that "different," take a thorough test drive. Discover the real differences in a car built to be the best — not the best seller.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Speculative Appeal—Warrants

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Recently my broker bought 150 shares of Gould, Inc. warrants (ASE). I specified that I wanted to recoup some recent market losses and he suggested these. Do they pay dividends? What are they really? — V.D.

A. These warrants represent an option to purchase common shares, on a one-for-one basis, at $55 until June 30, 1976, when the warrants expire. Holders are not entitled to dividends nor are they eligible to vote. At expiration date the warrants cease to have any market value.

Warrants are attractive primarily because their low price allows the speculator greater leverage for his investment dollar. Since they represent an option on the common, warrants tend to move in line with the common share price. Your $1,650 investment, which bought 150 warrants, would have purchased only 35 shares of common. On a five-point rise the holder of 35 shares of common would gain $175, whereas with 150 warrants the 5-point advance would mean a $750 capital gain.

Gould Inc. appears to have better-than-average appreciation potential reflecting a $116 million torpedo contract, an improving market for original and replacement equipment and diversification through acquisitions. I would concur with your broker's selection for recouping your losses.

Q. I have $5,000 to invest but no stocks for me. What do you think of Borden, Inc. 5¾s of 1997? This bond is selling around 81 for a yield of over 7 per cent. — W.T.

A. This A-rated sinking fund debenture at the most recent quote of 83 returns a current yield of 6.9 per cent. Held to maturity, the return is 7.2 per cent, reflecting the 17-point discount at which it is trading. Although not a heavily traded issue, you should have no trouble either in buying or selling should the need arise. Available in either coupon or registered form, interest is paid June and Dec. 15.

Amfac Declares Stock Dividend

HONOLULU (BW) — A regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share has been declared on the common stock of Amfac Inc., the Honolulu-based diversified service company.

The dividend will be payable Dec. 31 to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 15. The dates reflect a new policy adopted by Amfac directors to make common stock dividends, as declared, payable the last working day of March, June, September and December rather than the 15th day of those months.

No changes will be made in payment dates for preferred stock dividends. Directors declared these dividends of 62½ cents per share on Amfac's $2.50 cumulative convertible preferred, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 1.

Amstar Corp. Board Declares Dividends

NEW YORK (BW) — The board of directors of Amstar Corp., has declared the following quarterly dividends, payable Jan. 3 to holders of record Dec. 10:

Seventeen cents per share on the 5.44 per cent cumulative preferred stock; 66¼ cents per share on the junior preferred stock, $2.65 cumulative convertible Series A; 42½ cents per share on the common stock.

Ridder Publications Makes Declaration

WASHTINGTON (BW) — The board of directors of Ridder Publications Inc. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 8 cents per share on common stock and $2 per share on preferred stock, payable Jan. 3 to shareholders of record Dec. 10.

Headquartered in New York, the company publishes daily and Sunday newspapers in nine states and has interests in radio, television and CATV.

Potlatch Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The board of directors of Potlatch Forests Inc. has declared a quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents a share. The dividend will be paid on Dec. 16 to shareholders of record at the close of business on Nov. 30.

Things Are Looking Brighter For TWA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Trans World Airlines has reported a net profit of $7.8 million for the first 10 months of 1971 — an improvement of more than $40 million since just a year ago.

TWA was in financial difficulty at this time last year. It lost $32.8 million during the first 10 months of 1970 and went on to lose $63.5 million during the year.

The company's two top officers, in fact, told employees in a letter, "We are in a real fight to survive."

But last week's report indicated that a year of work and $30 million in cost reductions have paid off.

TWA's interim earnings report was buoyed by a $3.8 million preliminary net profit for October, an improvement of $16 million over the net loss of $12.1 million for October 1970. It reported though its revenues were up 6.8 per cent for the first 10 months of 1971, operating expenses were up only .3 per cent.

Much of the cost cutting came through eliminating jobs. In the 12 months ending Aug. 31, TWA cuts its payroll by 4,579, or 11 per cent.

In addition, many uneconomic flights were cut and the type of TWA jets standardized by airports. Arrangements were made to sell 16 older jets which had been retired because they were not needed.

Wall Street Awaiting Word On Phase II

NEW YORK (UPI) —Caution continued on Wall Street through the second hour of trading Monday as investors waited for more details of phase two to unfold.

Treasury Secretary John Connally told a news conference the wage-price freeze was a success and he was "equally confident" that phase two would succeed.

The international news background provided little encouragement for investors, although it appeared to have only negligible impact on the market.

A news dispatch from London quoted Radio Pakistan as saying India "has launched an all-out offensive against East Pakistan without a formal declaration of war."

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

$3 Million To 12,000 Yule Savers

An estimated $3 million in Christmas checks is being paid to over 12,000 thrifty savers in Marin County this month.

This is believed to be slightly higher than last year, with the average local check at about $244, compared to about $230 a year ago. The exact amount applicable to Marin is difficult to determine, due to some banks including other parts of the North Bay in their reports.

About 80 per cent of the checks are customarily paid out by the three largest banks, Bank of America, Crocker Bank and Wells Fargo Bank, with the balance paid by smaller banks and savings and loan associations.

In California, Christmas Club savings are more than $6 million higher this year than the past five years average of $88.4 million. This year's checks throughout the state will average $222, up from the $213 record previously set in 1969.

Petroleum Firm Discovers Well

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. has made a natural gas discovery in Fremont County, Wyoming.

The discovery well, OPC No. 1 "Amoco-Tribal," flowed at the stabilized rate of 8.4 million cubic feet of gas per day in a drill stem test of the interval 9,650 to 9,767 feet.

The well is being drilled ahead to an anticipated depth of approximately 12,000 feet in order that deeper objectives may be evaluated.

Hotel Is Getting In Airline Act

NEW YORK (UPI) —At least one hotel is getting into the airline act of offering lower rates to youth. The Roosevelt here is introducing special student rates in the hope of winning the youngsters as regulr customers in later years.

EX-ORR OFFICER TELLS OF THREAT

Story Of Blackball Told By Policeman During Third Round Of Fairfax Hearing

By LARRY MOWELL

A former Fairfax policeman testified Saturday that fired Police Chief James R. Orr threatened to blackball him from law enforcement in May 1969.

John H. Johnson, now a deputy sheriff in Butte County, told a hearing into Orr's dismissal that the ousted chief threatened him after he found Johnson sitting alone with Mrs. Marsha Kittelman, an employee of the Fairfax police, at the Kittelman home.

"He said in essence that Mrs. Kittelman was his girl friend and not to mess around with her or he would blackball me at any department I tried to go to." Johnson, said he was looking for another police job at the time. He left the force in July 1969.

Under cross-examination by Orr's attorney, Leonard Shaw, Johnson said he had been drinking at the time, but clearly recalled the blackball threat.

He added that Orr had never harmed his career.

Johnson was the third witness for the city in hearings before the Fairfax Board of Review, final city arbiter on whether the firing was justified.

Orr appealed to the quasijudicial board after he was fired Sept. 30 by City Administrator Robert E. Crowe. By a split vote, the city council upheld the firing Oct. 4. Orr had been chief nine years.

Johnson also testified that on Memorial Day in 1969 Orr accidentally punched him in the eye while trying to hit another man in a melee at the Fairfax Pavilion. He said the chief smelled of alcohol and could not recall the scuffle the next day.

The fracas took place during a near-riot by young people at a dance while police were trying to arrest a rowdy youth, Johnson said.

Shaw noted that Johnson's written report of the fracas included no mention of the stray punch, but Johnson later said he did not report it because it had "no bearing on the arrest and I felt it was better for the department to have it out."

Johnson also testified that morale was low in the department during his three years on the force because of too much overtime and because of preferential treatment of Mrs. Kittelman.

He said she was allowed to be absent at times and was permitted to do homework for College of Marin police courses during duty hours. She was also routinely sent to meetings on juvenile matters that other officers wanted to attend, he said.

Johnson further testified that tickets for violating the city's overnight parking law were sometimes voided by the chief and Mrs. Kittelman, but, under questioning by Shaw, said that courtesy warnings were usually issued in place of the ticket if the violator had an excuse.

Among the charges drawn up by Crowe to justify Orr's firing are voiding tickets without justification or excuse, showing favoritism to Mrs. Kittelman, threatening Johnson and hitting him while under the influence

Radio Pakistan Says India Has Launched All-Out War

MAN BUNKERS — Pakistani troops man bunkers at a forward outpost on the tense Indian-Pakistan border at Shamshernager. Gandhi Aide In Denial

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Radio Pakistan charged today that India "has launched an allout offensive against East Pakistan . . . without formal declaration of war." In New Delhi, a government spokesman denied similar charges but said Indian planes drove off intruding Pakistani jets which crossed the border.

The Radio Pakistan broadcast monitored in London said that one Indian thrust came in the Jessore sector bordering on India's West Bengal state. It said that a second Indian attack came in the Sylhet area, across East Pakistan from Jessore, and in the area of the port of Chittagong.

The broadcast said that fighting was still going on.

In New Delhi, government spokesmen said that Indian jet fighters fired on four Pakistani Sabre jets which intruded into Indian territory from the Jessore area of Pakistan, but denied as "absolutely false" Pakistani Radio charges that Indian tanks and infantry had entered East Pakistan there on Sunday.

"Absolutely false," Joint Defense Secretary P. Krishnamurti of India said of Pakistani Radio reports which charged that seven Indian tanks were destroyed and 90 Indian soldiers were killed in fighting in the Jessore area Sunday. These were apparently charges of an earlier attack than that reported by Pakistanti Radio today.

"I should reiterate that Indian troops have strict orders not to cross frontiers," Krishnamurti said.

The Radio Pakistan broadcast monitored in London today said that preliminary estimates put the number of Indian dead at 130, and that Pakistani casualties were 7 killed and 40 wounded. It said 18 Indian tanks were damaged.

The radio charged that "eight (Indian) mountain divisions and some tanks" attacked in the Sylhet area early in the day but that heavily outnumbered Pakistani army troops checked the advance, inflicting 58 casualties at the cost of 11 dead and 16 wounded.

The radio said that two Indian brigades attacked in the Chittagong area but that eastern zone commander Lt. Gen. A. Niazi visited the battle area and was told "the situation is well under control."

"It is expected that the Indian army will open up more fronts on the East Pakistan borders in the next 24 hours," the broadcast said.

Tension between the two countries has been building up since Pakistan's government tried to put down the Bengali autonomy movement in East Pakistan by force last March.

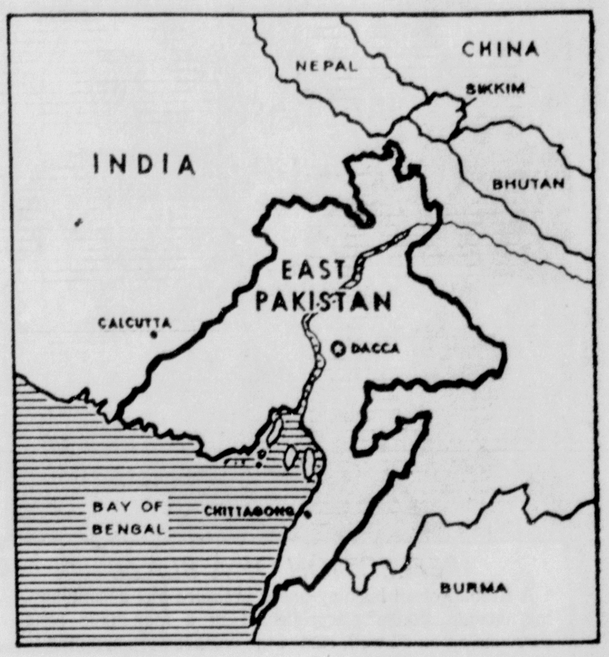
West and East Pakistan are separated by 1,000 miles of Indian territory and Indian and Pakistan troops are massed along the border in both areas.

Government spokesmen in New Delhi said that the air intrusion by the four Pakistani planes—the first in which Indian planes have fired upon Pakistani aircraft along the eastern froniter, occurred above Boyra, about 65 miles northwest of Calcutta. It took place today.

The Boyra area is located about 15 miles from the town of Jessore and about 10 miles from its airfield, which was reported from the East Pakistani capital of Dacca to have been closed because of shellfire Sunday.

None of the planes was hit, Krishnamurti said, and all flew back to Pakistan without returning the fire.

The Pakistan Radio broadcast monitored here said Indian forces had been able to make incursions across the border "because no one expected they would throw all international conventions to the winds and stoop to launching an all-out offensive."



SCENE OF CHARGE — Radio Pakistan said today India "has launched an all-out offensive against East Pakistan — without a formal declaration of war." This UPI Telephoto map pinpoints the tense area in the latest Indian-Pakistan crisis.

Meany Remarks Anger Connally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said today AFL-CIO President George Meany's attitude toward President Nixon Friday "reflected an arrogance, boorishness and discourtesy that ill-becomes a leader of the labor movement in the United States".

At a news conference, Connally declared that "the comments I made go to Mr. Meany personally. They do not go to the labor movement."

Meany denied today he or the labor group were rude to Nixon at the AFL-CIO convention Friday.

Connally also said a 28.5 per cent pay raise given Meany by the union was a "flagrant contempt" of the economic program to hold down big wage and price increases.

Connally also said today the Pay Board's approval of a 15 per cent pay hike for soft coal miners was very disappointing and said he hoped it would not set a precedent for other wage decisions.

Connally, who also serves as chairman of the Cost of Living Council, told a news conference that he was speaking as a layman in attacking the Pay Board decision Friday and not as a top government official.

"I'm very disappointed in the coal action," Connally said. He added that he hoped it would not set a precedent or is viewed as a standard for other wage decisions.

In the wake of the Pay Board's action, the Price Commission met today to look at the other side of the coin — a

Major Court Victory In Push For Equal Rights For Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Advocates of equal rights for women won their second victory of the new term in the Supreme Court today.

A 7-0 vote in a complex Idaho probate case held that the "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment bars states from legally discriminating against women in naming them as administrators of estates.

That was the same clause used by the Court to prohibit discrimination against Negroes in the milestone civil rights cases of the 1950s and 1960s.

In today's unanimous opinion, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the constitutional guarantee of "equal protection of the laws" denies to the states the power to establish different classes of persons to be administrators "on the basis of criteria wholly unrelated to the objective". Two weeks ago, the Court refused to review a lower court decision in Wisconsin which held that under a union or company pension plan women workers could not be compelled to retire at an earlier age than men.

In another decision today, the Court by a 4-3 vote upheld the right of the federal government to cut back social security disability benefits if the recipient also was getting beyond a certain limit in state workmen's compensation.

The women's rights case came to the Court from Idaho when the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the probate law on Feb. 11, 1970. It was appealed by Mrs. Sally M. Reed of Ada County.

In 1971 the state legislature repealed the law but today's ruling would apply to any other situations parallel to the Reed case or to othar state laws of the same kind.

The county probate court named Mrs. Reed's husband, Cecil, administrator of the estate of their dead 16-year-old adopted son. The couple had been divorced in 1958.

Reed's attorney told the supreme Court the boy was in his mother's custody at first; then placed in a home and finally awarded to the father. He was in his father's custody at the time of his death March 29, 1967.

The Idaho law did not leave women out altogether in probate matters. For instance, a woman whose husband died had preference over a son or other male relative because she was a spouse and in a preferred category.

But when persons in the same category applied for an administrator's authority, the Idaho Supreme Court said a male should be preferred.

But Burger said: "To give a mandatory preference to members of either sex over members of the other merely to accomplish the elimination of hearings on the merits is to make the very kind of arbitrary legislative choice forbidden by the equal protection clause. ... and whatever may be said as to the positive values of avoiding intrafamily controversy the choice in this context may not lawfully be mandated solely on the basis of sex."

Panel Backs Butz, But It Is Close

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Agriculture committee approved today by an 8-6 vote the nomination of Earl L. Butz to be new Agriculture Secretary.

The narrowness of the vote foreshadowed an expected battle on the Senate floor on confirmation of the Purdue University dean, who has been strongly criticized by some senators and farm groups as favoring corporate rather than family farms.

The Agriculture committee instructed Butz to put his stocks in three agri-business firms into a blind trust and then to have them sold within 90 days to avoid any appearance of conflict of interest.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Republican National Committee and a member of the Agriculture Committee, predicted after the groups closed session that Butz would be confirmed although he said opponents might muster 25 to 30 votes on the Senate floor.

The Agriculture Committee chairman, Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., voted against Butz in committee, and said he could not predict the outcome on the floor.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said a Senate vote on confirmation could not be scheduled until after a Thanksgiving weekend recess because of other already scheduled business. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., had expressed hope for a vote this week.

Israeli Paper Urges Call-Up Of Reserves

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An Israeli newspaper called today for mobilization of the reserves after the weekend statement by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat that there is "no alternative" to another Middle East war.

The Israeli army scheduled a nationwide air raid warning test for Tuesday.

An Israeli military spokesman said that the situation along the Suez Canal was quiet. He added, however, that up to 70,000 Egyptian troops and 2,000 tanks are there and that the fighting could begin without advance warning.

Western intelligence sources in London confirmed the Egyptian buildup along the canal but pointed out that a crossing would be "hazardous in the extreme" as long as Israel retains mastery in the air.

The Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth said in an editorial that Sadat's statements meant that "it is necessary for a callup" of reserves in Israel. Israeli newspapers generally called on the government and military leadership to make clear to Egypt the dangers of another round of fighting.

An army spokesman said that the nationwide air raid warning network would be tested at 2 p.m. Tuesday (7 a.m. EST), the first test since a commemorative blast on Memorial Day six months ago. The spokesman said the test had nothing to do with Sadat's speeches, but it served to underscore the mood of public apprehension in Israel.

The newspaper Davar said that the developments of the past few days lent "urgency and gravity" to Prime Minister Golda Meir's meeting with President Nixon, scheduled for next month.

Four African leaders arrived in Cairo on a continuing mission to seek peace in the area. They were Presidents Leopold Senghor of Senegal and Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowan of Nigeria, Foreign Minister Mario Cardoso of Zaire (the former Congo) and State Minister William Eteki of Cameroun.

In Beirut, travellers from Egypt said leave was canceled for the armed forces and they were on a state of standby alert.

Sadat said "I have asked the U.S. representative (in Cairo, Donald C. Bergus) to tell his government there can be no further discussions."

Demos Win A Round In Campaign Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democrats beat down a Republican attempt today to delay until 1976 or later a plan to use tax funds rather than private contributions to finance presidential election campaigns.

The vote was 53 to 43.

A showdown vote on the Democratic plan was scheduled for late today —probably not until after nightfall —following action on a dozen more Republican amendments aimed at nullifying it.

A very close final vote was predicted on the plan, which would provide up to $20.4 million to each of the presidential candidates of the two major parties if they agreed to hold their campaign spending within that limit.

In today's first vote, defeated was an amendment by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., which would have postponed the plan's operations until the federal budget showed a surplus — something that has happened only two or three times since World War II.

Both parties would have been denied federal funding for their campaign in next year's election and not until 1976 at the earliest if the amendment had passed.

The pressures on all senators before the vote were heavy.

"The arms are twisted until they are almost twisted off on both sides," said Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., in advance of the vote.

In a politically charged atmosphere, the Republicans sought to switch a few Southern Democrats. Only a handful of converts would be needed to defeat the plan.

In a test vote on Thursday, 43 Republicans and three Democrats voted against the plan. Forty-nine Democrats and no Republicans voted for it.

Two Duck Hunters Drown In Mouth Of Tomales Bay

Two duck hunters — one a West Marin oyster fisherman and the other a warehouseman from Petaluma —drowned Saturday when their 18-foot skiff capsized near the mouth of Tomales Bay.

A third occupant of the board and a dog were saved.

Dead are Henry F. Jensen, 41, operator of Jensen's Oyster Ranch near Tomales, and George C. Slattery, 59, of 1720 Sutton Road, Petaluma.

The third hunter, William D. Harlowe, 38, of Oakland, and Jensen's dog, a black retriever, were saved by a Point Reyes Station man, William H. Marshall, 66, who was near the scene in another boat.

Harlowe told sheriff's deputies the hunting party left Nick's Cove about 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

About a half-mile outside the mouth of the bay, a large wave overturned the boat, tossing all occupants into the water. Harlowe clung to a floating gasoline can.

By the time Marshall arrived, Jensen and Slattery were gone. The bodies were retrieved later by other boaters.

Slattery, a native of Bloomfield, was a long time resident of Tomales. He was a member of the Tomales Druids Grove, Occidental Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Nicasio Parlor

Coast Shipping Nearing Normal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Shipping has nearly returned to normal on San Francisco bay since dock operations resumed Oct. 9 following a 100-day West Coast longshore strike.

The Marine Exchange said 200 cargo vessels arrived at bay ports in the first half of November. There has been some delay due to shortages of longshoremen, the Exchange said.

The west coast's 18,000 striking longshoremen were ordered back to work under the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day "cooling off period" which expires Dec. 26. There has been no settlement in the union dispute with shippers over salary increases and work jurisdiction.

Humphrey Charges A Nixon Provocation

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey charged Sunday night that President Nixon had deliberately tried to provoke union leaders into an ugly confrontation for his own political gain.

Referring to Nixon's blunt address last Friday to the AFL-CIO convention here, Humphrey said "an opportunity for bringing Americans together was cast aside in the interest of personal political gain. He went to the point of seeking to provoke this audience."

The Minnesota Democrat made his charges in a press release outlining his view to AFL-CIO President George Meany and later in an interview with UPI.

Humphrey also joined labor officials in charging there is a "deliberate attempt to make the labor movement look as if it was rude to the President, that it had a lack of respect for the office, which is not true. They did not jeer, boo or hiss.

"The fact that they didn't break out in tumultuous applause is because they don't happen to agree with the President's policies," Humphrey said.

An AFL-CIO spokesman earlier had charged the White House was trying to "falsely trump up" the impression that labor leaders gave Nixon an insulting reception when he spoke to the convention and told delegates he would press ahead with his wage and price controls with or without their cooperation.

Nixon's remarks were in answer to Meany's comment the day before that organized labor would not cooperate with decisions of the pay board and "if the President of the United States doesn't want our membership on the pay board on our terms, he knows what he can do."

AFL-CIO officials said they gave Nixon a "respectful and dignified, but distant" reception —"exactly the dignity that's due the office of President of the United States, but not the type of friendly personal receptions we gave two previous presidents (Kennedy and Johnson) we considered warm friends."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Back At Work

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The majority of the 15,000 soft coal miners who stayed on strike all last week returned to work today, apparently pleased by the pay board's approval of the first year round of wage increases.

A few dissident groups held out. One West Virginia mine union leader claimed the United Mine Workers (UMW) union got its members nothing but "a clothing allowance."

The vast majority of the 80,000 soft coal miners under the UMW contract returned peacefully to work last week, following the signing of a three year contract between the UMW and the association of coal operators.

Most of the resistance centered in the soft coal fields of northern West Virginia and southwestern Pennsylvania, centers of rebel movements against the UMW.

Ship Sinks

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — A West German freighter with six men aboard sank off the Danish coast today in one of the worst snow storms in memory lashing Denmark and southern Sweden, rescue officers reported.

The Danish Naval Command in Aarhus said the 358-ton Nickar of Duisburg went down off Grenaa on Jutland early today after sending distress signals.

The snow storm caused a number of traffic deaths both in Denmark and in Sweden.

Search In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Another search of the grounds of a Roman Catholic convent at Armagh uncovered no additional weapons to add to Saturday's find, according to a British army spokesman.

About 100 Royal Marine commandos with metal detectors and specially trained dogs scoured the Mount St. Catherine convent's 20 acres for four hours Sunday in driving sleet.

"Nothing was found," the spokesman said. He added, "There is no suggestion that the nuns knew anything at all about the arms that were hidden there."

Troops Saturday dug up two .22-caliber rifles, a telescopic sight, a silencer, a single barrel shot gun and 200 rounds of ammunition just inside the grounds of the convent, housing 31 nuns.

Going Coed

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI) — Dartmouth College will go coed in September, breaking a 202-year tradition at the college, and will begin operating on a year-round basis.

The decisions to expand the academic year and place the school in line with other Ivy League institutions in admitting women came at a weekend meeting of the board of trustees. The decision was announced Sunday.

The graduating class of 1975 will be the first one to accept women and operate of the full-year calendar.

Dropping Fight

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Thomas Jolley, a University of Georgia graduate who fled to Canada in 1967 but later returned to the United States, says he will drop his legal fight against U.S. government plans to deport him.

In an interview published in the Red & Black, the University of Georgia's student newspaper, Jolley said he will not ask the U.S. Supreme Court to reconsider its refusal to hear his case.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of appeals in New Orleans has upheld the government's order deporting Jolley, now a reporter for the Tallahassee Democrat.

Storm Clearing

PASADENA (UPI) — The dust storm obscuring Mars from the television cameras of America's Mariner 9 space explorer has begun to clear, Mariner scientists said today.

The scientists were buoyed by the beginning of the end of the storm, and by a message of congratulations from Soviet scientists on the success of the Mariner mission. The congratulations were received Sunday over the "Mars hot line," a teletype link between a scientific center in Moscow and the jet propulsion laboratory in Pasadena.

"The pictures still aren't very good, not as good as the stuff we got from a fly-by Mariner mission in 1969," said a Mariner spokesman. "But things are definitely improving, and we're certain now that the dust storm is subsiding."

Constitution Due

BANGKOK (UPI) — The National Executive Council said today a draft of a temporary constitution will be submitted to King Bhumibol Adulyadej for approval.

The council also said that when a constitutional commission finishes drafting a permanent constitution the document will become official by royal proclamation.

The council, headed by Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, was set up to run the country following last Wednesday's coup which abrogated the constitution, dissolved the cabinet and parliament and imposed martial law throughout the kingdom.

Extends Visit

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has decided to extend his visit to Chile by two days to inspect a nationalized copper mine formerly owned by the American Kennecott Co. and to rest briefly at the nation's leading resort.

The Cuban premier, who today was touring the windwhipped petroleum fields outside Punta Arenas, had been scheduled to return to Havana Tuesday after a 13-day visit to Chile.

However, Castro now will travel to Kennecott's former El Teniente mine south of Santiago, probably Tuesday, and then spend the following day at the elegant seashore resort of Vina Del Mar. His visit is expected to end in Santiago Thursday with a large farewell.

Kennedy Leads

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Time Magazine survey released Sunday indicated that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has considerable support as a 1972 presidential candidate, with a chance for 188 of the 270 electoral votes needed for election. The poll showed President Nixon two votes shy of 270.

In an interview released simultaneously, Kennedy said Nixon will be hard to beat in 1972 because of his new China policy and if the war in Vietnam ends and Nixon's Phase II economic program increases prosperity.

A Pakistani Mortar Hit Kills Eight

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Eight persons were reported killed and six more wounded in a Pakistani mortar attack on the town of Karimganj, one mile from the northeastern tip of East Pakistan, news reports said today.

On the western frontier of East Pakistan, spokesmen for East Pakistani rebels claimed Sunday they had made inroads into Jessore district of East Pakistan, forcing Pakistan army troops to withdraw. The rebel statements coincided with charges by Radio Pakistan that Indian army troops supported by tanks launched a major offensive in the area.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, meanwhile, was quoted as saying if Pakistan President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan was sincere in his offer of "a new era of good neighborly relations" with India, he should release Bengali leader Sheikh Mujibur Raman and reach a settlement in East Pakistan that would bring war refugees back from India.

Reports quoting official sources said that among the dead in Sunday's shelling at Karimganj were an Indian army major.

Six Saigon Battalions Push Into Cambodia To Aid Cause

SAIGON (UPI)—Field reports said that six battalions of South Vietnamese airborne troops crossed into Cambodia today and thousands more massed along the border for a new invasion aimed at ending a Communist threat against the Cambodian capital.

The six battalions—about 4,000 men—moved into Cambodia to reinforce South Vietnamese troops who have been operating in the neighboring country since the Allied invasion of May, 1970, the reports said.

Despite the initial border crossings today, military sources indicated that the big push has yet to start. They indicated that D-Day will be Wednesday, the current strength of the Republic of Vietnam (ARVN) in the adjacent area of Cambodia where guerrilla sanctuaries are located already stands at close to a 13,000-man division.

ARVN Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of Military Region III who is directing the new buildup, spent the day at his rear area headquarters at Bien Hoa, 18 miles northeast of Saigon. Minh was expected to arrive at his forward headquarters at Tay Ninh, 50 miles northwest of Saigon and 27 miles south of the Cambodian border, on Tuesday.

Though vehicles rolled across the border, there was none of the heavy U.S. air activity that always accompanies a major allied push.

However, the Vietnamese themselves staged an air raid Sunday on suspected guerrilla concentrations near Chrum, 40 miles inside Cambodia, and reported killing 40 guerrillas.

Clark Says Prisons Should Be Replaced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The nation's prisons are "warehouses of crime and human degradation" that should be abolished and replaced with small community-based facilities, according to former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark.

In dealing with offenders, Clark said, society "can either give him his chance to fulfill himself as a productive citizen or it can treat him oppressively at its own peril."

The former attorney general under the Johnson Administration told a University of San Francisco audience Sunday there was "injustice" in trying to solve the problems of alcoholism, mental retardation and drug addiction through the prison system.

Society has "not begun to utilize the social and scientific resources available" to solve this kind of antisocial behavior, said Clark, a lawyer now in private practice in Washington D.C.

Existing detoxification, psychological counseling and family service agencies should be used to treat alcoholics, the mentally retarded and drug addicts, he said.

Clark said convicts should have the right to decent jobs, education, housing and due process of law while behind bars and suggested that juvenile offenders be placed in family situations where they could attend school.

"Our purpose is to return these people to the community as soon as possible," Clark said. "The question is not how long a prisoner has been in prison, but what he is like—what kind of person is he—when it's time to live in the community again."

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

'Business As Usual' At Catholic High

Negotiations toward ending a week-old strike by lay teachers at seven Bay Area Catholic high schools — including Marin Catholic — resumed yesterday.

The Kentfield school was reported to be operating normally.

Rev. David Pettingill, vice principal at Marin Catholic, said it was "business as usual" at the school today. About 20 students — a normal figure — were reported, he said.

Negotiations between striking teachers and representatives of the San Francisco Catholic Archdiocese were reopened in Palo Alto and continued today in San Francisco with a federal mediator joining the talks.

Negotiations had broken down Thursday when teacher representatives walked out of a meeting.

In New York, meanwhile, unionized lay teachers today struck 329 schools of the Archdiocese of New York over wages. Church officials said they would attempt to keep the schools open, but union president Barry F. Ryan said that "we expect to close a few schools and educationally disrupt a good many."

Striking Bay Area teachers scheduled mass picketing this afternoon outside the archdiocesan offices in San Francisco.

A spokesman for the striking union, the Secondary Teachers Association, said its members would be joined by members of the American Federation of Teachers.

The striking union, which had been independent, affiliated with the AFL-CIO union Thursday.

Jack Breen, a director of the teachers' association, said the strikers have received official strike sanction from central labor councils in the four counties where struck schools are located — San Francisco, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

Ten of Marin Catholic's 22 lay teachers, as well as four nuns, are participating in the strike in Marin.

Judge Ousts Six Felons In Outburst

Six convicts accused of murder in the Aug. 21 escape attempt at San Quentin Prison shouted obscenities at the judge and their court-appointed attorneys during a pretrial hearing today, and were removed from the courtroom.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court, intent on completing arraignment in proceedings in the inmates' fifth court appearance, ordered all six to listen from an adjoining holding cell while he read the grand jury's 12-count indictment charging them with murder, conspiracy and assault.

Their removal from the courtroom in the Hall of Justice followed an outburst in which the convicts called the judge a "bastard" and an "ass," and termed their attorneys as "stool pigeons."

Louis N. Talamantez, one of the convicts, called for the judge to disqualify himself. "It is our joint belief you are prejudiced," said Talamantez.

After reading the indictment, McGuire called the six back into court one at a time to ask them if they would cooperate during proceedings the rest of the day.

Inmate John L. Spain was the only one who indicated possible cooperation.

The balance of today's hearing was to consider requests from several of the inmates' attorneys to withdraw from the case.

DROWNING

No. 183, Native Sons of the Golden West.

Slattery had been a laborer and was last employed by the Sebastopol Cooperative Cannery.

He is survived by his mother, Louise Slattery of Sacramento; a brother, John Slattery of Santa Rosa; and six sisters, Claire Shaw of El Cerrito, Mary Bennett of San Mateo, Dorothy Marshall of Sebastopol, Eleanor Siemer of Petaluma, Susan Slattery and Alice Scott of Sacramento.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 11 a.m. tomorrow at our Lady of the Assumption Church, Tomales Catholic Cemetery.

Jensen, 41, had owned and operated the Jensen Oyster Beds for 18 years. He was a native of Petaluma, but had spent his adult life in Tomales.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia; his father, Henry J. Jensen of Morro Bay; a son, Henry J. Jensen of Tomales.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Probation Given Ex-Teacher Kimmel

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — James Kimmel, former Novato High School teacher, has been placed on two years probation for cultivating and possessing marijuana.

Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. of Sonoma County Superior Court sentenced Kimmel Friday on two charges stemming from two 1970 arrests at his Sonoma home. Kimmel pleaded guilty to the charges after Murphy rejected Kimmel's claim the pot was grown for religious purposes.

TAXES

Senate, would cut business and individual taxes by more than $27 billion during the next three years.

They think Nixon would resist the temptation to veto the bill in view of the business community's strong support for the tax cuts and Nixon's need to stimulate an economic recovery to enhance his own reelection prospects.

But the White House raised the possibility of a veto. Clark MacGregor, the President's top assistant for dealing with Congress, said during the weekend Nixon "would have to consider" vetoing the legislation if it reaches him with the campaign fund provision. And Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said he would veto the bill if he were in Nixon's shoes.

At issue was a proposal by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., to allow taxpayers to provide each major presidential candidate with up to $20.4 million for his 1972 campaign expenses. George Wallace would get $6.3 million if he runs again.

Novato Council Session Tuesday

The Novato City Council will discuss the city-council planning council's preliminary countywide plan at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato Community House.

The council also will consider a planning commission recommendation to revoke the use permit of the Kok Pit restaurant at 5420 Redwood Highway.

Reports On Programs Due

Reports on two educational experiments will be given the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the administration building.

One will be on the On Location program under which 50 students from San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools are studying outside of school.

The other report will be on an attempt to create a small school of 150 students and seven teachers within San Rafael High School.

The board also will consider appointments to the citizen advisory committee.

Building Financing Will Be Discussed

The Marin Community College District board will discuss possible methods of financing construction of the Indian Valley Colleges during an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in Room 101 of the Science Building of the College of Marin.

New methods are needed because of the failure Nov. 2 of a $16.8 million bond measure that would have financed construction of the Novato campus.

Puppeteer To Give Program Tomorrow

Puppeteer and storyteller Kathy Sternberg will appear at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the children's room of the San Rafael Public Library.

Children from four to seven, accompanied by a parent, are invited, according to Dorothy Chuche, children's librarian.

Tax Panel Session

A committee that will boost the upcoming tax rate election will be appointed by the Lagunitas School District board at 7:30 p.m. today at San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

request for a jump in the price of coal.

There were reports that the Bituminous Coal Operators Association was seeking a 8.5 per cent price hike. The Price Commission had set a general guideline of 2.5 per cent per year for price increases.

Meanwhile in Miami Beach, Meany accused President Nixon of deliberately staging the allegedly rude treatment the chief executive received when he spoke to labor federation's convention here last Friday. "The accusations of discourtesy are absolutely and completely untrue and unfair," Meany told the closing day's session of the convention. "I think we showed the respect that was due the President. We were courteous and there was no jeering, no booing."

secretary during the Eisenhower administration while Ezra Taft Benson headed the Agriculture Department, would succeed Clifford M. Hardin who resigned to become an executive of Ralston Purina Co.

In the committee vote, Butz was opposed by four Democrats and two Republicans including the committee's ranking GOP member, Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa.

Others besides Miller and Talmadge, to vote against him were Democrats Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, George S. McGovern, of South Dakota and B. Everett Jordan, of North Carolina and Republican Milton R. Young of North Dakota.

Joint Session To Be Considered

The Fairfax School District board will consider a request by the Tamalpais High School District board for a joint session at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow.

The Fairfax board has changed its meeting place to White Hill School from the district office.

Water Director On Board Agenda

The Marin Municipal Water District board is expected to name a new director at an adjourned meeting at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in district offices in Corte Madera.

The board will hold a closed session at 12:30 p.m. to discuss the qualifications of applicants for the District One seat formerly held by Ray W. Foreaker Jr., now county public works director.

Future Of District Is Due Discussion

The future organization of the Sausalito School District and the district's upcoming tax election will be discussed by the Sausalito School District board at 7:30 p.m. today in the Martin Luther King School gymnasium.

The meeting will be the second of several informational sessions to discuss possible reorganization of the district, which has been plagued by declining enrollment and high cost per student (estimated at between $2,000 and $2,300 this year).

of alcohol during the pavilion fracas.

He is also charged with being under the influence of alcohol on several other occasions, incompetency and failure to establish adequate police training and departmental operating rules.

He is also charged with making Mrs. Kittelman a police officer without authority, and with improper social relations with her.

Johnson, as have other hearing witnesses, testified he often saw Orr's car at the Kittelman home in the early morning hours, but said during cross-examination he knew of no improper behavior between the two.

Shaw noted while cross examining that Mrs. Kittelman, also an undercover narcotics agent, and the chief sometimes worked together during the night on narcotics busts.

Johnson's testimony followed that of Fairfax Sgt. Paul E. Simpson. Simpson said Saturday that morale was lacking in the department because of inefficiency by Orr.

He said, during prodding from Shaw, that Orr had established an incentive pay program for officers furthering their education. Shaw also brought out that the department was commended by a state law enforcement team for its procedures after an unannounced inspection.

The board will hear further testimony from the city's witnesses Nov. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Acid Splashing Burns Boy, 13

Glenn Williams, 13, of 22 Magnolia Avenue, Petaluma, was treated yesterday at Hillcrest Hospital for neck and leg burns suffered when he was splashed with sulphuric acid awaiting disposal.

Police said Williams kicked containers of the acid stored in the rear of 226 Petaluma Boulevard North, and the substance splashed on him.

OBITUARIES

Lucretia Frease, 87, Dies

Requiem Mass for Lucretia Maria Frease, 87, of Point Reyes Station, will be offered Wednesday at 9 a.m. at St. Rose Catholic Church, Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Frease died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. She had been a lifelong resident of Point Reyes Station and was the wife of the late Frank Frease.

She is survived by a daughter, Maria Carrio of Point Reyes Station; two sons, Lester Frease of Point Reyes Station and Theodore Frease of Stevenson, Fresno County; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow at Daniels Chapel of the Roses, Santa Rosa. Burial will be at Calvary Catholic Cemetery, Santa Rosa.

JACK G. CUNNINGHAM

Jack G. Cunningham of Vallejo, father of Jack M. Cunningham of Mill Valley, was pronounced dead at a Vallejo hospital yesterday after suffering an apparent heart attack while driving in the Vallejo area.

Cunningham, 68, was a native of Seattle, but lived most of his life in Portland. He moved to El Cerrito in 1959 and to Vallejo about a month ago.

He was a bill collector, an electrical worker and an industrial supervisor before his retirement in 1967.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred; a daughter, Jean Cunningham of Portland, and a grandchild.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Colonial Chapels, 1000 Redwood Street, Vallejo. Burial will be at Napa Valley Memorial Gardens in Napa.

DOROTHY TAYLOR

Mass of the Resurrection for Dorothy M. Taylor, 63, of San Anselmo, will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Taylor, found not breathing in bed at home Friday, was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital, apparently of natural causes, according to Bill T. Thomas, deputy coroner.

She was born in San Francisco and had lived in Marin County for 33 years. Her husband, Philip, is a retired trust officer for the Bank of America.

In addition to her husband, of the home at 4 Hillcrest Avenue, Mrs. Taylor is survived by a son, Daniel Taylor; a daughter, Marylyn Midkiff of San Lorenzo; a brother, Robert Grant of Petaluma; and three grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MRS. TYRRELL

Funeral for Elizabeth Jane Tyrrell, 88, of Petaluma, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

Mrs. Tyrrell died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was born in Tomales and educated there and in Petaluma. She was the wife of the late George W.L. Tyrrell Sr.

She is survived by a son, George Tyrrell Jr. of Petaluma; two daughters, Frances Smith of Petaluma and Lola Brimhall of Arcata; six grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Private burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

ANTON GRAF

Funeral for Anton Graf, 89, of Corte Madera, a retired barber, was held today.

He died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Graf was born in Germany and had lived in Marin County for 55 years. He operated a barber shop on Corte Madera Avenue from 1916 until he retired in 1940.

He is survived by his wife, Helen F. of the home at 118 Palm Avenue; a daughter, Erna G. Scott of Corte Madera, and a grandson.

Burial was private.

SAMUEL HEANEY

Funeral for Samuel Wallace Heaney, father of Carol Slewing of Corte Madera, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Halcumb Cemetery Chapel in Montgomery Creek, Shasta County,

Heaney, 86, died Friday in Redding after a short illness.

He was a former Pacific Gas and Electric Co. employee who operated a camp for P. G. and E. employees in Montgomery Creek for several years after retirement from the company. He retired fully last year.

Heaney was a native of Ireland.

In addition to his daughter, Mrs. Slewing, he is survived by two other daughters, Dorothy Nash of Los Angeles and Patricia Malone of San Bruno, and a son, Donald B. Heaney of Glendale.

H. A. PILCHER

Private funeral for Hubert A. Pilcher, who lived at a local convalescent hospital for the past five years, will be tomorrow in San Rafael.

Pilcher, whose relatives all live in Marin, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 77.

Born in Austria, he moved to Canada in 1915, to Wisconsin in 1916, then back to Canada in 1918. He moved to Ross in 1928, then to San Francisco in the 1950s.

He was a chef at the Mark Hopkins and Palace hotels until his retirement in 1960. He then moved to Guerneville Park on the Russian River.

He was a member of the Culinary and Bartenders Union.

Surviving are his wife for 56 years, Martha Pilcher of Corte Madera; a son, Herbert H. Pilcher of Corte Madera; a daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Sandahl of Ross; three grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

MRS. WHITTAKER

Martha Ural Whittaker, 57, former clerk and cosmetic consultant at the Greenbrae Pharmacy, died yesterday at a convalescent hospital in Santa Rosa after a long illness.

Mrs. Whittaker, of 2005 Willow Drive, Petaluma, was the wife of Ralph Whittaker, a postal employee in Novato.

Mrs. Whittaker had been a resident of California for 15 years and had lived in Petaluma four years. She was a native of Illinois.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three sisters, Neva Metzner of Sacramento, Grace Hamlow of Petaluma, and Ida May Trent of Durant, Mich., and two brothers, Wallace Wilson of Peoria, Ill., and Robert Wilson of Sacramento.

Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. Friends may call at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato, tonight.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Treatment For Sprained Ankle Hasn't Changed In Many Years

Treatment for a sprained ankle has not changed in many decades. Although much depends upon the severity of the injury, in general, ice or cold compresses are applied initially and the leg is elevated to minimize swelling. X-rays may be suggested to determine whether a bone is broken.

Minor sprains are strapped or taped. The individual is then told to get crutches and not to bear weight for up to three weeks. Once or twice a day, heat is applied and a member of the family is asked to move the ankle gently to discourage stiffness. While this is done the victim reclines on the sofa or sits on the edge of the bed. Salicylates are taken if pain persists or interferes with sleep.

In the past many physicians injected procaine into the injured ankle to deaden the pain. Some medicos suggested that the victim continue to walk on the damaged ankle so long as the drug controled distress. There is no rationale for this regimen and many of my colleagues no longer do it. Enzymes also have been given to reduce swelling, expecially when there was bleeding under the skin. However, there is some doubt about the effectiveness of these products.

Modern treatment gives better results and the individual gets well more quickly. Some physicians apply a plaster cast with a special support on the bottom so the victim can be up and about without putting weight on the affected ankle. This is important, especially to the professional athlete and worker whose livelihood depends upon a good ankle. Early surgery may also be needed.

A sprain is a wrenched or twisted joint with partial rupture or complete tearing of the ligaments. The most severe injury occurs when the ankle is twisted so forcibly the tendon pulls off a piece of bone.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

CREAKING JOINTS

B. A. writes: Could cracking joints be due to arthritis?

REPLY

Yes. Cracking sounds usually come from the ligaments and other structures surrounding the joints. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this disorder.

RAT BITE

B. M. writes: My son-in-law was bitten by a rat two weeks ago. His fingers are still swollen and the glands in the armpit are enlarged. Is this something that should be investigated?

REPLY

Yes. Have him see his physician because your son-in-law may have a local infection with lymphangitis (blood poisoning) or rat bite fever.

SMOKING AND ULCER

R. R. writes: If a man won't stop smoking, will his ulcer ever heal?

REPLY

Yes, but it helps to stop. Smoking is a minor factor in the treatment of peptic ulcer. Diet, medicine and tranquility are more important.

VITAMINS FOR THE ELDERLY

Mr. H. C. writes: Does an elderly person with poor digestion need vitamins?

REPLY

Yes, if his diet is not well-balanced. Many persons with so-called indigestion are finicy eaters and omit essential foods from their diet.

UNRESPONSIVE CHILD

F.M. writes: Is there something wrong with a 2-year-old boy who does not respond to adults who make a fuss over him? He is not deaf, but cuddling brings no light to his eyes and no change in his behavior.

REPLY

This child may be suffering from autistic psychosis, a condition that resembles schizophrenia. These youngsters have lost their ability to communicate and act as though they were living in another world. Mothers of these tots often tell us that the young victims are not aware of their presence. These children need expert psychiatric care.

BRAIN INFECTION

D.F. writes: Can a person recover completely from encephalitis, with no bad effects remaining?

REPLY

Yes. Most victims of this disease have recovered completely. As of August, the Texas epidemic (3,368 horses) of Venezuelan equine encephalitis had involved 52 humans, and to my knowledge all recovered.

INFECTED LOBES

Mrs. U. writes: Fifty years ago I had my ears pierced. During the last few months the right lobe has become infected several times, even though I don't wear earrings. Can you tell me what to do?

REPLY

Keep the ear lobes scrupulously clean. If infection recurs, a thorough examination of the area is indicated.

INJURY, HAIR LOSS

Miss B.B. writes: Could a head injury cause the hair to fall out?

REPLY

Loss of hair may follow a shocking or terrifying experience — accidental or otherwise. I assume you do not refer to scalping.

TALC AND ICE CUBES

J. writes: I stopped smoking and took up eating cracked ice cubes all day long. Later, I switched to inhaling talc from a can and can't stop until my nostrils and throat are full of powder. What is wrong with me?

REPLY

Many persons have strange but harmless habits, such as nibbling on ice chips or munching starch. But sniffing talc is dangerous, especially if the powder is inhaled. A talc pneumonia may develop or the particles are engulfed into the wall of the bronchi. I know of one person who died from this.

HEIGHT AND INTELLIGENCE

Mr. D. C. S. writes: Does a person's height give an indication of his I. Q.? In other words, does a 6 footer have more gray matter than a shorter man?

REPLY

There is no relationship between height and intelligence. Quality, not quantity, counts. After all, some apes have bigger brains than do humans but an ape never wrote a classic or developed atomic energy.

PILLS FOR TANNING

S.T. writes: Are the pills that cause the skin to tan safe to use?

REPLY

Yes, provided the individual is healthy and the pills are used according to directions. Only the fair-skinned person, who burns easily, needs this type of protection against the sun. Those who tan easily have enough natural pigment to avoid burning, provided they don't stay in the sun too long.

KIDNEY FAILURE

J.K. writes: What causes a kidney shutdown?

REPLY

Failure of the kidneys to filter waste materials or toxic substances may stem from a variety of renal disorders. Some are temporary and others are permanent. The condition is known as uremia and the outlook is not good unless kidney function can be improved.

3-Day Bazaar Is Set

The second annual Whirling Dervish Bazaar — a three-day celebration of exotic foods, mysterious sights and smells and minor-key music — will transform the Sausalito Arts Center into a Persian bazaar this week.

More than 60 booths will sell handicrafts and homemade foods, and visitors will experience dervish dancing, Sufi music, minstrels, tarot, palmistry and astrology and a thieves' market rummage sale.

The bazaar will run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday through Sunday at the arts center, 660 Nevada Street. It is being brought to Sausalito by about 200 followers of Sufism in the Bay Area.

According to Sufi disciple Philip Davenport, Sufism is a universal faith incorporating the essence of all religions. It has millions of followers throughout the world, especially in the Near East and Middle East, he said.

Featured at the bazaar will be handmade spiritual gift items, including dervish miniatures and meditation pillows, and exotic foods, such as shish-kebab, Moroccan, Indian and Lama delicacies, homemade bread, baklava and pastries.

The thieves' market will sell Peter Seller's psychedelic station wagon used in the film, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas."

Jamila's Bal-Anat troupe of Bedouin belly dancers will perform, and other dancers will put on daily shows of waterpot-dancing and sword-dancing.

Two concerts will be featured. G. S. Sachdev, East Indian flutist, and Shankar Ghosh and the Sufi choir will play Friday, and Ajari and the Mantric Sun Band, Kenneth Roshi and the Shasta Abbey choir, the Sufi choir and Krishna Das and Radha till perform Saturday.

Proceeds from the bazaar, Davenport said, will go toward the development of a dervish community center in the Bay Area and to the Middle East peace efforts of "Hallelujah! The Three Rings," a group of Christians, Moslems and Jews.

Woman Prisoner Rights Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge ruled Friday that women prisoners have the same constitutional rights as men for work-furlough programs.

U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter gave the Probation Department until Feb. 4 to draw up for such a program.

The program for men allows them to work at jobs in the daytime but they must spend their nights in a jail facility.

'Musicale' Scheduled

The seventh annual "Winter Musicale," will be given Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The concert band, under the direction of student teacher Charlene Wilkerson, will play music by J. S. Bach, Eric Osterling, Clare Grundman and others. The concert band will be composed of mostly freshmen and sophomores.

The music of Vivaldi, Jadin, Williams and Chance will be performed by the school's symphonic band under the direction of Terry Summa. "Statement," a contemporary piece by Brent Meisinger, will conclude the concert.

Admission will be charged. Proceeds will help finance a tour of the music department next Spring.

Flamenco Program

Enrico El de Ronda will perform on the Flamenco guitar at 8 p.m. Saturday in the San Geronimo Valley Art Center, San Geronimo.

'Quakes Will Stop—Ultimately

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Two Stanford University scientists believe that ultimately all earthquakes will stop—in a billion years or so.

Geologists William R. Dickinson and Gilliam C. Luth said the earth's interior motions, such as earthquakes and volcanic action, will stop leaving a "dead planet" like the moon.

The theory is based on research indicating there are two stiff cores of the earth with a softer core material in between that seems to be shrinking.

Holiday Crafts Class Offered

The Novato Parks and Recreation Department will offer a class in holiday crafts starting at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Novato Community House.

Demonstrations and instruction will be given in the making of pinatas, draped figures, wall and door hangings, and ornament design for tree and gift wrapping.

Classes will be held through Dec. 14. Registration is at the Novato parks and recreation office, 917 Sherman Avenue.

Volunteers Are Sought

The Mill Valley Oral History Committee, which is interviewing long-time residents with a memory of the early days in Mill Valley, has issued a plea for more volunteer interviewers.

Ruth Lecohier, committee chairman, said about 24 persons have been interviewed. Their recollections are recorded on tape and stored in the Mill Valley public library.

"Many people now residing in our community have great memories of the early days and the later exciting and interesting events of Mill Valley's past," she said. "In a few months or years they may not be here and their stories may never be told unless we interview them now."

Persons interested in volunteering may leave their names with Alberta L. Hankenson or Ralph Moreno at the library, she said.

The first official U.S. exploring party into what is now Oklahoma was in 1806.

Church vs. Van Dyke

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Catholic diocese has protested an episode of "The New Dick Van Dyke Show" which dealt with a priest and a nun stranded by a flash flood while on their way to be married.

Members of the diocese were urged Friday to write the Columbia Broadcasting System and the show's sponsors and protest the episode, televised Nov. 13.

"We found this show to be distasteful, contrived and insulting," the Rev. Joseph Kraker, assistant chancellor of the diocese, said.

"Perhaps we are a bit touchy in this area, but judging from the calls we have received there are a number of people as touchy as ourselves," Kraker said.

Kraker said he would give his radio listeners a list of all the sponsors of the television show and ask them to write the sponsors.

Fire Attempt At Picasso Center

BARCELONA (UPI) — A group of persons believed to be rightists tried to set fire to the "Pablo Picasso Workshop" in downtown Barcelona, police sources said today.

The workshop—the site of Spanish-born Picasso's first studio almost 70 years ago—was damaged by the explosion of several bottles filled with inflamable liquid, the sources said. The workshop does not house any works by the artist.

Earlier this month a Madrid art gallery staging an exhibition of Picasso engravings was ransacked by members of the rightist "anti-Marxist commandos," an extremist group.

Claims The Largest Tree For Holidays

TRACYTON, Wash. (UPI)—Residents of this tiny Puget Sound community claim they have the world's tallest Christmas tree —a 127 foot, 4 inch giant that has served as the town's yuletide ornament since 1929.

The Tracyton townspeople claimed the title after nearby Tacoma last week said their 89 foot tree was the tallest.

They're A Little Early This Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Taking a taxicab back from the theater last week, Jean Gunther saw workmen putting up Christmas decorating in front of a store.

"They're starting early this year, aren't they?" she remarked.

In San Francisco, Roos-Atkins clothing store put up its Christmas decorations the day after Halloween. They did the same thing at many stores in Little Tokyo in Los Angeles. In Atlanta, a few stores have begun assembling their displays, but in Chicago they are waiting for Monday's traditional State Street lighting ceremony.

"We expect better business than in the past few years," was one explanation Lloyd A. Pfluger, president of the San Francisco Retail Merchants Association, gave for early sales campaigns.

But a New York merchant, who did not want to be identified, explained that many stores may be trying to extend the season to sell out stock left over from last year when they anticipated more of a boom than materialized.

Many retailers miss the Armistice Day promotional period since the holiday has been changed to October, according to C. M. Valenti, managing director of the National Association of Display Industries.

Leo W. "Sandy" Sanderson of the Festive Illuminations Co. of Port Washington, N.Y. agreed and added early displays are being ordered because "business is a little off this year."

Sanderson's firm handles electrical displays for stores throughout the nation. "Our sales are way above last year's," he said. He said "when you're in a recession, that's the time to promote more."

Because of the early trend, Sanderson said, some of his workers in Lancaster, Pa., "were putting up decorations in 86-degree temperature."

Macy's in San Francisco ran into a problem this year. The artificial green trees it ordered were held up because of the Pacific Coast dock strike. But Santa Claus arrived Nov. 13 despite the tree delay.

Los Angeles merchants have stayed with the traditional display schedule but the story is different in the suburban areas. Santa Monica merchants put up trees two weeks ago and Santa will arrive Nov. 26 to pass out candy canes and coloring books.

Most of the stores in Chicago plan to begin expanded shopping hours Nov. 26, but a few will start this procedure earlier.

Some displays are up in Dallas, but Neiman-Marcus put out its unusual Christmas gift catalogue for the man who has everything about the same time it has for years.

Spokesmen at Davison's in Atlanta noted customers have begun inquiring about Christmas merchandise earlier and specialty items sell better now. But Santa Claus will not appear until after Thanksgiving.

J.C. Penney stores throughout the nation began putting up their decorations last week. "It's just the same as last year," said a Penney spokesman.

Interstate Stores Inc., which operates department, discount and toy stores throughout the nation, has begun putting up displays. But "big promotions begin next week," said Jack Gerber, Interstate public relations spokesman.

Most merchants interviewed said the big Christmas sales push will begin after Thursday, when millions will view Santa Claus on television in the big "Thanksgiving Day" parades in New York, Detroit and Philadelphia.

YUGOSLAV DANCE PERFORMANCE

"Frula," the youngest of Yugoslavia's four major dance companies, will appear at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at 8:15 p.m. today. The dancers, under producer-choreographer Dragoslav Dzadzevic, will perform dances typical of the six republics which make up Yugoslavia — Serbia, Croatia, Bosnia, Hercegovina, Slovenia, Macedonia and Montenegro.

19 Killed By Fires In Three States

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

At least 19 persons, including 15 children, were killed Sunday in major fires in Alaska, Michigan and California. Arson was suspected in one fire that killed seven persons.

Fire officials in Pontiac, Mich., said they have no motives behind the blaze that claimed the lives of Mrs. Freddie May Colsey, four of her children and two other persons visting in the home.

Investigators said they found a two-gallon can filled with gasoline just inside the front door of the house. The door appeared to have been kicked in.

Killed in the blaze along with Mrs. Colsey were her children: Melica, 3, Rosalie, 9, Cindy, 6, and Dorothy, 16. Albert Henderson, 26 and John Brown, 20, were also killed in the blaze.

Six children and a young mother died when fire destroyed a trailer home near the international airport in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Authorities said preliminary examination indicated that a defective heater caused the fire. The temperature at the time was 5 degrees.

The dead were identified as Patricia Ann Galvan, 26, her children, Chris, 5, Wesley, 2, and Cherlyn 1, and three children of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Duane Brewer Sr., Dorothy Elizabeth, 9, Peggy Louise, 8, and Dale Jr., 7.

Mrs. Galvan was baby sitting with three of her own children and the Brewer children, who lived in an adjoining trailer.

Five children, ranging in age from three to 13, burned to death when fire destroyed their ranch home in a rural farming area southwest of Blythe, Calif.

The identities of those killed was not immediately learned.

Authorities said the 10 persons were sleeping in the house when the blaze broke out. The father led two children to safety and ran one-eighth of a mile to a neighbor's home to call for help. When fire officials arrived, the house was totally enveloped in flames and the roof was caving in.

The father became hysterical when he realized the five children were trapped in the house and had to be held back by fire officials. His wife and an aunt were able to escape the blaze.

Service Area Meeting Topic

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the supervisors chambers at the Civic Center, will consider creation of a special services area in Greenbrae.

The services area, requested by the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, would take over maintenance and landscaping of public areas such as road medians and neighborhood entrances.

The area proposed would be north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and between Manor Road on the west and Via La Cumbre on the east.

The special meeting also will consider annexation of the Debes property to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

DANCE REVIEW

A New Element Enters The Field Of Ballet In Marin

By MARIE RAMEAU

A relatively new and unknown element made its appearance on the Marin ballet scene Saturday evening at Dominican College's Angelico Hall in San Rafael. Under the rather inauspicious title of "Dancer's Theater," a small student group presented a surprisingly professional level of performance in both modern and classical works.

The evening's brief program was divided into two main parts, the first consisting of various short ballets and contemporary offerings of diverse styles. Artistic director Jeannde Herst's "Salutation," which opened the event, was led by Gayle Morano and Claudette Lorentz, in a bright classical divertissement to music of Johann Strauss.

The psychedelic was introduced in "The Center" to the haunting strains of Erik Satie, combining projections, striking colors, elusive music and imaginative movements by a quartet of dancers — Helen Peacock, Pamela Meyers, Lesa Schnell and Appletree Rodden.

"Jazz Optimum," despite its sophisticated title, seemed less striking, not really digging "in" to the idioms of the Ramsey Lewis score. It was nevertheless an enjoyable interlude for seven performers, and by no means a drag, when one takes into consideration the difficulties of choreographing good jazz dancing.

"Trio for Saki" was more of a free-style trio to music of Dvorak, but the combination of this choreography and the nature of Dvorak's musical style were rather incongruous.

In "Partita," the group returned to an academic and classical style, presenting a sequence of small dances in classical costumes. The dancers performed with spirit, with clean, crisp technique, and all of them appeared quite strong on their pointes throughout the program.

Unfortunately we had to wait until the second half of the program to enjoy the main feature of the evening, Act II of Tchaikovsky's "Swan Lake." After seeing this timeless piece performed by the greatest ballet companies in the world, I held severe and pessimistic reservations toward this rendition — until I saw it. I was very pleasantly surprised at the extraordinary discipline of the corps de ballet in the groups scenes, which in this particular work are as equally important as the leading parts.

The "Waltz of the Two Swans," as it is sometimes identified, featured two tall and technically very competent girls, who were musical as well as stylish in their performance. The famous and extremely difficult "Variation of the Four Cygnets" was excellent in every way, with the smaller dancers of the company cutting the most intricate entrechats and echappes on pointe with clockwork precision and apparent ease. This dance is also a task on any dancer's endurance, so "bravo" to these youngsters!

The Dancer's theater presents a new concept in regional ballet, centering not on one locale but drawing dancers and choreographers from throughout the Bay Area, all members or students of the Royal Academy of Dancing's Northern California chapter. Saturday evening it presented a challenge to any young performing group and hopefully will be seen more frequently in Marin.

A friend of ours recently spent the evening up on Broadway, instead of driving all the way to San Rafael where we are. It cost him $3.00 for parking, $51.87 for dinner, $48.50 for drinks, tips, and cover charge at a topless night club, and $75,000 plus his lawyer's fee of $3,500 for his subsequent divorce. Dominic's isn't cheap, but considering the atmosphere, superb food, and the possible savings, we're certainly worth a fifteen minute drive.

'DISASTER' TESTS HOSPITAL

MUSIC REVIEW

Sounds Of Future Explored In Concert

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

"A new world of space and time" is what the Different Fur Electronic Music Group of San Francisco professes to have created. And indeed, it has, as evidenced last night in a concert sponsored by the Associated Students of the College of Marin in the college's Fine Arts Theater.

Some musicians predict that electronic music is the sound of the future. It may or may not become the main stream, but two things are certain — it already has contributed to today's music and will unquestionably influence the music of tomorrow—like it or not.

Last night's concert consisted of 50 minutes of nonstop music composed by Patrick Gleeson and John Vieira, specialists in the handling of moog synthesizers. These are panels of switches, open circuits and dials that can not only be made to imitate traditional instruments but produce new sounds. The performer looks very much like a telephone operator plugging lines in and out of a switchboard.

The concert featured 16-track, prerecorded tapes accompanied by live performance on guitars, grand piano, organ, flute, baritone sax, drums and cymbals.

Because the music was composed most of the time of great waves and surges of sound in a melange, it was impossible to tell when the performance was live and when it was taped. Sometimes the sound of separate instruments came through very clearly, especially in those parts featuring the piano, organ and percussion.

Unique in my experience was a rhythmic device used as background throughout almost the entire concert. It gave off the sound of a harshly twanging guitar, giving off a steady pulse of about two beats per second. This, a hard rock beat in one sequence worked up to a feverish pitch.

Added to the atmosphere created by the strange sounds was a light show that did not flicker but consisted only of a screen behind the musicians suffused with colors —mostly a reddish purple — and the musicians themselves spotlighted.

It all added up to tremendous excitement. Yet it set off no fireworks among the large audience, mostly college students. There was only the usual applause.

The other musicians performing with Gleeson and Vieira were Bob Swanson, Micki Durio, Berret Bassick, Hal Wagonette and David Litwin.

Two Black Muslims Are Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Gunmen killed two Black Muslims late Sunday on a narrow street in the Fillmore District and homicide detectives today were attempting to establish a motive for the crime.

The victims were tentatively identified as Freddie Lee Webb, 31, of Chicago, Ill., and Charles Phillip Willis, 27, of Richmond in Contra Costa County. Rectangular orange cards with a crescent moon in the middle identifying them as members of the Nation of Islam were found in their papers.

Neither victim was armed, police said. Both had been shot in the head with a .45-caliber pistol. One of the men had been shot at least five times, officers said.

The deaths were similar to the execution-like slayings of Black Muslim Ronnie Flenaugh, 24, who was shot last week in an Oakland housing project, police said. Flenaugh was wearing his Black Muslim robe and turban when he died. An 8-year-old girl in the house, Kimberly Mapp, was also killed.

Witnesses told police that moments after they heard shots in the Sunday night slayings they saw a man and a woman fleeing west of the street.

The wallets of both victims were still on their persons and one contained $100 in cash, ruling out robbery as a motive, officers said.

Willis' body was found on the sidewalk and Webb lay between two parked cars on the other side of the street.

Cash Stolen

Cash totaling $441 was stolen in a burglary yesterday at the Velvet Plume restaurant, 226 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, according to police. Officers said it was not known how the burglars entered.

Matriarch Of Family Turns 103

Martha Ann Adams has come a long way from her birthplace on a sharecropper's farm in Mississippi.

Mrs. Adams, a Marin City resident for 26 years, celebrated her 103rd birthday yesterday with a dinner party in her apartment at 69 Cole Drive, Apt. 8, where she lives with a granddaughter, Flora Sample.

She was born in post-Civil War Mississippi in 1968, the daughter of an ex-slave turned sharecropper.

The family home, a log house with a dirt floor, still stands on the edge of a cotton field near the little town of Aberdeen, she said.

Her husband, who died at age 93 in the 1950s, was a railroad fireman and field worker.

Mrs. Adams has one daughter, seven grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

She came to Marin City in 1945 with a granddaughter whose husband was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, and has remained since.

As in past years, Mrs. Adam's birthday cake was donated by Kientz's Pastry Shop, San Anselmo.

20 Are Still Believed Buried Under Viaduct

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—A force of more than 500 men was mobilized today to help recover the bodies of at least 20 persons believed still buried beneath tons of concrete from a collapsed viaduct.

Officials said 19 persons were killed Saturday when the Paulo Frontim viaduct collapsed on motorists and pedestrians hurrying home for lunch.

Police said 23 persons were rescued soon after the accident but about 20 still are missing.

Three sections of the viaduct, which was still under construction, collapsed, dumping an estimated 1,400 tons of concrete onto homeward-bound residents.

Officials said it may take as long as two weeks to fully clear the area.

The cause of the accident was not immediately determined.

The port of Reykjavik, Iceland, is ice-free throughout the year.

Yorty Critical Of President's Economic Policy

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles has criticized the Nixon administration's economic policies in his first visit to the state as an announced candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Yorty, in a one-day swing through the site of the nation's first presidential primary March 7, told newsmen Phase II of the President's fiscal stabilization program was no more than a "holding operation until the 1972 elections."

"There has been no real effort to explain any long term plan and many are wondering if the economy will ever really be healthy again after so much political interference," Yorty said Saturday.

THE STAR of the day for Thanksgiving is the traditional roasted turkey. Here it is stuffed with chestnut dressing and with cornbread-sausage stuffing, and the platter is garnished with parsley and spiced crabapples.

MODERN-DAY BIRDS

From The Pride Of Pilgrims To Today — Turkey Still Tops

Turkey was the pride of the Pilgrims back in 1621 at the first Thanksgiving. That part of Thanksgiving has never changed. Only the turkey itself has changed. The modern edition is more plump and tender, with a greater proportion of white meat.

Although the Pilgrims didn't know it, they were eating one of the most nutritious foods there is. Turkey has the highest quantity and quality of protein of any meat, and it's an excellent source of riboflavin, niacin and even iron. Yet turkey is low in fat and cholesterol.

TO THAW A TURKEY: Leave it in its original plastic bag and thawit:

(a) in the refrigerator on a tray for three or four days;

(b) in a heavy, brown paper sack at room temperature, allowing one hour per pound of turkey;

(c) covered with cold water (change water frequently) for 30 minutes per pound of turkey.

Refrigerate or cook turkey as soon as it is thawed.

HOW TO PREPARE A TURKEY:

Remove turkey from its plastic bag; remove neck and giblets from cavities, rinse turkey and wipe dry. (Cook neck and giblets for broth to flavor dressing or make giblet gravy.) Make dressing as described below. Stuff chestnut dressing loosely into neck cavity, then skewer neck skin to back. Stuff body cavity loosely with cornbread-sausage stuffing. Fasten down legs either by tying or tucking under skin band. Twist wings under turkey.

TO ROAST A TURKEY:

Place turkey, breast up, on rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush with butter, margarine or cooking oil if desired. If a meat thermometer is used, insert into thick part of thigh. (Bulb should not touch bone.) Roast at 325 degrees. Time chart below is your guide to length of roasting time.

A "tent" of foil placed loosely over turkey keeps it from browning too fast, and may be removed when necessary to baste turkey. Remove foil last half hour for final browning.

Turkey is done when roast-meat thermometer registers 180-185 degrees F., or when thick part of drumstick feels soft when pressed with thumb and forefinger, or when drumstick and thigh move easily.

TIME CHART FOR ROASTING

TURKEY IN PREHEATED 325° OVEN

Weight	Cooking Time
6 - 8 lbs.	3-3½ hrs.
8 - 12 lbs.	3½-4½ hrs.
12 - 16 lbs.	4½-5½ hrs.
16 - 20 lbs.	5½-6½ hrs.
20 - 24 lbs.	6½-7 hrs.

CHESTNUT STUFFING

- ½ pound chestnuts (1 cup boiled)
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup minced onion
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups toasted bread cubes, lightly packed
- ⅔ cup hot water
- 1½ teaspoons dried sage

Wash chestnuts; make long slit on both sides of each shell. Bake at 500 degrees for 15 minutes. Shell and skin nuts, then boil in salted water to cover for 20 minutes. Drain and chop medium fine. In butter in skillet, saute onion and celery for about 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Combine with hot water, sage, salt, pepper and crumbs. Add chestnuts and toss lightly. Stuffs neck cavity of 12-pound ready-to-cook turkey. Fill body cavity with Cornbread-Sausage Stuffing.

CORNBREAD-SAUSAGE STUFFING

- ½ pound pork sausage
- 4 cups dry bread crumbs
- 4 cups crumbled cornbread
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground pepper
- ½ teaspoon rubbed sage (more if desired)
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery

Brown sausage in skillet until crumbly; reserve drippings. Combine bread crumbs, cornbread, salt, pepper and sage in large bowl. Add sausage to bread. Saute onion and celery in sausage drippings until tender. Toss into dressing. If necessary, add a little water for desired moistness. (Stuffs cavity of 12-pound turkey. Bake any remaining dressing in covered casserole for 1 hour, basting occasionally with turkey drippings if desired.)

Use Leftover Turkey For Making An Ideal Salad

Leftover cooked turkey makes delicious sandwiches, but it also makes an excellent salad.

GRAPEFRUIT AND TURKEY SALAD

(6 servings)

- 3 medium to large grapefruit peeled, sectioned, drained
- ½ cup diced green pepper or celery
- ¼ cup diced canned pimiento
- 2 cups diced cooked turkey
- ⅔ cup mayonaaise
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onions
- 1 to 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- Salad greens
- 12 ripe olives
- Paprika

Reserve 12 grapefruit sections for garnish; cut remaining sections in half. In large bowl combine cut grapefruit sections, green pepper, pimiento and turkey. Blend mayonnaise, green onions and prepared mustard. Lightly stir mayonnaise mixture through salad ingredients. Chill.

Serve on salad greens. Garnish with grapefruit sections, olives and paprika. Chicken or tuna may be substituted for the turkey.

Best Temperature

Ingredients for baking cakes, cookies and bread should be at room temperature for best results. Remove butter and eggs from refrigerator first when getting ingredients ready for preparation.

Make Special Pork Chops

Make pork chops extra special with this fresh winter pear stuffing.

Combine 1 cup diced pears, 1/4 cup rains, 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons sugar and 1 tablespoon minced onion. Saute in 1 tablespoons butter. Add 3 tablespoons hot water and blend.

Cut pockets in 1-inch thick pork chops, or have your meat man cut pockets. Fill with stuffing and bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Preparation Ease

For ease in preparation, shred cheese while cold but bring to room temperature before adding to a recipe.

Apple Muffins: Quick Recipe

For quick apple muffins try this recipe:

In a small mixing bowl cream together 1 stick butter, 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Split 6 English muffins, toast, then spread each muffin half with 1 tablespoon butter-sugar mixture. Mix remaining butter-sugar mixture with a one pound, four-ounce can of well-drained canned sliced pie apples and distribute apples over muffins.

Broil four minutes to heat apples and melt butter mixture. Serve immediately for a morning pick-up.

Here's A Quick, Nutritious Soup

Busy holidays sometimes find you unprepared at mealtime. To prepare a quick and highly nutritious soup for supper, cook six slices of cut-up bacon in a saucepan; pour off drippings. Add two cups milk then one pound can of pork and beans in tomato sauce. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally.

To complete the meal, toss a vegetable salad while quick muffins from a mix bake in the oven.

Taffy Pie: Luscious New Holiday Dessert

If you are doing the cooking at holiday time this year, take the opportunity to establish a tradition of your own with a luscious new dessert recipe from the kitchens of Brer Rabbit Molasses. Taffy pie is prepared with a mingling of molasses, caramel and peppermint to create a flavor reminiscent of old-fashioned taffy — yet it's as modern as today in filling the need for a light ending to a meal. The taffy has been transformed into a feathery chiffon mixture with the same familiar flavor.

Peppermint lovers will welcome the refreshing mint taste in the pie. Those who prefer the flavor of vanilla can substitute vanilla extract for the peppermint. Either way you'll be serving a superb and memorable dessert.

TAFFY PIE

- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup light or dark molasses
- 1 package (14 ounces) caramels
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- ½ cup milk
- 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream, whipped
- 2 teaspoons peppermint extract (or 2 teaspoons vanilla extract)
- 1 baked 10 inch pie shell with a high fluted edge
- ⅓ cup coarsely crushed peanut brittle

Combine milk, molasses and caramels and heat while stirring until caramels are melted. Soak gelatin in one-half cup cold water and stir into caramel mixture until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in one-half cup milk. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream and peppermint extract. Pour into baked pie shell. Swirl spoon round and round on top of mixture to create attractive design. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, decorate outer edge of pie with peanut brittle.

THE HOMESPUN flavors of molasses, peppermint and caramel are blended to prepare this elegant taffy pie. Feather-light, the dessert tastes like good old-fashioned taffy candy.

Try Sweet Potatoes

"SOMETHING DIFFERENT" YAM CASSEROLE

(6 to 8 servings)

- 1 can (2½ pound) sweet potatoes
- 2 large grapefruit
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon ground allspice

Drain sweet potatoes. Place in mixing bowl and beat until smooth. Grate peel of one grapefruit to yield two teaspoons. Peel and section fruit over bowl reserving two tablespoons of juice. Add peel, juice, two tablespoons brown sugar, melted butter, egg, salt and allspice to sweet potatoes. Beat until thoroughly blended. Place in shallow baking dish. Top with rows of grapefruit sections. Sprinkle remaining sugar over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Keep out of the reach of children.

We hoped it wouldn't come to this.

We thought maybe—just maybe—the kids would be happy with their bubblegum and chocolate bars and leave the Adult Nut to the adults.

We should have known better.

Kids, too, have learned that Sun Giant Almonds are crispy, dry-roasted kernels of superyummy proportions that are too good to be passed-up, even out of respect for one's elders.

Consequently, many an Adult Nut has found its way into many a teeny tummy.

But, have no fear. Sun Giant has the solution.

Next time, pick up two cans or jars of the Adult Nut. Leave one where the kids are sure to find it, and hide the other for after they've gone to bed.

After all, one can sacrifice just so much for one's children.

Sun Giant Almonds. The Adult Nut.

A Tenneco Product.

Almond Carrot Cake Is A Top 'Carrier'

Almond carrot cake is a good "carrier," whether its destination is school, pot-luck supper or picnic site.

In addition to slivered almonds and grated carrots, this dark spice cake contains flaked coconut and canned crushed pineapple. It's moist and rather chewy; and it's as noteworthy from a nutritional standpoint as for the sheer eating pleasure it provides.

A buttermilk glaze goes over (and seeps into) the cake to help make it an outstanding addition to your recipe file.

ALMOND CARROT CAKE

1 cup slivered almonds
1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple, well drained
2 cups grated carrots
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup whole wheat flour
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
½ cup salad oil
¾ cup buttermilk
2 teaspoons vanilla
Buttermilk Glaze (recipe below)

Combine almonds, pineapple, carrots and coconut. In plastic bag or on piece of waxed paper, mix flours, sugar, soda, spices and salt. Beat eggs with oil, buttermilk and vanilla in large mixing bowl. Add flour mixture all at once and stir just until combined. Add almond mixture and mix just until combined. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out dry. While it bakes prepare Buttermilk Glaze. Prick hot baked cake with fork at about half-inch intervals. Slowly pour Buttermilk Glaze over cake.

Buttermilk Glaze: Combine in saucepan two-third cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon baking soda, one-third cup buttermilk, one-third cup margarine or butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla; bring to boil and gently boil five minutes.

Makes 16 servings.

Girls On Tour Of Hamilton

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Exciting, confusing and terrific were the impressions expressed by some of the 47 students from Terra Linda High School who toured Hamilton Air Force Base Friday.

The unusual program was made possible through the cooperation of Jean Atnip, equal opportunity officer, central civilian personnel office at Hamilton, and Mrs. Virginia Cochran, chairman of the business education department at Terra Linda High School.

The program was started last year at the suggestion of Mrs. Atnip as a program to help students get involved in the community and particularly to develop the maximum utilization of skills of women in government.

Every students was assigned to a secretary or "Girl Friday" at Hamilton for the day.

Probably the youngest Girl Friday was a former student at Terra Linda Hgh School, Ann Pittee. Now a civilian employee, she is a former student of Mrs. Cochran. The 19-year-old employee said the benefits are many as a government worker. It is estimated that they receive 25 per cent additional benefits annually in vacation, sick leave and health plan coverage, she said.

She added that there is no shortage of young men for dates at Hamilton, either.

The high school girls arrived at Hamilton early Friday and had a rap session with their Girl Fridays at 8:30 a.m. and then toured the base. After luncheon at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club they spent another hour with their Girl Fridays on the job learning what the civilian employees do.

Jean Atnip at Hamilton planned the day for the 47 business education students at Terra Linda High School, which included a tour of the base.

Woman's Place Is In The Lab

A woman's place is in the engineering laboratory, according to one who knows.

Julie Auerbach, the second woman engineer hired by Chrysler Corp. when she joined the company in 1963, made the point at a symposium on career opportunities for 400 women students at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., on Saturday.

"The hardest thing is getting started — proving yourself," Miss Auerbach observed. "There will always be someone to challenge your designs just to see if you know what you are talking about. So get out the computer tapes to prove your point. That phase will last about a year. But once you have shown you can do the job, you will be treated fairly."

A nine-year veteran of automotive engineering, whose experience includes supervision of full-scale vehicle impact testing and development of the turbine car heater and advance body interior trim, Miss Auerbach discussed the three questions she is most often asked by women students: what about discrimination, choosing a job and choosing an employer?

"Try to pick a career corresponding with your hobby. The worst thing you can do is take a job just for the pay, spending 40 hours of working time on something you don't like. Do something that pays less but is more fun, if that's the choice," Miss Auerbach advised.

"Go with a large corporation rather than a small firm or consulting agency," she added. In a large company certain jobs are structured to be done by certain people, she explained, so a woman will not be shunted aside. Government observation of large companies helps insure against discrimination. There is usually better pay, and there is exposure to bigger and more varied jobs, because big corporations can devote more money to projects and equipment, she said.

"Big companies don't expect to keep you forever. With them you can gain the experience to go into consulting work later," Miss Auerbach remarked.

As for salary discrimination, she said, "It's illegal, so you wouldn't have to worry about it at a large corporation which is subject to government observation.

SAN FRANCISCO APPEARANCE

Julia Child — Cordon Bleu To Syndicated Television

By JOAN LISETOR

Julia Child mastered the art of French cooking as a bride in Paris, where her husband, Paul, was assigned with the U.S. State Department.

After attending the famous French cooking school, the Cordon Bleu, she started her own cooking school in 1962. In less than 10 years she has parlayed the minor interest in cooking into a major television series, "The French Chef"; co-authored two volumes of the near million-selling books, "Mastering the Art of French Cooking" and caused a revolution in American culinary taste and artistry.

Mrs. Child held a press conference Friday afternoon at the Emporium in San Francisco, and then gave a cooking demonstration in the department store's housewares department, where she later autographed copies of her books.

THE RENOWNED gourmet cook, in her down-home style, sipped cola while others drank coffee at the press conference.

She recalled early television shows, where her husband did the cleaning up. The show still originates from Boston, where the Childs live, but is syndicated to 209 Public Broadcasting System stations.

Beginning its seventh season, Mrs. Child says she plans new slants on the show, and she is quite excited about a forthcoming segment on tripe.

"We are so wasteful in this country, don't you think, and those who need to know the most about cooking inexpensively seem to know the least," she says.

She believes the show should teach and is concerned with such areas as when fresh fruits and vegetables are in season and identifying cuts of meats. "I OFTEN get lost in a shoulder," she comments.

The trend toward natural foods, she says, is useful because it has made people more aware of insecticides and the contents of processed foods.

"We have become oriented toward fresh foods instead of relying on substitutes of packaged foods," she says.

The fresh food trend, she says, is exciting, but organic foods may be just a fad, which she stays away from on her show for fear the fad may pass before the program is on the air. It might be like the cholesterol controversy, she suggests, where the point of view changes every few months.

Gourmet cooking, she says, is a dying art in France. "The men don't cook, and until recently even moderate income families had maids, so the householders don't know how to cook. Now the maids are coming from Belgium and Spain, and they don't know how to cook, and so supermarkets have plunged ahead."

"Think of the United States 20 years ago," says Mr. Child, "and that is what France is like today."

THE INTRODUCTION of freezers into French homes has also made a difference in the style of shopping and eating.

"When Americans think of French produce they get a romantic feeling," Mrs. Child says. "The fresh produce near our home in the south of France is poor because of a lack of refrigeration. The sun beats through the awning of the store, and at the end of the day they just cover it with a burlap and the lettuce wilts. You have to be there when the produce arrives to get anything good."

The Childs spend as much time as they can at their home in France, and, says Mr. Chld, to spend six months in France and six months in the United States would be ideal.

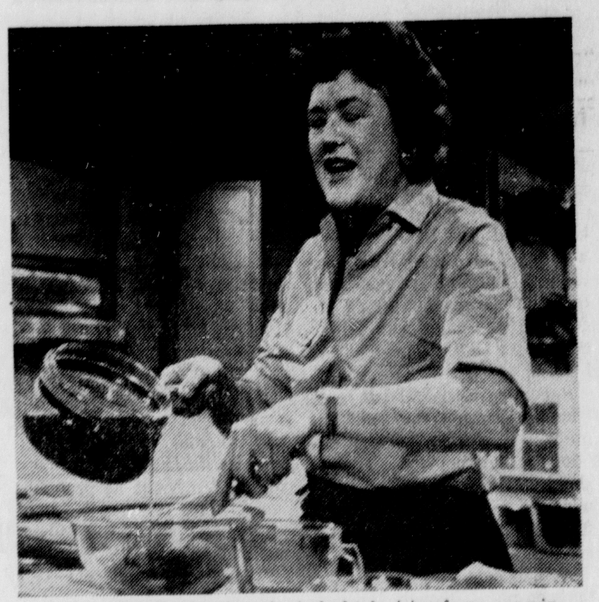
When she is filming shows, usually August through November, she does two a day, working from 8 a.m. until midnight. Much of her time goes into the planning so the shows won't be like the pilot, which Mrs. Child describes this way: "There was this woman, tossing French omelettes, splashing eggs about the place, brandishing big knives, panting heavily as she careened around the stove."

Then there is time spent preparing and perfecting recipes. The favorite recipe of both Paul and Julia Child is her French bread recipe.

"IT TOOK 284 pounds of flour and two years to perfect it," says Paul Child, "but we have come up with the first authentic, successful recipe ever devised for making real French bread."

The bread has the same chewy texture of sourdough, but not the flavor of the bread from the San Francisco Bay Area, she says.

"There is something special about the bread they put on the table when we ate at Jack's and Bardellis" she says.



JULIA CHILD, the French chef of television fame, was in San Francisco Friday to demonstrate cooking techniques and autograph copies of her new book, "Master the Art of French Cooking, Volume II," which she authored with Simone Beck.

The Turkey Is Outgrowing The Family

The California turkey has been outgrowing the American family and the family oven. It's growing right into another section of the market's meat counter.

Today's big bird, which can grow to 50 pounds in eight months, is now being marketed in sections, says J. Price Schroeder, turkey farm advisor for University of California agricultural extension.

Breast meat, huge white chunks almost a foot wide, have been selling at a premium price and drumsticks have always had a good sale by themselves. The new product is ground turkey thigh, turkeyburger, said Schroeder.

The heavy- dark-meat thighs, he said, are easily boned and are going over well in test markets as ground meat.

"It's selling for less than hamburger," said Schroeder. "It doesn't shrink as much, it has no added fat, and it can be used in any way ground meat is used.

"Five test markets in the Bay Area couldn't keep the turkeyburger on their shelves."

News for turkey growers this year has been little turkeys, Schroeder said. California produced 800,000 more turkeys this year than it did in 1970, and 600,000 of them were small whites —turkeys grown for 13 weeks and weighing four to six pounds.

Study Focus On Legal Abortions

ATLANTA (UPI)—In New York State, one child was legally aborted for every two delivered alive last year, a U.S. government study shows.

The National Center for Disease Control (NCDC) reported Friday there were 180,000 legal abortions in 19 states and the District of Columbia during 1970.

The largest number in any state was 87,530 in New York, which began giving abortions to non-resident women July 1, 1970.

The figure represents a ratio of 534 abortions to every 1,000 live births. More than 36,000 abortions in New York were, performed on women from out of state.

THE SECOND HIGHEST number of reported abortions — for the full 12 months of 1970 — was California, which had 62,672 abortions and 364,007 live births. The ratio is 172 abortions to every 1,000 live births.

Most of those abortions reported by age were performed on women 15 to 24 and of those reported by marital status two-thirds were single. Four of six states which reported legal abortions by race had higher abortion ratios for white than for black women.

THE BREAKDON of states went as follows: Alaska, with its current abortion law five months old, 408; Colorado 2,263 in 12 months; Delaware 560 in 12 months; District of Columbia 4,579 in eight months; Georgia 705 in 12 months; Hawaii 2,741 in 9½ months; Maryland 3,210 in six months, North Carolina 1,293 in 12 months; Oregon 7,196 in 12 months; South Carolina 392 in 11 months; Virginia 635 in seven months and Washington 527 in one month.

Coupon Goal Is Reached

It's a goal of 800,000 Betty Crocker coupons that has been reached, and the Marin County Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Northern California will redeem the coupons for its second kidney dialysis machine.

The machine will be handled by the Kidney Foundation of Northern California's office in Oakland and will be loaned free to any kidney patient who needs it, the Marin chapter announced.

The first machine for Marin County use redeemed by General Mills, Inc., with the coupons has been designated for a local hospital, to be installed at a future date, the chapter said. Mrs. Charles Brady of Marinwood collected coupons for it.

The Marin Chapter said that anyone wishing to donate more coupons toward a kidney dialysis machine for another Northern California location may mail the coupons directly to the Northern California Kidney Foundation, 320 Hegenberger Road, Oakland, 94621. Deadline is the end of this month, as coupons must be received by General Mills by Dec. 31, the Marin Chapter added.

Save The $10 And Forget The Witchcraft For Gaining Revenge

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I'm not putting you on. Please print this as I have to know what I should do.

About five months ago my boy friend just left me — no warning, no fight. We were talking about marriage, and then he never showed again. Soon he was going with a real dog whom he'd always disliked before.

Recently I was talking to a friend and what she said left me cold as ice. She told me this "dog" confessed to her that she'd gone to a "wicca" (witch) and had a spell cast on my boy friend. That's why he "fell" for her.

Well, I decided two could play that game — though I never believed in spells before. So I went to a witch this friend recommended, and sure enough she told me I could get my guy back for $10.

My question is, how would I be sure that the spell would stay broken? I might have to keep on paying out money every time the "dog" got her witchcraft working. — DOUBTFUL

P.S. I'm really not sure how much he's worth, as I've met another boy now.

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

Concentrate on the new boy and save your money. In spite of all the witch and warlock talk going down these days, magic spells work about as often as eating bread crusts produces curly hair . . . or burying a dead toad takes off warts. — SUE

DEAR D.:

The "hex" which the "dog" used on your boy friend was spelled with an "s." And that's not magic, though he probably thought so.

DEAR "RAP":

I was walking by this public telephone at a shopping center, when it started ringing. Who can ignore a phone ring? So I asnwered it. Turns out this fella had a "wrong number," but a real nice voice, so we got talking and he asked me to "meet" his voice there again the next day, when he's call the same public phone at exactly 4 p.m.

just calling the number to see who'd answer.

It's been a week now, and I've talked to him this way three times. He's told me a lot about himself, and we seem to like the same things, but I'm afraid to give him my name or real phone number. Yet I'm fascinated. He sounds wonderful and wants to meet me, but how can I be sure? Would you take the chance, Sue, if you were me? — TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED:

Why not? Public telephone roulette is a fun game and sometimes you even get a winner! To be on the safe side, have him meet you at a public place, with a friend, so you wouldn't really be stuck with him if he was a durf. — SUE

DEAR TEMPTED:

. . . And remember reality may not measure up to mystery. — HELEN

DAR HELEN AND SUE:

I had my baby in September. The father broke up with me when he knew I was pregnant, but now he wants to take up where he left off. My folks won't let me see him. Dad says he's no good and would never even buy the baby a can of milk.

They're taking care of me and my son until I finish school. My boy friend is a dropout, with no job. I feel sorry for him, 'cause he's always been a loser. Now he can't even be a father. Doesn't my Dad realize he needs me? — N.A.

DEAR N.:

Your Dad remembers what you seem to forget: this boy copped out when you needed him! He doesn't deserve your pity — or your love. — HELEN

DEAR N.A.:

You feel sorry for him because he's a loser. Do you really think your love would make him a winner? Don't strike out twice! — SUE

MRS. JOHN S. KOMO III
Married in Los Altos

John Komo, Nan Farasyn Are Wed

Nan Pauline Farasyn and John S. Komo III were married Saturday in a candlelight ceremony in the Monastic Chapel of Maryknoll in Los Altos.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Farasyn, in Los Altos. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Komo Jr. of San Anselmo.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Bernd Schmidt of Santa Clara, and the bridegroom's sister, Theresa Komo of Mill Valley, was the bridesmaid.

R. Stephen Farasyn of Los Altos, the bride's brother, was best man, and another brother of the bride, Eric Farasyn of Los Altos, and John T. O'Brien of Santa Clara ushered guests to their seats.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel the couple will live in San Anselmo.

Nan was graudated from Convent of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park and Dominican College.

John was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attends the University of Santa Clara. He is also a teacher at Marin Catholic.

John Komo of San Jose is his local grandfather.

Attention Finally Focuses On Real Estate Closing Costs

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — One of the most painful aspects to buying a house is the list of "closing costs" that must be paid before title can be passed.

In recent years, the assorted fees and charges that show up at the "passing of papers" have multiplied both in number and amount.

In some cases, prospective purchasers find they are unable to go through with the deal because they either did not figure on the closing costs or did not realize how much they would be.

AMONG THE more common closing costs are charges for title search, title insurance, tax adjustments, transfer taxes, legal fees and other assorted fees and charges.

Preliminary results from a survey of 12 cities by the Veterans Administration and Department of Housing and Urban Development show that these charges range from $172 to $809 even for low-price ($12-20,000) homes. The averages for $20-28,000 homes range from $247 to $1,021.

Yet, according to Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) whose staff has made a study of title fees, some of these charges may not even be necessary.

"Custom, rather than reason," he says, "underlies many of the title costs the home buyer must bear. Everyone seems to benefit from these 'customary' charges except the home buyer. Lawyers get forwarding fees, real estate agents get commissions, lenders get compensating balances and the home buyers get taken."

THE SENATOR'S staff has focused mainly on title insurance, which offers protection against an undiscovered lien on the real estate. In 16 years, the title insurance industry has tripled its gross annual income to $300 million last year, a poor year for housing sales, according to Proxmire.

He says the increase in fees does not necessarily mean any improvement in conusmer protection. He says buyers are often required to purchase title insurance even when there is "absolutely no risk of loss to the lender."

His staff's study shows that in a recent two-year period, title insurance companies paid out only 2.5 per cent of their gross income in losses. Over 60 per cent of what was left went for personnel expenses and commissions, with net profits averaging 10 per cent.

Among the reasons for the rapid growth of the the title insurance business, says Proxmire, are:

— Extensive inter-relationships between directors of title insurance firms, lending institutions, realty firms, lawyers and other title companies.

— Lack of incentive for efficiency. Many title insurance firms keep costly duplicate land records.

— Reliance by insurance companies on agents to send them business, causing "great pressure to raise the agent's commission" in return.

PROXMIRE HAS introduced legislation which would require lenders to absorb title costs and prohibit sellers from charging home buyers more than lenders.

Meanwhile, VA-HUD investigators have issued a call for help. They have formally requested that any person interested in helping develop federal standards for closing costs send comments and documentation in triplicate by tomorrow's deadline to FHA Programs Division, Room 6134, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, D.C., 20410.

How To Correct Those Fattening Errors In Diet

Have you been dieting harder than ever lately — and losing less weight — or none at all? If that's your situation, you're not alone, says a nutrition authority who has made a study of obesity.

In the November issue of Family Health magazine, noted nutritionist Dr. Jean Mayer writes that many supposedly fastidious diets go awry simply because dieters are acting on several basic misunderstandings.

Dr. Mayer, who is professor of nutrition at Harvard University, lists several common errors in dieting, and tells how to correct them:

1. Beware of "nonfattening" foods. Too many people believe that if you avoid "forbidden" foods, you can eat as much as you want of the "nonfattening" foods and still lose weight. Not true, says Dr. Mayer.

2. Be prudent about portion size. For example, there is a 200 calorie difference between a three-ounce hamburger and a five-ounce hamburger.

3. Count every calorie Every calorie. Don't forget the "little" snacks. There are more than 800 calories in only two fistfuls of peanuts.

4. Cook lean — it makes a big difference. The so-called fattening potato contains only about 100 calories when baked or boiled. One tablespoon of butter doubles the calories.

5. Beware of "wet" calories. Calories in drinks are easily overlooked. There are 320 calories in two small martinis or manhattans.

6. Stop leaning on protein. Protein contains about 120 calories per ounce, the same as carbohydrates. Contrary to popular belief, no food is "pure" protein.

7. Cut down the easy way — on sugar. No difference exists between the "quick energy" of sugar and the presumably harder-to-use-up calories of ordinary carbohydrates, fat and protein.

8. Clear up the cholesterol confusion. Food that may be low in cholesterol is not necessarily low in calories. Margarine and butter, for example, have about the same amount of calories.

9. Don't worry about water or salt. Cutting down on salt by itself won't reduce your weight, and water has no calories.

10. Balance both sides of your calories expense account. Dieting depends not only on how much weight you take in, but how much you take out.

Engagement Of Couple Is Announced; Rite In June

CHRISTINA DUNN
To be wed

Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Dunn of Marina del Rey have announced the engagement of their daughter, Christina Dunn of San Rafael, to Bruce G. Miller of Corte Madera.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Miller of Corte Madera.

The bride-elect is the sister of Arthur H. Dunn of Hawaii and Mrs. Jim Kassis of Fair Oaks. She is a graduate of Agoura High School and is employed at the Emporium Marin at Northgate Shopping Mall.

Bruce is the brother of David C. Miller III and Colin A. Miller and the grandson of Emil Tarradas of Larkspur. He is a graduate of Redwood High School, attended the College of Marin and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in San Francisco.

The engaged pair is planning to be married June 3 at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur.

The Soft Look

Designers talk of the soft, feminine look for spring. In one instance, it's also the little girl look, in short puffed sleeves on tissue wool dresses for daytime. The idea: Chester Weinberg's.

Chinese Look Is Strong One

The Chinese influence is so strong in the new season's clothes that about the only characteristic not yet seen is the coolie's queue on the models.

Instad, the professionals showing the fashions to buyers and press have gone back to the Hollywood movie glamour girl types of the 1930s and '40s for coiffure inspiration.

This means long bobs, hair flowing freely over the shoulders, softly curled at the ends.

A GINGHAM TREE

Mill Valley Church Is Scene Of Wedding

Kathleen Parodi of Belvedere became the bride of John Noble of San Francisco Saturday afternoon in a ceremony at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley. A reception followed at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Carol Arrighi of Burlingame was matron of honor, and David Brewer of Tiburon was best man. Guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, John Parodi of Belvedere and Stephen Richard Parodi of Arcata.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe the couple will live in San Rafael.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Stephen L. Parodi of Belvedere. She is a third grade teacher at Larkspur-Corte Madera School. Mrs. Mary Parodi of Daly City is her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Noble of San Francisco are the bridegroom's parents, and Mrs. Patrick Greene and Dorothy G. Noble, both of San Francisco, are his sisters. He is a graduate of Abraham Lincoln High School in San Francisco and attends the University of California. John is employed by Earth Satellite Corporation in Berkeley.

The bride was graduated from Redwood High School and U.C. at Davis.

Closer To Body

Spring clothes move closer to the body in many ways- with belts, either of self-fabric or separate from the dress, and with new-looking princess shapes, bias cuts that hug the wasitline and end in a wide, flaring skirt.

Their Common Goal: Working To Establish Equal Right For All

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Approximately 40 doctors, lawyers, educators and other professionals met in Los Angeles Nov. 13 to consider a common goal.

It was the first annual meeting of the California State Chapter of the Women's Equity Action League (WEAL), a group which hopes to appeal to women — and men — who want to work for equal rights.

"Our most important decisions," said chapter president Doris Seward, "is the way in which we work — with facts, education of people, legislation, litigation... without wrath or vengeance."

Speaker Ruth Church Gupta, a San Francisco attorney and national advisory board member of WEAL, outlined the objections most people have to the Equal Rights Amendment, now in the Judiciary Committee of the U.S. Senate. "Labor opposes it because they claim it would nullify protection labor laws, which are already down the drain because of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

"Drafting women is the other big argument, but I don't think anyone should be drafted." The amendment is expected to come before the senate in February.

Marion Ash, editor-publisher of Skirting the Capitol, backed the non-militatn approach. "Kindness is the best way to turn people on," she said.

"We must counteract the tendency of the new media to pit working women against housewives," she commented, explaining that the choices available to women are what is important. She noted that the equation of femininity with dependency must be discarded. "Look what it does to our welfare rolls," she added.

Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, attended the meeting briefly, as did Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills, and Assemblywoman Yvonne Brathwaite, D-Los Angeles.

ASSEMBLYMAN WARREN called women's rights "the greatest movement that this country will experience — hopefully the majority of us will respond."

The three assembly members are among several legislators who have shown their concern by introducing and supporting legislation affecting women's rights.

In their first official act, the California WEAL members passed resolutions supporting the Equal Rights Amendment and amendment of House Resolution 1746 to its original form.

HR 1746, as introduced by California Rep. Augustus Hawkins, would give the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) enforcement authority and extend its coverage. However a similar — but unsatisfactory — version was introduced by Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Illinois, HR. 6760.

IN SEPARATE resolutions the group urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to sign AB 732, which would prevent public institutions of higher education from refusing admission to graduate programs on the basis of sex, and AB 734, which would authorize establishment of child care centers on college campuses.

Pre-School Vaccinations By Fall '72

Pre-school vaccination of children against "DPT" — diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be required in California by fall 1972, the State Department of Public Health reminds parents.

Immunization against these childhood diseases was authorized by the legislature this year, and is in addition to current requirements for vaccination against measles and polio as a condition for first school entry.

Dr. James Chin, chief of the state communicable disease control program, advised parents to check family health records to determine if a child already has been immunized for DPT. He said administrative regulations are being drafted to implement the bill that will become law early next year.

The DPT immunization law was enacted because in recent years vaccinations have slackened among children in California. Most local health departments will provide DPT immunization without charge in cases where families are unable to afford private care.

Although no major outbreaks of these diseases have occurred here in recent years, Dr. Chin said several other states have reported outbreaks of diphtheria in population groups where immunization levels are low.

FABRIC SECRETS

JOAN CROSSLEY

What are the preliminaries you should follow when cutting out a new dress? First of all, test your fabric for its reaction to heat and moisture. How you will need to care for it will determine what it is used for. Use a steam iron to straighten the ends of the fabric if this is necessary. Next, compare your body measurements with those on the pattern envelope. Make all alterations necessary before you cut. Choose the style you wish to make. Pin the pattern to the fabric parallel to the grain. Be sure to use cutting lines. The better your garment is made, the easier it will be to wear and care for.

These and many other useful hints are cheerfully given by the knowledgeable personnel at FABRIC LAND. 936 4th St. There is still time for you to redecorate your home for the Holidays — see the beautiful drapery and upholstery materials at Fabric Land. We have a wide selection to fit every decor. Open: Mon-Tues-Thurs-Sat 9:30 AM - 5:30 PM, Wed-Fri 9:30 AM - 9 PM, Sun Noon - 5 PM.

HELPFUL HINT: For cutting double thicknesses, fold the fabric right sides together.

Bill Cosby Proves Real Winner In Marin Debut

By GEORGE NEVIN

Perhaps it was the hall or perhaps it was the man, but Saturday's appearance of Bill Cosby at the Marin Veteran's Memorial Building was more like a friendly get-together among friends than a comic performance.

The plush, 2,088-seat auditorium was almost full —perhaps 1,800 attended each of the two performances — but Cosby managed an intimacy which transcended the auditorium's size.

In the words of one of his album titles, Bill Cosby is a very funny fellow, and more than that he's real, the genuine article, a down-to-earth sort.

He was very much at ease with his audience, but at the same time alert to what it responded to, what it liked. Much of his humor, of course, was in the delivery rather than the jokes themselves.

When Cosby says he spent the first two years of his marriage trying to keep his wife from finding out he was a human being — jumping out of bed in the middle of the night, for instance, to brush his teeth so he wouldn't have bad breath — it's evident his fans have been the same route and can empathize.

That's what makes a successful performing artist, after all — the ability to empathize with a lot of people, to make the oft-lived experience universal — and Cosby has a triple helping of that ability.

Much of Saturday's performance dealt with the funny side of marriage, and although the audience seemed mostly to consist of teens and young couples on dates, no one seemed to have any trouble relating to Cosby's stories.

That's because we were seeing his marriage through his eyes, which added an ironic little twist to everything.

He told of the "psychological games married couples play." When he's angry with his wife, he said, he puts on pajamas before he goes to bed: "That way she knows ain't nothing happening."

But then she turns the tables when "she comes out of the bathroom and she's got curlers with razor blades on 'em, and she's wearing a burlap sack nightgown with barbed wire around the vital parts."

When the curtain first opened, Cosby set the informal, intimate tone for the night by playing an instrumental number with the backup band of Bill Withers, his co-act.

It took a while for the audience to realize that the drummer on the stage playing the simple but competent solo was actually Cosby, so natural did he look.

Withers, too, was relaxed as he delivered a series of his own compositions, interspersed with homey patter about his Navy days and growing up in Slapfork, W. Va.

He plays and sings in an unassuming but effective blues style, and the fact that he writes all his material lifts him a cut above many bluesmen.

He sings of summer nights in Harlem, and losing his woman ("Next album," he promised us, "I'll get to keep all the women") and his Grandma's hands. His sincerity makes you believe in what he experiences, to see what he's seeing.

Cosby said he and Withers probably will return to Marin for more performances. If they're as good in the future as they were Saturday, they'll be welcome.

More than 10 million longhorn cattle were driven from Texas to northern markets in the decade following the Civil War.

Teen Held In Girls' Deaths; Autopsies Set

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) —Autopsies were planned today on two sisters, age 5 and 6, whose bodies were found in a garbage bin behind their apartment Saturday.

Police have arrested Pamela Suzzan Watkins, 19, on two counts of murder and one count of drug possession in connection with the deaths of Tinya and Shelvya Aldridge.

Miss Watkins, who arrived in the San Francisco Bay area from Southern California a few weeks ago, was hired by Mrs. Shirley Aldridge a live-in babysitter in return for room and board.

The bodies of the children were found by two college students Saturday lying beside each other dressed in pajamas and wrapped in bedsheets. Detectives said the sisters had apparently been strangled.

Planners Gather

The Novato Planning Commission will have an orientation session for neighborhood committees on revision of the Novato area general plan at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House.

EDITING CHORE — Author and codirector Thomas A. Hanley (left) of Santa Venetia, works with partner Peter Tar-Sian in preparing "What About Jane: An Erotic Soap Opera" for its premiere next month. The two men, plus Richard Hoyt, have formed Cinmarin, a film company which they said may revolutionize political and social attitudes toward erotic films in the United States.

NOT A STAG-HOUSE TYPE

Former Deputy Turns To Erotic Film Making

By JEFF GREER

A self-labeled "reformed male chauvinist," who formerly was a Marin County sheriff's deputy and military intelligence agent, is completing an erotic film he claims will strike a blow in behalf of women's liberation.

"What About Jane: an Erotic Soap Opera" is the title of the full-length, color opus written, co-produced and co-directed by 30-year-old Thomas A. Hanley of Santa Venetia.

Hanley turned in his badge and gun to the Marin County Sheriff's department in June. He resigned after an impasse over department regulations permitting superior officers to inspect the notebook Hanley kept as a security officer in the Marin Civic Center.

He said at the time he planned to go into "some type of in-depth media work."

That in-depth field, Hanley revealed the other day, is "erotic — not pornographic" films. But, Hanley reported, "I don't want my film to open in Marin because I don't want the taxpayers of Marin to spend a million dollars and seven months in court to decide whether my film is pornographic or not."

Hanley and his partners, Richard Hoyt and Peter Tar-Sian, are negotiating with a San Francisco movie house — the Sutter — to premiere "What About Jane" next month.

Hanley said he wished for an even better location for the premiere. "I want a guy in Terra Linda to be able to take his wife to see my film without having to sneak through" the run-down neighborhoods where most of the Bay Area sex movies are shown.

Hanley said production is the first United States-made erotic film to rise above being a mere strung-together collection of stag movies. It was shot with a 280-page script; the actors were "thrilled" to show they had "real dramatic talent" rather than merely bodies, Hanley insisted.

Filming required 16 days in Berkeley, San Francisco and Mill Valley locations, rather than the one-day shooting time the Bay Area's sex films traditionally budget, he explained.

One of the four stars, Emily Smith, was featured in a full-page picture in Playboy magazine in October. The other female lead, a woman who goes by the screen name, "Martha Strawberry," is a veteran of San Francisco underground films, as is one of the male leads. The other male lead is an amateur actor,Hanley said.

The film's creator said the film "strikes a blow for women's liberation" because it attempts to solve the problems of an attractive, disciplined girl whose marriage to the handsome, athletic, hard-working youth of her dreams turns sour because of his romantic clumsiness and insecurity.

Through the friendship of another couple, Jane and her husband learn to be equals in sexual freedom, Hanley said.

"I'm putting my clean-cut, red-blooded American middle class image on the line" to be able to screen "What About Jane," Hanley said. "I believe in these films," he stressed between gritted teeth. "Erotic films need to be legitimized. We can't have blue-noses controlling our free access to such art forms. The people who enjoy erotic films have to stand up for their constitutional rights to do so."

Hanley decried use of police manpower to curb sex films, erotic literature, marijuana use and other "crimes without victims." "If all the police busy with these crimes without victims were oriented toward stopping crimes of violence, we would save a lot of money," he argued.

He said "about 25 per cent" of the younger men on most Bay Area police forces agree with him. "And so does my Army reserve unit at the Presidio. They all want to see me release the film."

And, "it's a woman's film, too. I want to get it into (a movie house) where women can see it while they're spending a day Christmas shopping in the city," Hanley said. "It's not in any sense of the word pornography."

Continental films such as "I Am Curious, Yellow" may have a plot, but are all "teasers" filled with "hypocrisy" in sexual matters, Hanley said. He claimed his film, in the genre of soap opera, was a pioneering move that "may not be an academy winner, but I hope it will encourage others."

"It only cost $12,500, and we know it's not going to be a great work of art." The producers hope it may lead to social and to some extent political reform, Hanley said.

The author said he originally wrote himself into a leading role.

"But by the shooting stage it became apparent I'd have so many worries on my mind about directing and producing the film, I'd never be able to concentrate on a sexually intense scene."

A scene when "I did play a nude beach boy" wound up on the cutting room floor, Hanley recalled.

He said his wife disagreed with his ideas of sexual freedom, "but we're very up-front about it."

As to the community reaction to his new "in-depth media" experiment, Hanley admitted "I don't know how it'll resolve itself. As our culture is changing so rapidly, in order for sexuality also to evolve, people have to communicate via the media."

"I'm a little concerned about repercussions against my 9-year-old daughter, and I'm not completely convinced I won't have crosses burned on my lawn," the ex-deputy said. "But I love this neighborhood and want to continue living here in peace.

"I hope Marin is a mature enough place," said the Tamalpais High School graduate Hanley, a Phi Beta Kappa, who holds a master's degree in social anthropology from the Uiversity of California at Berkeley.

He belittled the idea that erotic films and literature beget sex crimes. "Then why hasn't Sweden had any increase in sex crimes since it became so permissive?" he asked.

In America, he insisted, "the violence of pro football, the violence of television wrestling are really pornographic. But because they exist, people are able to obtain a release. If people understand themselves, they'll no longer feel threatened by erotic cinema."

Two Are Halted As Theft Suspects

A 20-year-old Mill Valley youth was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday, and his 17-year-old companion into Marin Juvenile Hall, after a Fairfax policeman said he caught them burglarizing an apartment building.

Christopher Kevin Greene of 906 Greenhill Road was held at Marin County Jail on suspicion of two counts of burglary and one of concealing stolen property. Bail was set at $11,000 and he was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Booked at juvenile hall was Andrew Norman Gjesdal of 268 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley.

Sgt. Paul E. Simpson said he responded to a report of a prowler at an apartment building at 2525 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 2:40 a.m. yesterday.

When he attempted to enter a storage area at the building, the door wouldn't open all the way, Simpson said, but he could see a man — later identified as Greene — lying on his back at the end of the storage room.

Thinking he might be walking into a trap, Simpson looked around the door, spotted Gjesdal with a knife in his hand, and seized the weapon.

Following their arrests, Simpson said, property was found in their car and at Greene's residence which allegedly had been taken in a burglary Nov. 7 of the same building.

One of several screwdrivers the two had in their possession, Simpson said, was later reported as having been among tools stolen late Saturday or early yesterday from a tool room at an apartment building at 2575 Sir Francis Drake, also Fairfax.

Bedroom Tax Up For Adoption

A bedroom tax on new construction in Tiburon, which breezed through the Tiburon City Council in first reading, will be up for adoption when the council meets at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

There was no opposition to the proposal at its introduction before the council, although similar taxes have been fought in San Rafael and Novato.

The council also will consider on second reading an ordinance declaring it no longer intends to condemn Strawberry Cove for a park.

Dope Suspect Pleads Innocent

David Griffith Taft, 24, of Larkspur, has pleaded innocent to a felony charge of marijuana possession.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 7.

Taft was stopped on Highway 101 on Nov. 7 in connection with a traffic accident in Larkspur. Police said they found marijuana in his possession.

Plans For Academy To Be Studied

New uses for the San Rafael Military Academy campus and a permit to rebuild the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael will highlight the agenda for tomorrow's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of city hall.

The Marin Academy wants to use two rooms of the military academy to house 22 students in private classes for youngsters 6 to 13, on weekdays.

Clairbourn Marin School has applied for a permit to use five classrooms in the military academy and adjoining former Jewish Community Center to house 42 pupils in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Ali Akbar College of Music wants to house 38 students in the academy dormitories, and conduct classes for up to 100 music students in Foster Hall.

The Ananda Marga Yoga Society also has requested a permit to use the former military academy office as an office and classroom for up to 15 students.

The Presbyterian Church seeks to retain its nonconforming use of land, zoned R-3, after demolishing the historic bluestone edifice and replacing it with a smaller, modern building.

Ferry Service Set For Winter Runs

Harbor Carriers will continue both its Tiburon to San Francisco commuter runs and its weekend and holiday sightseeing trips to Tiburon and Angel Island during the winter months, according to Lester Bedient, general manager.

The firm had discontinued scheduled tourist service to Tiburon and Angel Island in past winters, he explained. "However, there is enough interest on continuing service from Fisherman's Wharf to these points, and we will continue to do so until further notice," he added.

The weekend and holiday sightseeing service will include four triangular trips each day between San Francisco, Tiburon and Angel Island.

The Monday through Friday commuters' ferryboats will leave Tiburon at 6:50, 7:30 and 8:10 a.m. Marin-bound ferryboats will leave the San Francisco ferry terminal at 4 p.m., 5:15, 5:45 and 7:10 p.m.

Air Reserve Unit To Move

Hamilton Air Force Base is scheduled to gain a new complement of men early next year when an Air Force reserve unit is transferred to the base.

The 452nd Military Airlift Wing headquarters, now at March Air Force Base, will be relocated at Hamilton, according to Maj. Gen. Russell F. Gustke, region commander.

The swtich will provide 16 civilian job openings and 80 reserve openings at the base, according to Capt. Joseph W. Corfield, public information officer.

Civilian employees now at March Air Force Base will be eligible for reassignment but it isn't expected reservists will switch with the unit, Corfield said.

'Phone-In' Set In Reed District

A "phone-in" to allow parents and residents of the Reed School District to discuss issues and complaints with school officials will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said he will be available at the district office to answer questions called in by telephone. A trustee, an elementary and a middle school principal, who have not yet been named, will man other lines.

The purpose of the phone-in, Giovanniello said, "will be to open up a direct-line of communication between the district and parents or citizens whose personal daily responsibilities are such that they are unable to participate in the activities of their child's school or unable to attend board meetings."

The four telephone numbers for the program may be obtained by calling the district office either in advance or tomorrow night.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Blackwood Convention Is Most Familiar Method In Finding Aces

When the early bidding tells you that the partnership cards are probably good enough to produce a slam, you usually want to find out about aces and kings. If the opponents cannot take the first two tricks, you will take your chances on winning 12 tricks. The most familiar way of finding out about aces is the Blackwood Convention, as illustrated in today's hand.

♠ Q 10 9 4
◇ A 6 5
♣ A Q 7 4

1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♡	Pass
6 ♠	All Pass

SLAM ACTION

After North's jump to three spades, South wants to be in a slam if North has two or three aces; he wants to stay out of slam if North has only one ace. (If North is aceless, South will get to five spades and will probably go down. The life of a bridge player is not all wine and roses.)

To find out about North's aces, South jumps to four no-trump. This bid asks North to bid five clubs with no aces or with all four; five diamonds, with one ace; five hearts, with two aces; five spades, with three aces.

North obediently bids five hearts, showing two aces; and South thereupon jumps to six spades. North does not even dream of bidding again because this series of bids indicates very strongly that an ace is missing.

IMPORTANT SPOT

The bidding depends on aces, but the play depends on spot cards. Declarer takes the first trick with the ace of diamonds, draws three rounds of trumps and leads a heart. West captures the king of hearts with the ace and leads another diamond, forcing South to ruff.

South cashes the queen and jack of hearts, discovering the bad heart break. Declarer then leads the seven of hearts.

A GOOD HEART

West covers with the ten, and dummy's last trump is used to ruff. Now South can return to his hand and cash the good six of hearts.

If the six and five of hearts were exchanged, South might well go down at his vulnerable slam. It would be very unlucky to find the trumps breaking 3-0; the hearts, 5-1, and the king of clubs offside.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one spade, and partner has responded four spades.

It is up to you again, with:
♠ - A K J 8 5 2
♥ - K Q J 7 6
♣ - 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner's shutout response is meant to discourage tries for a slam. Your partner wouldn't dream of making so discouraging a bid if he had two aces, and you cannot make a slam unless he has two aces.

Viet GI Heroin Use Drops, Says U.S. Aide

TRAVIS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A U.S. Defense Department official says the number of heroin users among returning Vietnam veterans has dropped from four to 3 1-2 per cent.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, assistant Defense Secretary for health and environment, said that, despite the decrease, drug abuse in both civilian life and the military will "be with us as long as you and I should live."

Jr. White House
Unbelievably exciting if you prefer the dignified charm of the old world, custom fixtures, wool carpeting, warm paneling, stately trees and the like. The grand music room is acoustically perfect. The formal living and dining room as well as the library have fireplaces. A paneled office, country kitchen and butler's pantry complete the main floor. Five bedrooms, 2 with fireplaces, and a children's recreation room complete the 2nd floor. Servants quarters (or additional bedrooms if you prefer) are on the 3rd level. 5½ baths. Additionally there is a separate house for guests, a real orchid growing hot house, an aviary and a delightful outdoor kitchen and BBQ area complete with outdoor fireplace for entertaining any time of the year. You will agree that this estate is underpriced at $195,000. For viewing call CAL REALTY, 771-4900; evenings & weekends, 456-3398.

This truck is so close to new you can't tell it from the 1972 model on the Chev showroom floor. Never usej as a business or work truck — this orange-red half-ton pickup has been used mainly as a family camper unit and it still has the custom camper with it at this price.

There isn't a ding or dent on the exterior and the interior and the bed are so clean — you can eat dinner in either area. Fully equipped including V-8 engine, w/w tires, chrome bumpers, standard transmission, custom cab, etc. 456556.

Manila Kidnaper Gets The Chair

MANILA (UPI)—An ex-convict who bragged of killing at least 10 persons has been sentenced to die in the electric chair for kidnaping a 14-yearold American school girl, murdering a maid and wounding the girl's mother.

Silvestre Abad Mate, 31, pleaded guilty Friday to the Nov. 1 kidnaping of Susan "Suzie" Butler, the murder of the Filipino maid and the attempted murder of Carolyn Arnoldy Butler.

Mate smiled when Judge Onofre Villaluz pronounced sentence at the end of the half hour proceedings.

"I wanted to feel how it is to die on the electric chair," Mate had told newsmen and investigators following his capture less than 24 hours after his dramatic escape by helicopter.

Paper Offers Murder Rewards

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—A Sacramento newspaper has started a "secret witness" program offering $10,000 in rewards for information about the murders of four young women.

The Sacramento Bee, in cooperation with the police and sheriff's departments, pledged Friday to pay $2,500 in each case for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

Witnesses who send information to the Bee will use a "secret witness" letter and not sign their name. A code number, designated by the witness, will be used instead.

Ceramics Sale

The College of Marin will holds its annual silent-auction ceramic sale from 7 to 9 p.m. today in the fine arts gallery of the college. Proceeds will be used to assist the ceramic program.

Jacques Laurent Wins Top Prize

PARIS (UPI)—French writer Jacques Laurent today won the Prix Goncourt, France's most prestigious literary prize for the novel, for his 600-page work, "Les Betises" (stupidities).

The book, although written in novel form, is a largely philosophical and autobiographical account of the author's experiences as a novelist, soldier, and journalist.

49er Mistakes Prove Costly; Rams Win 17-6

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—If they paid off on first downs the 49ers would have beaten the Rams 21-8.

San Francisco had most of the statistics Sunday at the Coliseum but could not score a touchdown. The Rams intercepted four John Brodie passes, three by Gene Howard and one by Jim Nettles.

The Rams won it 17-6 before a highly partisan and noisy crowd of 80,050.

The victory moved the Rams into first place in the western division of the National Football Conference with their 6-3-1 record. The 49ers fell back by a half game into second place with their 6-4-0 record.

The 49er scoring came on two field goals by Bruce Gossett, one of 20 yards at 13:56 in the first quarter and the other 26 yards at 13:09 in the second.

The Rams moved in front at 3:31 in the second period after Howard intercepted a pass in his own end zone and ran it out to the Ram 32. Five plays later Roman Gabriel hit Jack Snow for a 13-yard TD.

On the last scrimmage play before the half, Nettles picked off a pass and scampered 29 yards down the south sideline untouched into the end zone.

The only scoring in the second half was a 49-yard field goal by David Ray at 7:59 in the third quarter. That made it 17-6 for the Rams, the final score.

The game was a hard-hitting one to be sure. The 49ers were penalized nine times for 108 yards while the Rams took only three for 25.

Brodie was penalized twice for grounding the ball intentionally. The second time this happened, in the third quarter, 49er center Forrest Blue became overheated and the referee Jack Vest, levied another 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct. It was really Blue's language—a comment on the official's personal life—that offended the ears of Vest.

Another penalty was a personal foul call on linebacker Dave Wilcox who gave Ram running back Larry Smith an elbow smash to the jaw when he was already down on a play in the fourth quarter. Smith came out of the game with a mild concussion, according to the Rams.

Prothro said, "The 49ers moved the ball well. Our defense definitely did not ball-control them. The pass interceptions of course helped. It was a brutal game. In fact, I think it's the hardest hitting game I've seen from the sidelines."

Coach Dick Nolan declined to get into a controversy about the penalties against his 49ers.

He recalled that it was four years since the 49ers failed to score a touchdown.

"It was almost four years to the day," he said. "It was in the 10th game of the season—like this one—in 1967 when Green Bay beat us there 13-0."

Asked about the breakdown in 49er offensive drives, he said, "We couldn't hold onto the ball. On two or three of those interceptions, the ball bounced off the receivers' hands. John had some good throws. The Rams improved since they beat us in San Francisco."

That was on Oct. 10, and the Rams won 20-13 despite the fact their passing yardage was minus 18 yards.

At the Coliseum Sunday, the Rams netted only 49 yards in the air.

Brodie completed 23 of 40 passes for 297 yards. He was sacked once for 11 yards by rookie linebacker Isiah Robertson so the net was 28-6.

Gabriel was sacked twice, each time for 10 yards—by Skip Vanderbundt and Cedric Hardman. Gabriel completed only five of 16 passes for 69 yards and had one intercepted (by Bruce Taylor).

On the ground, the 49ers gained netted 96 while the Rams had the edge here with 124.

The Rams won't get much rest—they play the Cowboys at Dallas on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day. The 49ers play the Jets at New York next Sunday.

RETAIN LEAD

Raiders Pin 34-33 Loss On Frustrated San Diego

OAKLAND (UPI)—The record books always will show that the Oakland Raiders defeated the San Diego Chargers, 34-33, on Nov. 21, 1971 but in John Hadl's mind it will always be the game he blew.

With the Raiders in front, 34-31, one minute and 24 seconds left and the Chargers on the Oakland four, Hadl ran out of his pocket and threw the ball toward the endzone.

Linebacker Dan Conners picked off the wobbly throw two yards into the endzone and ran it out to the seven. Hadl completed two passes earlier in a similar scrambling situation but this time he might have been better off running the ball out of bounds instead of throwing because he really didn't have a clear view and the Chargers still would have had a chance to score a touchdown or tying field goal.

The Raiders, who enjoyed a 10-point lead with a little less than five minutes to go, weren't home free even after Conners' interception.

They tried three running plays to work the clock down to eight seconds, and before kicker Jerry DePoyster was sent in, coach John Madden had a talk with him.

"Under no circumstances kick the ball," Madden told DePoyster.

Madden explained that the kick could be blocked, it could be returned for a touchdown or San Diego could call for a fair catch and have time to kick a tying field goal.

So DePoyster, a second year man from Wyoming, did what he was told, which was to run around in the endzone as long as he could and then fall down for a safety.

Mike Garrett scored two of San Diego's touchdowns, the first on an 11-yard run and the second on an 18-yard pass from Hadl. Garrett ran 44 yards and caught four passes for 81 more in the first half but injured his left ankle just before intermission and did not return.

The Raiders fell behind 24-10 in the first half but bounced back in the second as Daryle Lamonica went to a passing game. Lamonica threw three scoring passes, two in the second half, to wipe out that early deficit and push Oakland ahead by 10 points at 34-24.

PREP PLAY

Drake Cagers To Host Balboa

The time has come to drag your friends and loved ones away from the world of the instant replay and the Cosell-Meredith-Gifford triangular talk-athon. Basketball season is here.

Four of the eight Marin County Athletic League teams begin play before Thanksgiving in non-conference games against assorted regional rivals.

The season's inaugural game takes place tomorrow afternoon at 3:45, when Balboa of San Francisco crosses the Golden Gate to take on Drake High School.

Three more teams open their schedules Wednesday. Marin Catholic tunes up against its alumni at 7 p.m., while Novato journeys to Vallejo at 7 and San Rafael travels to Sonoma for an 8 p.m. confrontation. Drake plays its second game Wednesday also, meeting Galileo in San Francisco at 3:30.

Redwood and Terra Linda don't open until Friday, and Tamalpais doesn't play until Saturday. San Marin opens Dec. 3.

Drake coach Bob Fitzhenry is still experimenting with his lineup. "We have 16 men on the squad, and at least 12 will play Tuesday," he said. "Those who don't will play Wednesday. We want to get a good look at everybody early."

The probable starting lineup consists of Jit Singh and Dave Wilkinson at the guards, Mark Daubenfeld at one forward and John Channell at center. The other forward position is being contested between Greg Shaw and Tom Carlisle.

Drake will rely on quickness to offset a lack of height, and its fast-break strategy calls for liberal substitution. Non-starters likely to see action including center Dan Trimble and guards Ed Chavez and Ric Herbert from last year's championship freshman team.

SPORT NOTES

By RALPH CHATOIAN

"We want Mira!" went the shout from a disgruntled 49er fan after yesterday's fiasco in Los Angeles. "Bring Y.A. Tittle out of retirement," said another. "Even Steve Spurrier couldn't be THAT bad," bellowed another. It was a television horror show.

But John Brodie, the man who was on top of the pro football world just a couple of months ago when he was the cover boy for Sports Illustrated, has run his interception total up to 21, and that's a lot of completions to the wrong guys.

TRUE, LADY Luck is putting her grip on some of those interceptions, two from yesterday's 17-6 loss to the Rams, but it just isn't the same Brodie who led the Niners to the Western Division NFC championship last year.

Two of the four interceptions thrown by Brodie yesterday bounced off 49ers into the waiting hands of Ram defensive back Gene Howard who stole three, altogether. Another Brodie pass seemed a sure touchdown but it trickled off the fingertips of sure-handed tight end Ted Kwalick. There is some luck to this game of football. And all of Brodie's is bad.

WHEN YOU add up all of Brodie's 40 passes and 23 completions yesterday you come up with 286 yards, but no touchdowns. That's how the whole game went. The San Franciscans out-first downed the Rams, 21-8, but lost. When San Francisco gets near the other team's goal line, something seems to happen to all the players. The evil demons come down from the clouds and whisper obscenities in their ears.

Brodie got hit with penalties twice for grounding the ball and once for throwing a pass to a tackle. It just wasn't his day as the Ram defensive line continually hounded him into mistakes. They kept the pressure on.

But poor John wasn't the only one making mistakes. Linebacker Dave Wilcox with a late elbow in the face of a Ram and center Forrest Blue with a late clip after the ball was dead helped run the penalty yardage to 108 against the 49ers. Some of the calls against the 49ers were bad, but they all weren't. The 49ers just made some dumb mistakes.

IT HAS been 10 games now, six for wins and four for losses, and the 49ers haven't been the team that most predicted. The defense has carried it through the season, but the experts said this team was going to be a big scorer, a team to explode for touchdowns. A pin in a balloon makes more noise.

But there are still four games left, and maybe the 49ers will catch the Rams before it is all over. If the Niners do make it to the title, they'll owe thanks to other teams in the NFL. After all, the Rams beat 'em twice.

There's always the back door.

Guard Elmer Collett of Mill Valley played the second half yesterday in place of Randy Beisler and had the rough duty of trying to keep Ram Coy Bacon away from Brodie.

New York Tramples Seals

NEW YORK (UPI) —The California Golden Seals don't have to play the New York Rangers again until Jan. 21 and that might be too soon.

Each time the Seals have taken to the ice this season against the Rangers, it wound up as target practice with California the target and New York doing all the practicing. Sunday night the Rangers bombed the Seals 12-1 to slightly improve on their 8-1 shelling of California in Oakland Nov. 5, the two worst drubbings handed the Seals this season.

The loss ended a dismal road trip for the Northern California hockey team which was able to win only once in seven starts. Opponents netted 43 goals in the seven games compared to 15 for the Seals.

SEALS SCORE

New York was leading 4-0 in the second period Sunday night when Norm Ferguson scored a disputed goal for the Seals with 2:07 remaining. The goal judge never saw the puck cross the goalline but he was overruled by referee Art Skov following a conference with his two linemen.

RANGERS INSPIRED

A television replay later proved Skov correct in his call. But the Rangers argued bitterly because it was the eighth consecutive game in which Gilles Villemure, the New York goalie, had lost a shutout by allowing a single goal.

That fired up the Rangers and they took it out in record fashion on Seals goalies Gilles Meloche and Lyle Carter. New York scored eight times in the final period to set team records for most goals in a period, most goals in a game and biggest winning margin.

Jean Ratelle scored four goals on his first four shots and rookie Pierre Jarry set another team record by tallying twice within eight seconds of the final period.

ANOTHER MARK SET

New York also established a league record with a team total of 23 points in a single period, breaking by one the previous mark.

Those should be strong arguments for the Seals to request a transfer from the NHL to the Western Hockey League.

HOUSTON HOT

Warriors Fall In San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Consistency is not part of the repertoire of the Golden State Warriors.

After playing one of their best games in years in handing the Milwaukee Bucks and Kareem Jabbar only their second defeat of the season 107-100 Saturday night at Oakland, the Warriors turned around and scored 10 measly points in the fourth quarter the following night to fall prey to lowly Houston 115-96 at San Diego.

Rookies Mike Newlin from Utah and Cliff Meeley from Colorado scored eight and seven points, respectively, during the final 12 minutes to personally outscore the entire Warrior team. Newlin finished with a game-high 31 points, his best night ever in the National Basketball Association.

The weekend games were a study in contrast for the Warriors. They whipped a team with a 17-1 record and turned around 24 hours later to lose to a club with a 3-17 mark.

The games also were a study in contrast for guys like Jeff Mullins and Nate Thurmond.

The spidery 6-11 Thurmond was too busy Saturday night holding Jabbar to 17 points to worry about scoring (six points). But against Houston, Thurmond opened up for 17 points.

Mullins tallied 28 points against the Bucks and then could only hit on three of 12 shots against the Rockets to end up with a season low of seven points.

Suyderhoud Rated 11th In Tennis

Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo is rated 11th in the boys 18 singles in Northern California Tennis Association tentative rankings released today.

Dan Tierney of Tiburon is seventh in boys 16 singles, the highest ranking given to a Marin Countian. Henry Jacobsen of Belvedere is 27th, Mark Strasser of Tiburon 34th and Marcus Robinson of Mill Valley 35th in the same category.

In boys 14 singles, Jacobsen is ninth, Cary Stansbury of Tiburon 11th and Eric Raney of Belvedere 38th. In boys 12 singles, Herman Bauer of Tiburon is 11th, Robert Greene of San Rafael 18th and Charles Bolcom of Belvedere 21st.

Rankings are subject to the formal approval of the NCTA's board of directors at its meeting Dec. 15.

KARRAS CLAIMS

Drug Use 'Common' In NFL

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Detroit Lions defensive tackle Alex Karras says use of drugs and injections by National Football League players is "a very common thing."

"I've taken shots, or novocaine injections, and I've taken pep pills, and so have a lot of other Lions and so do players on almost any team you'd care to mention," Karras said in an article in today's Detroit Free Press.

"It's a very common thing," Karras wrote. "Some players take 'em by the handful, as many as 40 before a ball game...so it's not unusual at all, no more unusual than players taking novocaine shots so that they can play over injuries."

The article was one of a series, entitled "In My Time," about Karras' football career.

Karras said the use of pills depended largely on how the team was doing. He said teams which were winning or had inspirational coaches might not need "uppers" to "get up" for a game. Other players, he said, need pills to perform regardless of how well the team is doing.

Karras said he had taken "maybe about 20" pep pills in his career, "but I never really needed them because by my nature, I guess, I could always 'get up' for a ballgame without help of drugs or anyting else, except the idea of the game."

Fords, Chevys, Plymouths and American Compacts. Other models higher.

We do a lot more than reline your brakes...here's what we do:

We replace your worn linings with new bonded brake linings on all four wheels.
Inspect your brake drums for contact with the linings.
We examine your wheel cylinders and master cylinder for leaks.
Brake shoe return springs are checked for proper tension.
Next, we inspect the brake fluid lines for leaks or weak points.
Because wheel bearings can be badly damaged if the original grease has dried and caked, we clean and repack the outer bearings on both front wheels.
The final step is to add heavy duty brake fluid and road test your car.
As you can see ... your money goes a long way at Firestone. It buys you prompt and dependable brake service by expert brake mechanics. Why not give us a try?

GUARANTEED 30,000 MILES OR 3 YEARS

Chico Spanks Sonoma State

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Chico State assured itself of a bid to the Camellia Bowl by piling up 532 net yards Saturday in routing Sonoma State, 53-14, in Rohnert Park.

Both Chico State and UC Davis finished with 5-1 records in the Far Western Conference but Chico State has beaten the Aggies, so the Wildcats were expected to get the bowl nod from FWC directors later today. Chico State finished its regular season at 9-1.

Paul Matthews bucked over from the one twice in the second period to give Chico State a 17-0 halftime lead over the Cossacks, who finished at 2-8 and 0-6 in the FWC. The Wildcats exploded for 36 points in the second half behind quarterbacks Mike Salsedo and Jim Parker.

Salsedo scored on a 36-yard run in the third period, and Parker dived over from the one and flipped a 28-yard touchdown pass to Ken Barber in the final period.

Chico State defenders intercepted five passes to set a FWC record of 38 pass pilfers during the season. The old mark was 37. Sonoma State gained a net of 254 total yards.

Northern Colorado (8-1-1), which wrapped up its second Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championship in three years Saturday, will probably furnish the opposition for Chico State in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento Dec. 11.

IN ATLANTA

'Matured' Falcons Confront Green Bay

ATLANTA (UPI)—The long-suffering Atlanta Falcons, grown to maturity after six seasons of NFL play, seek their first-ever victory over the Green Bay Packers tonight (9 p.m. EST, ABC).

The Packers have beaten the Falcons each year since Atlanta joined the league in 1966, coming from behind late in the final period last year with an 89-yard pass to nip the Falcons 27-24.

Atlanta (4-4-1) continues to improve while Green Bay (3-5-1), although boasting a strong running attack, is not up to the standard of those Vince Lombardi teams that dominated pro football a few years back.

But the Packers have given up a total of only 31 points in their last three games after Coach Dan Devine made three defensive changes and rookie John Brockington (751 yards) and versatile Donnie Anderson (551) are two of the top rushers in the NFC.

Bob Berry, who missed three full games and half of two others after pulling a hamstring, will be Atlanta's starting quarterback tonight. Berry, who ranks as the No. 5 passer in the conference, played the second half of last week's 21-17 loss to the New York Giants.

Statistically, the Falcons and Packers appear about even. Atlanta ranks sixth in the NFC in offense with 297 yards per game and fifth on defense with a yield of 269 yards per game. Green Bay is seventh in offense at 293 yards per game.

Nebraska, Oklahoma Set Battle For Number One

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Nebraska Sports Information Director Don Bryant says the Cornhuskers were so confident of an Orange Bowl bid that he started making an Orange Bowl brochure weeks ago. But right now the New Year's day game is getting short shirft.

"All the emphasis is on Oklahoma," Bryant said, "all we're thinking about is the Oklahoma game."

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney and Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks both rank the nationally televisied Thanksgiving Day meet between their no. 1 (Nebraska) and no. 2 ranked teams as the most important of their careers.

"We're going down there with the idea of staying No. 1," Devaney says, "we'll do everything possible to do it."

Devaney will put his 114-28-6 record up against Fairbank's 39-12-1 mark, and hope that his former pupil doesn't remember everything he was taught back in 1954 when Fairbanks was an end and Devaney an assistant coach at Michigan State University.

Although Fairbanks' tutelage under Devaney was brief, some of Devaney's teaching may have worn off. In his first head coaching job at Oklahoma, Fairbanks has beaten Devaney's Cornhuskers twice in four outings.

Devaney now is worried about Oklahoma's wishbone offense which Fairbanks has used to build one of the most awesome rushing games in the nation.

"It is a formation which certainly presents a lot of defensive problems," Devaney says. "In time, somebody will come up with the most effective way to stop it."

NET TOURNEY FINALE

Laver To Face Ken Rosewall

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rod Laver, tennis' first millionaire, and Ken Rosewall, the old man of the net pros, began preparations today for their $50,000 match Friday, which will determine the 1971 world champion of professional tennis.

To make the finals, the two little Australians had to tame the powerful serves of two of the game's big men —Arthur Ashe of Miami and Tom Okker of The Netherlands —in the World Championship Tennis (WCT) tournament semifinals.

Laver beat Ashe 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 in Sunday's semifinals before 6,500 indoors at Hofheinz Pavilion. It was the 12th straight time Laver has beaten Ashe. The Virginia native has never defeated Laver.

Rosewall, 37, and a pro for 14 years, had an easier time with Okker, who lost his big serve late in the first set and his volley in the final set. The score was 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 --the fourth straight time Rosewall has defeated Okker since losing to him in the semifinals in Forest Hills in 1968.

"I couldn't do anything with my serve," Okker said. "It seemed to put me in trouble all the time with his returns. I tried to stay back and that didn't work."

Rosewall's uncanny placements kept Okker from charging the net, but even by staying back Okker couldn't cover both sideslines.

Rosewall's shots were so accurate that he regularly hit the sideline farthest from Okker, who became more demoralized as the match continued.

"I thought he eased up on his serve," Rosewall said. "I could get his shots fairly early and come to the net. And I've been serving a bit better the last two days."

Rosewall's victory assured him of $20,000 —the second place money —and a total of $106,677 for 1971, the second straight year he has surpassed the $100,000 mark. A triumph over Laver would boost it another $30,000 to $136,677.

Laver, by clinching the $20,000 second place money, raised his total earnings this year to $292,717 and his career total to $1,006,947, the first tennis player to earn more than $1 million on the tour. Laver didn't know it.

"Is that right?" he said when he was told about it. "I haven't kept a close check on that. It's nice to know you're making good money. It's great to be playing well and winning so many tournaments."

Miami Topples Colts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Marv Fleming, the veteran tight end of the Miami Dolphis, recently paid the highest sort of compliment to his coach, Don Shula.

"He comes the closest of anybody to Mr. Vince Lombardi," said the man who played under the legendary Vincent for six years at Green Bay.

Fleming caught a touchdown pass from Bob Griese Sunday to help Miami to a 17-14 win over Baltimore, widening the Dolphins' lead over the Colts to 1 ½ games in the American Conference East.

The victory raised Shula's nine-year coaching record to 89-28-5–a .761 percentage, tops in the league for that span of time.

The win was even more delightful for Shula and the Dolphins since it came against a team he had guided to 71 wins and a Super Bowl appearance in seven years.

Miami used the Lombardi style—power running, tough defense and opportunistic quarterbacking—to defeat the Colts.

The 10-yard Griese-to-Fleming score came less than two minutes after Jim Kiick had tied the score at 7-7 with a one-yeard plunge.

Garo Yepremian accounted for the winning points with a 20-yard field goal with 6:30 remaining in the game.

Baltimore scored on four yard runs by Don Nottingham and Norm Bulaich.

Johnny Unitas drew his first starting assignment of the season and directed a 78-yard drive for Baltimore's first score. He was shaken up attempting to block early in the third quarter and was removed in favor of Earl Morrall. Baltimore wide receiver Ray Perkins also suffered a severe concussion on the same play.

In other contests Sunday, Dallas blanked Washington 13-c, to take a half-game lead in the National Conference East; Pittsburgh edged the New York Giants 17-13, the New York Jets defeated Buffalo 20-7, to hand the Bills their 10th loss this season and their 15th consecutive defeat; Cleveland routed New England 27-7 and Cincinnati downed Houston 28-13 as rookie Fred Willis of Boston College ran for two touchdowns and veteran quarterback Virgil Carter passed for two more.

Also, Detroit trounced Chicago 28-3, Minnesota decked New Orleans 23-10, Kansas City foiled Denver 28-10, while Philadelphia capitalized on four St. Louis fumbles and four interceptions to score a 37-20 victory.

Roger Staubach helped hand Washington its third defeat in the last five games when he scrambled for 29 yards and a score in the first quarter.

Mike Clark—a last minute addition for the injured Toni Fritsch—kicked field goals of 26 and 48 yards to aid the Cowboy attack.

In a surprisingly wide open contest played on wet and slippery artificial turf, Pittsburgh got a 70-yard interception return by John Rowser and a four-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw to Ron Shanklin set up by Preston Pearson's 77-yard kickoff return to defeat the Giants.

The win gave the Steelers a 5-5 record and kept them even with Cleveland in the AFC Central race.

Bob Davis threw touchdown passes of 33 yards to Don Maynard and 19 yards to George Nock and the Jet defense intercepted four Dennis Shaw passes to extend Buffalo's two-year losing skein.

Bill Nelsen threw a pair of scoring passes, Leroy Kelly caught one of them and also scored on a one-yard plunge as the Browns snapped a four-game losing streak.

Steve Owens, the No. 2 rusher in the NFC, scored on a pair of short plunges and teammate Altie Taylor, the sixth-leading rusher in the conference, scored on a 19-yard run as the Lions took over second place in the NFC central from mistake-prone Chicago.

Minnesota upped its lead to 1 ½ games in the NFC Central as quarterback Bob Lee scampered four yards in the third period to give the Vikings their first touchdown in 11 quarters. Clint Jones scored the other Minnesota touchdown and Fred Cox added three field goals.

Len Dawson uncorked bombs to Morris Stroud, Elmo Wright and Otis Taylor as the Chiefs spoiled the coaching debut of Jerry Smith, who took over the Denver reins from Lou Saban earlier in the week.

Mike Garrett scored twice for the Chargers, on an 11-yard run and an 18-yard catch of a John Hadl pass.

DISQUALIFICATION

Gonzalez Wins

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuela's Betuilo Gonzalez was awarded the world boxing council flyweight championship Saturday night when champion Erbito Salavarria of the Philippines was disqualified for using a stimulant.

Minutes after Salavarria had retained his title on a 15-round draw, Ramon Barrios, president of the Maracaibo Boxing Association, disqualified the 25-year-old champion because he had been drinking sugared water between rounds.

Barrios said officials tasted the water in Salavarria's flask because it looked slightly discolored. He said boxing commission doctors made a quick test and found it contained sugared water in violation of Clause 16 under which the bout was arranged.

"The world boxing council secretary general, Jose Zulaiman, was present when the rules were established", Barrios announced.

Zulaiman said he would stand by the Maracaibo Boxing Association decision to award the title to the 22-year-old Venezuelan if the commisssion's report is correct and sustained by witnesses.

Little Girls Do A Big Job

Four little girls did a big job Saturday and Sunday for the Marin Aquatic Club.

Nancy and Linda Placak, Shelly Secundo and Elizabeth Stewart, competing in 10 and under girls relay events, won six first places at the Hayward Relays at San Lorenzo Swim Center.

Winning all six events entered, the young quartet was victorious in 200-yard freestyle, 200 butterfly, 200 breaststroke, 200 backstroke, 200 medley and 270-yard free.

Golfer Johnson Wins 1st

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

WILMINGTON, N.C. — George Johnson of Atlanta said he was "pretty excited" after winning his first pro-tour golf tournament yesterday, but said he had other things to think about today.

"Now I just want to qualify for the Heritage Open," he told newsmen after collecting $7,000 first-place money for the Azalea Open, which he won with a 15-foot putt on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Though it was his first win, it was only the second-largest check of his professional career. He collected $50 more earlier this month when he finished fourth in the Kaiser Open at Silverado Country Club in Napa.

Johnson withstood chilling winds and a sizzling 66 final round from fellow Atlantan Ralph Johnston to win the tourney on the extra hole.

Both men had finished regulation play with identical 72-hole scores of 274, 10 under par, in the $35,000 event played at the Cape Fear Country Club. Johnson birdied the first hole of the playoff, while Johnston could manage only a par four.

Johnson had been four holes ahead of Johnston at the start of yesterday's play, having carded a 54-hole total of 204, which had put him in a tie with Deane Beman at the end of Saturday's round. Beman finished five strokes off the pace with a 279 total.

Auto Racing

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. — Tiny Lund, of Cross, S.C., capitalizing on mechanical problems plaguing speedway stars Charlie Glotzbach and Richard Petty, poured it on the final minutes yesterday to win the twice-postponed Wolkes 400 NASCAR race and clinch his second Grand American Division driving championship.

Football

SAN FRANCISCO — Washington linebacker Rick Huget and UCLA defensive end Fred McNeil share the final defensive Player of the Week honors in the Pacific-8 conference.

Huget helped key a Washington defense that limited Washington State to 52 rushing yards and explosive Bernard Jackson to only 11. McNeil blocked a Southern California punt on the USC 30 in the third quarter to set up a touchdown that allowed under dog UCLA to tie Southern Cal 7-7.

Underground Cable Failure Brings Blackout

Failure of an underground cable left most of dotntown San Rafael without electricity for more than an hour yesterday.

The cable located under Julia Street failed at 1:12 p.m., leaving the Independent-Journal and buildings the length of Fourth Street without power — in some cases until 3:30 p.m., according to Robert H. Williams, electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Of the 158 customers affected, Williams said about one third again had power by 2 p.m., about half by 2:25 and the remainder by 3:30.

Cause of the blackout has not been determined, Williams said.

Colorado's state flag is gold, white, blue and red.

UC Threatened Over Hiring

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —The Nixon administration's chief civil rights official has threatened to cut off federal contracts with the University of California at Berkeley for alleged sex discrimination against women.

J. Stanley Pottinger, civil rights director in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said the Berkeley campus is being investigated for allegedly discriminating against women in key job appointments.

Pottinger told the Sacramento Press Club Friday that only roughly 2 per cent of its lecturers are women.

Chamber Picks New Officers

Frank E. Sullivan has been elected president and Gerald B. Cullinane, vice president, of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

Also chosen in Friday's annual election were Virginia Hoffman, treasurer, and Kay Fetter, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Kirk W. Bassett, Nancy Frank, James Murray, Bertram J. Talbot, Robert A. Street and Fred G. Zelinsky. All officers and directors will serve through 1972.

COMMUTING SHOULD BE SO MUCH FUN

Sausalito ferry commuters will launch Thanksgiving with a bang Wednesday when a live rock band and light show takes over the upper deck on the 5:30 p.m. run from San Francisco.

The program was organized by the Golden Gate Commuters Club, a citizens group promoting the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry.

The band, Saw Buck, is a five-piece San Francisco group. There also will be dancing.

The club's Thanksgiving special, according to publicity director David Elliott Stovel of Sausalito, is a chance "to dance your way to the long weekend. Come turn on at sea and not on 101."

Doctor Says Magee Not Gassed

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee may be suffering from an ulcer, but a community doctor said there is no sign that he was gassed and beaten in his cell as he claimed.

Mageewasexamined in his cell Friday by Dr. Michael Jacobs of the People's Medical Center in Berkeley.

The doctor said yesterday that he detected wheezing in the convict's left lung "consistent with" the effects of gassing, but that the wheezing could have been caused by numerous other conditions.

Jacobs, admitted to the prison on a court order, reported to Magee's defense committee that the convict may have an ulcer and recommended that x-rays be taken.

Magee had requested the medical examination, saying he was beaten by prison guards and gassed three times recently while sleeping in his cell.

Prison officials denied the charges. "The harassment is on his part," Irwin Ritter, prison business manager, said.

Magee, along with Angela Davis, is awaiting trial on charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy resulting from the August 1970 shoot-out at the Civic Center. Their cases were separated after he repeatedly delayed pretrial proceedings with a flood of legal petitions and motions.

Young Demos Favor Kennedy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — A poll of delegates to the national convention of the Young Democrats of America Sunday favored Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., as the delegates' choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy garnered 141 votes of the 407 delegates casting ballots for 34.6 per cent of the vote. Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota was second with 83 votes for 20.7 per cent.

Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie was close behind with 80 votes and 19.7 per cent of the vote while Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota had 73 votes for 17.9 per cent.

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy was fifth with eight votes for 1.9 per cent.

Washington's Sen. Harry Jackson was tied with New York Mayor John Lindsay at seven votes apiece for 1.7 per cent each.

Subdivision To Be Studied

A minor subdivision needed for a small shopping center at East Blithedale Avenue and Lomita Drive will be considered by the Mill Valley Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The shopping center — a supermarket, drugstore, retail shops and walk-in bank — was approved Nov. 1 by the city council.

Sutter Hill Development Corp. is seeking the subdivision in order to bring up to a full five acres the parcel on which the commercial development is to be built.

Air War Continues Despite Withdrawals

There have been some encouraging words lately about our disinvolvement from Vietnam: casualties have dropped to the lowest figures since we began our buildup there, troop withdrawals are being speeded, and — despite President Nixon's assertion that he does not feel bound by a congressional resolution setting a deadline for withdrawal — the word is that there should be only about 50,000 American troops left in South Vietnam by next July.

(That 50,000, incidentally, is about the same number of troops we still have in South Korea — 17 years after the Korean War. We hope and trust there is no intention to leave them for 17 years in South Vietnam.)

THE "WINDING DOWN," however, may be misleading, as pointed out by John S. Knight last week in his "Notebook" in the Detroit Free Press. There is another war — the air war — and President Nixon does not say much about it.

Knight quotes some results of a study by the Center for International Studies at Cornell University into the air war in Southeast Asia. Here are some of its findings:

Bombing this year in Indochina equals that in all theaters of World War II.

By the end of this year, we will have dropped as many tons of bombs there in three years of the Nixon administration as we did in five years of the Johnson administration.

In South Vietnam alone, the U.S. has dropped 3.6 million tons of bombs. Most of the casualties from this bombing have been civilians.

The U.S. has carried out a major bombing effort in northern Laos, yet the Communist Pathet Lao now control more territory there than ever before.

Bombing, and spraying of defoliants from the air, have killed half of South Vietnam's forests and destroyed a large share of food supplies.

THE CORNELL STUDY finds that the massive bombing in Southeast Asia has accomplished little toward winning the war. 'The American capital intensive response, substituting lavish firepower for manpower, is both inefficient and indiscriminate," it concludes.

Inefficient or not, such massive bombing is scarcely evidence of disinvolvement.

It may be good politics for President Nixon to withdraw ground troops while continuing heavy aerial attacks. He "gets the boys home" that way. But it does not get us out of Southeast Asia.

Entomology Of A House

Probably insects have always shared living quarters with man. Certainly they still do — especially in Marin and the other Bay counties, where the lines between indoor and outdoor living are less well-defined than in most other parts of the country.

We won't mention termites because nobody wants to admit having them. But we have an abundance of tiny brown ants, lots of lawn moths, always several hairy, little jumping spiders. These last give finficky people the jitters, but we have to admire their athletic ability. Off and on through the year, beetles of various kinds and sizes wander indoors. Aphids love the window plants. And occasionally, a silverfish or cricket gets inside and casts a hungry eye at some choice piece of clothing.

Bugs are almost impossible to escape, so we had better learn to like the wee beasts.

Fire On The Hills

Look out your window to the hills and valleys, and interspersed among the evergreens or on a background of dry, brown grass bits of flame shoot upward ... Well, not real flames, but the static yellows, oranges and reds of the ripe leaves of autumn.

Another growing season in Marin is expiring in a blaze of fall glory.

By PAUL E. PETERZELL:

To Run Or Not To Run? That's Behr's Question

Marin's state senator, Peter H. Behr of Tiburon, apparently will file for re-election next year even if he does not run in the June primary.

Reapportionment will cut Napa and Solano counties out of his existing Fourth District, which also includes Marin. His home county instead will be in a new 10th District extending through San Francisco into San Mateo County.

Because district numbers were juggled so Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, could have a shot for governor in 1974 without risking his Senate seat, a special election to fill a two-year term will be held in the 10th District next year. This is necessary because San Francisco's other incumbent, Republican Milton Marks, was elected to a four-year term in 1968, and could not pick up an extra two years without another election.

ACCORDING TO an opinion by the legislative counsel, Behr will not have to run again until 1974 because he was elected only last year. This opinion may be overturned by a suit seeking to force all senators to run next year, but by the time the legal dust settles it might be too late for Behr to meet the March 30 filing deadline.

Behr might run next year even if he doesn't have to, however. He has the option of running in the 10th District — and like Moscone would have his existing seat in the Fourth District to fall back on if he lost.

"If there is any doubt about my right to continue in office for a full four-year term," he told us, "I'll file in the Republican primary like a shot. That's a doubt I will not share with other hopefuls."

Behr still leans toward avoiding another expensive race so soon, but if he waits until 1974 he might face an incumbent with two years in office already in the new 10th District. And if he waits until 1974, Behr may be labeled a lame duck with Napa and Solano constituents who cannot vote for him again.

RUNNING NEXT YEAR, on the other hand, would confront Behr with an uncomfortable argument by Marks, who could contend that Behr was taking a cheap shot at him — risking a Republican vote in Sacramento two years sooner than necessary for Behr to survive.

A final complexity is the likelihood that if Behr won re-election next year in the 10th District, a special election would have to be held in his old Fourth District until it officially became extinct in 1974.

Anything could happen by 1974, of course, and probably will.

Answer To Question: 'What Is Education'

I read with interest George Nevin's article concerning Monday's Mill Valley School Board meeting.

Mr. Hugh Brown is quoted, in summing up the faults of the approach to education, as saying no "definitive method of evaluation exists."

As a teacher and student, I wholeheartedly agree but would further offer, "Isn't it wonderful?"

The previous method, the one Mr. Brown pleads that we return to, was most definitive in evaluation. You were asked to memorize facts and were evaluated on how well you remembered.

I would ask each parent to ask himself "How much of what I memorized in school did I really need to know?" or "What is more important for my son (or daughter) to learn? — all the presidents and their vice-presidents or how to function within a group of his (or her) peers within a closed environment?"

You may then have answered the question "What is education?" Once you have done that, it is easy to determine the necessity for a definitive method of evaluation."

Teacher Strike Shows Dedication And Need

In reply to yesterday's (Nov. 17) editorial, "Catholic Schools Put Responsibility First", may I present a reader's viewpoint as opposed to the editor's.

The strike in all archdiocesan high schools comes as no surprise except to the editor. Negotiations have been going on for a year, and teachers have been working under an interim contract in the hopes of keeping the schools open in order not to penalize the students' educational processes. Teachers dedicated to quality education are hopeful that the strike will make people aware of the need for improvement in private school education.

The editor has again been misinformed when he headlines salary as the main issue. The biggest issue if it can be called that is the lack of rapport between the archdiocesan board of education and the teachers as is evidenced by the editorial remark "the archdiocese declared flatly that it will not close its schools". There have been too many FLAT statements and not enough willingness to meet and to discuss matters concerning the strike.

(1) Smaller classes are a necessity if the students are not to be short-changed.

(2) These striking but dedicated teachers would like to be assured that if they are ill, their classes will be taught by a qualified substitute teacher, rather than have a series of study periods.

(3) There should be adequate medical and retirement plans.

(4) Salaries are the final issue. Unless private schools can meet the rising costs, they will continue to have a continuous turnover of teachers. This does not produce quality education. Those teachers who believe in the private educational system, and wish to remain in the system have no alternative except to make the public aware of the problem in the hopes that this will stir up public apathy.

There are specific measures that interested citizens can take to preserve private education:

(1) Write President Nixon asking him to support a program which returns part of taxes to parents with children in private schools.

(2) Invite local congressmen whenever possible to parents associations at schools and make them aware of the needs of private schools.

(3) Deluge Governor Reagan with cards, letters, and telegrams asking for financial aid to private schools either in tax rebate or partial tuition certificates or any other means that has not been declared unconstitutional. There are many ways that this can be done.

(4) Make local legislators aware of the desperate needs and ask for a public commitment of some sort of parent assistance plan.

The need is desperate.

The need is now.

Unless some sort of help is forthcoming private education will be doomed except for the very affluent.

Please don't put down these teachers who really put it on the line by striking. Ratner, please start the ball rolling by future editorials seeking help for all private education.

WASHINGTON REPORT

El Paso Gas Bill Killed—For This Year

By BENJAMIN SHORE

WASHINGTON — El Paso Natural Gas Co. struck a dry well in the Senate the other day when California Senators Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney jointly announced their opposition to a bill that would let El Paso keep a firm whose acquisition has been ruled illegal four times by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Cranston and Tunney now feel confident that, because of their position, the bill never will emerge from the Senate Commerce Committee, which is chaired by Warren Magnuson, the Washington Democrat who introduced the bill to exempt El Paso from anti-trust laws. Furthermore, even if the bill should reach the Senate floor, it would be defeated, both senators claim.

The case is of major importance to California, for it deals with the question of having adequate natural gas supplies not only for present users but also for population growth.

IT WAS THE STATE of California under former Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown that in 1956 pushed for the original anti-trust suit against El Paso's acquisition of the ailing Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. The state argued that monopoly control of California's gas supplies would drive the price up. (Ironically, private citizen Brown today is a lawyer representing El Paso; he visited Cranston and Tunney last month to urge support of Magnuson's bill.)

El Paso argues that today's growing gas shortages can be solved only by a company large enough to invest in the costly exploration necessary to develop new gas fields. Divestiture of Pacific Northwest Pipeline would leave parts of the West served by a company unable to expand gas reserves, El Paso claims.

What's a senator to do? Accept El Paso's argument and vote for what it claims would be an assured gas supply that is necessary for residential and industrial growth? Or should he stick with the anti-trust laws and count on a smaller but competing company to help meet future needs?

BY THEIR JOINT decision, in which Tunney and his staff took the lead, California's two senators have opted for competition. Their action appears to have killed any chance for passage of legislation to let El Paso keep Pacific Northwest Pipeline.

Cranston and Tunney say they oppose the legislation on two major points: the merits of the case and the fact that a federal court in Denver is expected to choose next spring one of seven applicant companies to take over the defunct pipeline firm.

"A heavy burden must rest on those seeking the (anti-trust) exemption," they said in a joint statement. "We believe El Paso must establish by clear and convincing evidence that consumers will be materially and substantially harmed unless this bill is enacted. After examining all of the evidence, we have concluded that El Paso has not met this burden of proof. . .

"El Paso tells us that the fight for reserves in Canada is a cut-throat poker game with the highest stakes and that only a strong company like El Paso can fight effectively for those reserves for the West Coast. Such may indeed be the case. But it is also clear that California's gas utilities would much prefer to have two strong companies searching for gas."

This brings the senators to their second point. Since the federal court has yet to select a company to take over Pacific Northwest Pipeline, who can say the new company would not be strong enough to succeed at the "poker game" of developing new gas fields?

And for the Congress to get involved before the courts have acted is an unwarranted intrusion by one branch of government into the workings of another, they argue. ("Like Nixon did in the Calley case," Tunney ad libbed in an interview.)

BOTH SENATORS say they will review the court's decision next year, and if it appears that the selected new comapny would be worse for consumers than a monopolistic El Paso (and they can't imagine that would be the case"), they will reconsider their opposition to the Magnuson bill.

For now, though, California's senators effectively have ended El Paso's chances for legislative relief from four Supreme Court decisions.

Canadians' Paranoia: Saturating U.S. Presence

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

OTTAWA, Can. — Directly in front of the United States Embassy of Wellington Street, not 10 feet from the doorway, sits a car with a Canadian maple leaf flag flying flamboyantly from its radio antenna, and in the rear window a placard crying, "Nix On Nixon!"

On a given day, the newsstand at the Skyline Hotel has on sale 66 American magazines, 11 French-Canadian, five British, and four English-Canadian.

Plastered on the boarding around a downtown construction site is one of many signs left over from two weeks ago, inspiring demonstrators against the American nuclear test at Amchitka. It caricatures the President as the Uncle Sam of World War I recruiting posters, and says, "Nixon Wants Ssshh."

FRIDAY, RESIDENTS of the Ottawa area could choose their television viewing from eight stations, from programs including Romper Room, Captain Kangaroo, Dinah's Place, the Lucy Show, Concentration, the Beverly Hillbillies, Green Acres, Family Affair, Batman, I Dream of Jeannie, Peyton Place, As the World Turns, Guiding Light, Gomer Pyle, Dick Van Dyke, the Flintstones, Lassie, Andy of Mayberry, NBC News, CBS News, Carol Burnett, the FBI, Dragnet, Merv Griffin, and seven movies, six of them American.

A currently popular book here is "The Trudeau Papers," which is not a leaked political document but a farfetched novel about Russian and U.S. missiles exploding over the Canadian prairies, ruining the country and precipitating an American military occupation. It is shot through with sloppy comparisons to Vietnam and even to Nazi outrages of World War II, but nobody around here is laughing at it.

As much as anything, these observations illustrate the love-hate relationship most Canadians have toward the United States. It is wrong to assume that because Canada's government has policy differences with Washington, and some Canadian citizens demonstrate against U.S. political decisions, all of their countryment are devoted enemies of their southern neighbors. The breakdown of opinion here has close parallels to that at home, among pros and antis, vocal demonstrators and the quiet majority.

THE STRIKING THING is that the trends and events they are for and against, that they demonstrate about or placidly sit home and accept on television, emanate almost entirely from Washington. When there is a Vietnam moratorium in the States, there is a Vietnam moratorium here. When conservationists and antiwar activists opposed the Amchitka test in the States, their counterparts do it here — with special vigor, because Amchitka is geographically closer to them.

When there is a vote in the U.S. Senate, a hiring or firing in the Nixon Cabinet or on the Detroit Lions, an environmental scandal or a plane crash in any of the 50 states, it is followed as closely in Toronto as in Chicago. And there is a presidential election in the States, Canadian citizens choose up sides and argue it to a conclusion just as if they could vote in it.

The most obvious reason is geography. Most of Canada's 21.5 million people live within 100 miles of the U.S. border; 16 of her 21 major cities are there. In a year, there are 35 million border crossings. And along with proximity go the common language of the majority, the family ties of several millions, and especially the fact that beside the populous United States, Canada is a relative vacuum. And a vacuum attracts — investment capital, tourists, emigrants, magazines, newspapers, teachers.

MOST AMERICANS are unconscious of the flow, even when they live along the border. The Canadians are hyperconscious of it. In the universities, the House of Commons and the press, they become dramatic about it. In blue-collar living rooms they are likely to say, "Sure, I think Canada should be for us Canadians" — and then turn back to watching Dean Martin on the tube.

The government tried to stem this cultural overflow by ruling that 60 per cent of television programming in prime time had to be Canadian. But the rule excepted sports events, special shows such as moonshots, and even those occasions when Mr. Nixon pre-empts the airwaves for a statement from the White House — the ultimate irony, considering the purpose of the quota to start with.

To halt the overflow is clearly impossible, and nationalist Canadians have a smothering feeling about it. Even such a dry, unemotional source as the Canadian Pocket Encyclopedia says, "The question now plaguing many Canadians, not a new one, is whether absorption by the United States is inevitable."

Of course the idea of absorbing Canada never seriously occurred to us Americans. But to understand why it occurs to our neighbors, we might try turning the situation around, imagining that we live next door to a nation of two billion population, with an economy 15 times ours, a military establishment that could squash us in minutes, and a government whose every twitch shakes us but which is beyond reach of our votes. Paranoia would be out national malady, too.

'On Location' Proves Surprising For Some San Rafael Parents

"Don't wake me up in the morning, Mom. I don't have to be anywhere until 1 o'clock."

To parents accustomed to high schools with rigid starting times and just as fixed endings, such words are heresy.

On the other hand, students in the new "On Location" program in the San Rafael High School District are likely to announce they have a full 12-hour schedule planned for the day.

New this year as a pilot project in the district, the school that isn't a school is providing new experiences for about 50 youngsters who would otherwise be going to San Rafael or Terra Linda high schools.

The kids were picked from several hundred applicants by a committee of their peers. The two teachers were also chosen by a committee of students.

AFTER ONLY ONE quarter, evaluation of the program would not seem fair, but there is universal agreement on one point: the students are enthusiastic and excited about the school.

Students pretty much choose their own schedules including "regular" classes taught by the two teachers in biology and philosophy. The biology students elected to take a year's work in one semester.)

Otherwise, the courses are made up on an individual basis.

For example, credits for civics can be earned for various community projects; working on an Economic Opportunity Council activity may lead to sociology credits. Other students are "contracting" with teachers at the high schools for help with language courses or are teaching a language to foreign-born persons.

THE FIRST PROBLEM the "On Location" students and teachers had to solve was the location. First, the school met in an elementary school in Santa Venetia but last month it moved to the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The church is only the scene of a minor part of the activities, however, as students spend most of their time elsewhere, including many field trips.

Parents are beginning to get used to the fluid schedules but most were unprepared for one of the ideas presented by some of the students who recently proposed that several of them live together in a commune.

By and large though, the parents seem willing to wait awhile to pass judgement on whether "On Location," similar to such programs established earlier at Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools, is a valuable learning experience for their children.

Marin Environment Plan Will Be Aired

A report on the status of Marin County's proposed environmental protection policy will be discussed tomorrow by the county board of supervisors, meeting at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

According to Werner Von Gundell, county planning director, work on the policy has only just begun due to limitations of staff and money.

As originally proposed, the policy will deal with clean air and water, more parks and open space, elimination of excessive noise, protection of wildlife and marine life, and greater public access to and along waterways.

The report includes responses from various county agencies to the original policy outline drafted earlier this year by county administrator John F. Barrows.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also will:

LIBRARY — Meet with representatives from the town of Corte Madera at 9 a.m. to discuss the new Corte Madera regional library.

DAVIS-MAGEE — Hear a report on pending legislation requiring the state to pay a portion of the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee trial and security costs.

COUNTY-WIDE PLAN — Consider dates for public hearings on specific features of the proposed countywide general plan.

COMMITTEE — Consider appointments to a task force to study prison violence and reform, especially in connection with San Quentin Prison.

SEA PORT — Hold public hearings on amendments to Sea Port Development Co.'s master plan and precise plan for a development known as Sea Port Hills in Strawberry.

Honduras Is Next Stop For Finch

Women Denied Access To Top Government Jobs

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

When President Nixon passed up the opportunity to name a woman to the Supreme Court, he called fresh attention to a fact that is galling even to the more moderate advocates of women's liberation.

Although women make up more than 50 per cent of the citizenry of the United States, they are grossly under-represented in the higher councils of the government.

There are a handful of women in Congress, but none in the Cabinet and none on the Supreme Court. The highest-ranking women in the executive branch today are the chairmen of two regulatory Commissions —the Maritime Commission and the Tariff Commission.

While these certainly are important jobs, they hardly add up to a major female breakthrough into the inner circle of government policy-making.

EVEN AT THE SECOND echelon, women are strikingly scarce.

Of the 3,854 federal jobs that rank in the top two civil service grades or are filled by presidential appointment, a recent study showed, only 63, or 1.6 per cent, are now occupied by women.

Statistics compiled by the Civil Service Commission reveal that this pattern of discrimination against women extends through every level of federal employment. In the six lowest civil service pay grades, nearly half of the government's employes are women.

But in the six middle grades, women comprise only 20 per cent of the government's work force. And in the six highest grades, less than 4 per cent of the jobs are held by women.

SUPPORTERS OF EQUAL opportunity say these figures show that women are being wronged in two ways. First, they are denied fair representation in the levels of government where policies are framed and decisions are made.

Second, women who do work for the government are paid far less, on the average, than their male colleagues. The pay gap was dramatically illustrated by a recent survey in the U. S. Office of Education.

This federal agency takes pride in the fact that 56 per cent of its employes are women. But a study, ordered by Education Commissioner Sidney P. Marland at the request of a Women's Rights group, revealed that the median pay of male employes was approximately twice the median pay of female employees in the agency. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare —of which the Office of Education is part —has ordered all of its branches to bear down on recruitment and promotion of women to the higher civil service grades. Mrs. Jayne Baker Spain, vice chairman of the Civil Service Commission, is prodding other government departments to emulate HEW's example. President Nixon has publicly proclaimed his support for the goal of more women in high government posts.

But the figures clearly indicate that the government so far has not done a very good job of practicing what it preaches about equal opportunity in employment.

Priests Can Retire At 65

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—For the first time, Roman Catholic priests in the archdiocese of Los Angeles have the option of retiring at age 65, and must retire by 75.

"Previously, no priest would ever think of asking to retire unless he was incapacitated," said the Rev. Francis Roughan, chairman of the personnel committee of the Priests senate, established 10 months ago.

Archbishop Timothy Manning has approved the recommendation of the senate that beginning Jan. 1, priests may request retirement at 65, and must retire at 75.

A Bold Robbery

NEW YORK (UPI)—A well-dressed young man walked into the Metropolitan Museum of Art in the middle of the afternoon Sunday, pulled a gun and robbed the museum of $40.

Our new 280 SE 4.5 costs almost three times as much as the "average" car. But we think there are 10,000 Americans who can appreciate the difference.

The average car buyer could be taken aback at the price of our new Mercedes-Benz 280SE 4.5.

At over $10,000, it is not only well above average, it is some $2,500 more expensive than the highest priced domestic luxury sedan.

Whether it's worth that difference to you may be answered only by what you expect of a motor car.

The 280SE 4.5 is a touring sedan in the best European tradition.

Designed to provide every motoring comfort for a party of five. And engineered to cope with driving situations that vary from the descending switchbacks of an Alpine pass to the 100 mph cruising speeds of an Autobahn.

A concept so different from that guiding the design of a domestic "luxury" car that Mercedes-Benz engineers used the Nürburgring racing circuit as its final testing ground.

Its engine is unlike any built in America. An overhead-cam, fuel-injected 4.5 liter V-8.

It has no carburetor. Instead, a computer monitors engine speed and load, temperature and altitude, then electronically meters fuel to each cylinder. This more precise method of fuel delivery provides high-speed touring capability with the greatest possible efficiency.

The fully independent suspension was designed for ruts and bends, not just boulevards and turnpikes. It's so roadworthy, Road & Track contends that "no domestic luxury sedan is even in the same ballpark."

And to match its performance abilities, Mercedes-Benz engineers have equipped it with four power-assisted disc brakes, ventilated in front to resist fading.

The result is an automobile that performs with equal aplomb on the 174 curves of Nürburgring, or the unwavering ribbon of a thruway.

And an automobile that is further endowed with almost every comfort. Power brakes and steering. Electric windows. Air conditioning and tinted glass. Electrically heated rear window. An AM-FM receiver. Even a central locking system that secures all four doors, the trunk and even the gas port at the touch of a button.

In addition to the 280SE 4.5, Mercedes-Benz builds two other V-8 touring sedans in similarly miniscule quantities.

The 280SEL 4.5 is identical to the SE except that it is longer. Longer in the Mercedes-Benz sense—an increase of four inches that is translated directly into rear-seat leg room.

The 300SEL 4.5 adds air suspension to the list of performance features unavailable on any domestic automobile.

In total, these three high-performance touring sedans will account for less than one of every 400 cars sold in the United States this year.

If you can accept a car that "different," take a thorough test drive. Discover the real differences in a car built to be the best – not the best seller.

Mercedes-Benz of North America

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Speculative Appeal—Warrants

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Recently my broker bought 150 shares of Gould, Inc. warrants (ASE). I specified that I wanted to recoup some recent market losses and he suggested these. Do they pay dividends? What are they really? — V.D.

A. These warrants represent an option to purchase common shares, on a one-for-one basis, at $55 until June 30, 1976, when the warrants expire. Holders are not entitled to dividends nor are they eligible to vote. At expiration date the warrants cease to have any market value.

Warrants are attractive primarily because their low price allows the speculator greater leverage for his investment dollar. Since they represent an option on the common, warrants tend to move in line with the common share price. Your $1,650 investment, which bought 150 warrants, would have purchased only 35 shares of common. On a five-point rise the holder of 35 shares of common would gain $175, whereas with 150 warrants the 5-point advance would mean a $750 capital gain.

Gould Inc. appears to have better-than-average appreciation potential reflecting a $116 million torpedo contract, an improving market for original and replacement equipment and diversification through acquisitions. I would concur with your broker's selection for recouping your losses.

Q. I have $5,000 to invest but no stocks for me. What do you think of Borden, Inc. 5¾s of 1997? This bond is selling around 81 for a yield of over 7 per cent. — W.T.

A. This A-rated sinking fund debenture at the most recent quote of 83 returns a current yield of 6.9 per cent. Held to maturity, the return is 7.2 per cent, reflecting the 17-point discount at which it is trading. Although not a heavily traded issue, you should have no trouble either in buying or selling should the need arise. Available in either coupon or registered form, interest is paid June and Dec. 15.

Amfac Declares Stock Dividend

HONOLULU (BW) — A regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share has been declared on the common stock of Amfac Inc., the Honolulu-based diversified service company.

The dividend will be payable Dec. 31 to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 15. The dates reflect a new policy adopted by Amfac directors to make common stock dividends, as declared, payable the last working day of March, June, September and December rather than the 15th day of those months.

No changes will be made in payment dates for preferred stock dividends. Directors declared these dividends of 62½ cents per share on Amfac's $2.50 cumulative convertible preferred, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 1.

Amstar Corp. Board Declares Dividends

NEW YORK (BW) — The board of directors of Amstar Corp., has declared the following quarterly dividends, payable Jan. 3 to holders of record Dec. 10:

Seventeen cents per share on the 5.44 per cent cumulative preferred stock; 66¼ cents per share on the junior preferred stock, $2.65 cumulative convertible Series A; 42½ cents per share on the common stock.

Ridder Publications Makes Declaration

WASHTINGTON (BW) — The board of directors of Ridder Publications Inc. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 8 cents per share on common stock and $2 per share on preferred stock, payable Jan. 3 to shareholders of record Dec. 10.

Headquartered in New York, the company publishes daily and Sunday newspapers in nine states and has interests in radio, television and CATV.

Potlatch Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The board of directors of Potlatch Forests Inc. has declared a quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents a share. The dividend will be paid on Dec. 16 to shareholders of record at the close of business on Nov. 30.

Things Are Looking Brighter For TWA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Trans World Airlines has reported a net profit of $7.8 million for the first 10 months of 1971 — an improvement of more than $40 million since just a year ago.

TWA was in financial difficulty at this time last year. It lost $32.8 million during the first 10 months of 1970 and went on to lose $63.5 million during the year.

The company's two top officers, in fact, told employees in a letter, "We are in a real fight to survive."

But last week's report indicated that a year of work and $30 million in cost reductions have paid off.

TWA's interim earnings report was buoyed by a $3.8 million preliminary net profit for October, an improvement of $16 million over the net loss of $12.1 million for October 1970. It reported though its revenues were up 6.8 per cent for the first 10 months of 1971, operating expenses were up only .3 per cent.

Much of the cost cutting came through eliminating jobs. In the 12 months ending Aug. 31, TWA cuts its payroll by 4,579, or 11 per cent.

In addition, many uneconomic flights were cut and the type of TWA jets standardized by airports. Arrangements were made to sell 16 older jets which had been retired because they were not needed.

Wall Street Awaiting Word On Phase II

NEW YORK (UPI) —Caution continued on Wall Street through the second hour of trading Monday as investors waited for more details of phase two to unfold.

Treasury Secretary John Connally told a news conference the wage-price freeze was a success and he was "equally confident" that phase two would succeed.

The international news background provided little encouragement for investors, although it appeared to have only negligible impact on the market.

A news dispatch from London quoted Radio Pakistan as saying India "has launched an all-out offensive against East Pakistan without a formal declaration of war."

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

$3 Million To 12,000 Yule Savers

An estimated $3 million in Christmas checks is being paid to over 12,000 thrifty savers in Marin County this month.

This is believed to be slightly higher than last year, with the average local check at about $244, compared to about $230 a year ago. The exact amount applicable to Marin is difficult to determine, due to some banks including other parts of the North Bay in their reports.

About 80 per cent of the checks are customarily paid out by the three largest banks, Bank of America, Crocker Bank and Wells Fargo Bank, with the balance paid by smaller banks and savings and loan associations.

In California, Christmas Club savings are more than $6 million higher this year than the past five years average of $88.4 million. This year's checks throughout the state will average $222, up from the $213 record previously set in 1969.

Petroleum Firm Discovers Well

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. has made a natural gas discovery in Fremont County, Wyoming.

The discovery well, OPC No. 1 "Amoco-Tribal," flowed at the stabilized rate of 8.4 million cubic feet of gas per day in a drill stem test of the interval 9,650 to 9,767 feet.

The well is being drilled ahead to an anticipated depth of approximately 12,000 feet in order that deeper objectives may be evaluated.

Hotel Is Getting In Airline Act

NEW YORK (UPI) —At least one hotel is getting into the airline act of offering lower rates to youth. The Roosevelt here is introducing special student rates in the hope of winning the youngsters as regulr customers in later years.

HUNTER SHOOTS SHARK, SAVES DOG

Tausha the dog eyes her master after being saved from this shark early Saturday. It happened this way: Tausha and her owner, Keith Stothers, a Stanford University employee, were duck hunting near San Quentin when Stothers spotted a shark swimming toward the dog in the bay. It took two shots from Stother's 12-gauge shotgun to stop the shark as it swam toward Tausha, who then tried to retrieve it. The dying shark, about nine-and-a-half-feet long, finally grounded itself on some rocks.

Three Boys Robbed At Knifepoint

Police said today three 9-year-old boys have been robbed at knifepoint in the Dominican area of San Rafael. The bandits' total take was one cent.

Police said the incident occurred last Tuesday but was reported to them Saturday.

They said that Michael P. Durkin of 24 Dominican Drive, Kenneth Sadler of 28 Dominican Drive and Mark Hudson of 105 Dominican Drive reported they were stopped by three other young boys near Bradcliff Court on Tuesday.

One of the boys had a knife and they demanded money, according to police, and got one cent from the Sadler boy.

The three youths threatened to cut the boys' throats if they reported the robbery, police said.

Members of the Black Canyon Neighborhood Association have complained to San Rafael officials about juvenile vandalism in the Dominican area.

Torture Props Sold At Auction

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An "electric chair," and a "torture rack" were among the old props and artifacts sold on the final day of a six-day auction by 20th Century Fox Movie Studios.

Gary Epper of Granada Hills, Calif., paid $10 Sunday for the nonfunctioning electric chair and James Brucker of Buena Park, Calif., bought the torture rack for $30 and a medieval style battering ram for $20.

No My Lai Slaughter Knowledge Related

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—The former assistant commander of the Americal Division testified today he had no knowledge of civilian casualties in My Lai at the time he instructed Col. Oran K. Henderson to investigate the operation.

Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., now retired, testified at Henderson's trial on My Lai coverup charges that the only matter he ordered the colonel to look into was a helicopter pilot's report that he had a confrontation with American ground troops.

Young was one of the final defense witnesses at the court-martial trial of Henderson, a former commander of the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division in Vietnam, on charges of dereliction of duty by failing to investigate and ceport on the slaying of unarmed civilians in the South Vietnamese village.

The defense arranged to put Henderson on the stand in his own behalf when the prosecution finishes cross-examining Young.

Young's testimony was offered as rebuttal of prosecution witnesses who testified that during a meeting March 18, 1968, two days after the My Lai operation, Young told Henderson to investigate complaints from helicopter pilots of wholesale killing of civilians by U. S. ground troops.

Young, a grey-haired man with a deeply lined face, said a report was made to him that a helicopter pilot had observed "non-combatant civilians caught in a crossfire," and that the pilot landed and threatened American ground forces "with his own weapons" to protect the civilians.

Young said he relayed this information to the division commander, Gen. Samuel Koster, who in turn told him to have Henderson investigate the confrontation.

Young testified that there was no mention of civilian casualties during his conversation with Henderson, and the first he knew of alleged atrocities was when Henderson later made an oral report on him on the operation.

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint for 15 Years

Los Angeles, Calif.

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the home owner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 15 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX texture Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to provide weatherproofing and beauty, far outlasting ordinary paint.

Over 1,000,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 10,000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veterans' Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss or odor — at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles
Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot From a Gun
KENITEX is guaranteed for 15 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually, "Shot from a Gun" KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Free Estimates
Local applications of this remarkable coating are made by the Golden Gate Bldr's Inc, licensed and approved applicators. Cost is surprisingly low — convenient terms can be arranged. Home owners can obtain free estimates without obligations, by calling 776-4453 or mail coupon herewith:
